W.R.HEARST AGAIN ATTACKS PENROSE

Says Plainly the Senator Is a Falsifier and He Has Documents to Prove It.

$25,000 OIL CASH FOR HIM

Holds His Personal Acknowledgment of the Certificate of Deposit, Editor Says.

WILL SHOW UP COLONEL, TOO

Some of the Things He Will Tell Later Are Certain to Displease Candidate Roosevelt.

In a signed statement cabled last night from London to The New York American, W. R. Hearst makes further disclosures regarding the letters and other documents he has threatened to produce if Senator Penrose and every one else concerned in the acceptance of contributions from the Standard Oil Company in the campaign of 1904 do not tell the full truth about these contributions.

"The $25,000 sent to Senator Penrose in a secret certificate of deposit by Mr. Archbold was for Senator Penrose's own use in his personal Pennsylvania campaign," declares Mr. Hearst.

"Senator Penrose," he goes on, "acknowledged the receipt of the $25,000 certificate and referred specifically to Mr. Archbold's letter of Oct. 13, in which the certificate was inclosed. Furthermore, Senator Penrose signed the acknowledgment as Chairman of the Pennsylvania State Committee, and wrote, in doing so, upon the official stationery of the Pennsylvania State Committee.

"Other Standard Oil contributions were solicited and employed by other committees in the campaign of 1904, but this particular certificate of deposit was secured by Senator Penrose for his own use in his own State, and I have the documents to prove this."

Mr. Hearst adds: "If Senator Penrose should tell any further falsehoods I shall be glad to disprove them, but sufficient for the day is the evil thereof."

Senator Penrose is staying at Atlantic City. When a TIMES reporter attempted to telephone Mr. Hearst's latest statement to him at midnight last night the reporter was informed that no answer could be obtained from his cottage. A friend said that the Senator was on the yacht Betty.

In the same statement Mr. Hearst says he is not engaged in defending Mr. Roosevelt, and will later print letters which will not particularly please the Colonel, but he is giving the American people "the exact facts with regard to the political corruption with which they are oppressed."

Hearst's Newest Questions.

Here is Mr. Hearst's statement:

The people of the united States should ask their representatives in the United States Senate a few direct and pertinent questions.

Why was no attempt made by the United States Senate to probe actual and established Standard Oil bribery and corruption?

Why was Mr. Archbold allowed to ignore the instance of proved Standard Oil bribery and to make unsupported allegations that had little or nothing to do with actual corruption?

Why was not Mr. Archbold properly cross-examined on his testimony, and why was not the evidence inculpating Government officials and incriminating bought political parties fearlessly brought out?

Why was not Mr. Archbold asked to produce documents to establish the truth of his testimony where the Senate knows perfectly well that documents are not lacking to establish whatever is true in this Standard Oil conspiracy?

Why was Mr. Archbold allowed to leave the country when he had given only immaterial, inconsequential, and largely untruthful testimony, and when he should have been held not only as the main witness, but as the chief corruptionist?

Why were not Senator Penrose and other culpable United States Senators investigated as to their actual guilt in this so-called Standard Oil investigation by the Senate?

Why was Senator Penrose not asked to produce some proof in his defense when the accusations against him were based upon documentary evidence and absolute legal proof?

Why were the empty assertions of Senator Penrose, confessed corruptionist, accepted without question and no opportunity given the victims of Senator Penrose's attack to reply to his assertions?

Letters That Won't Please T. R.

I am not a partisan of Mr. Roosevelt. As a matter of fact, I have neither confidence in nor admiration for Mr. Roosevelt.

When I was battling in 1908 for exactly the same principles which Mr. Roosevelt has at last appropriated as his party programme, Mr. Roosevelt sent Mr. Root, Tweed's agent and his, into the New York State fight to attack me and to compass the defeat of the principles for which I stood.

Mr. Roosevelt has since denounced Mr. Root as a corruptionist, which he is and was then. Mr. Roosevelt has since pronounced my programme right, which it is and was then. But Mr. Roosevelt did not feel that Mr. Root was a corruptionist until Mr. Root had opposed him, and Mr Roosevelt did not realize that the Progressive programme was right until he say where he could benefit by the popular sentiment which had been aroused in its support.

When I and my publications were sustaining the assaults of privileged interests for interfering with their control of the people's Government, we had to sustain also the assaults of Mr. Root and Mr. Roosevelt.

When I and my publications were denounced as yellow by a chorus of corrupt politicians and criminal corporations, that chorus was swelled by the mellow voices of Mr. Root and Mr. Roosevelt attuned to harmonious accord.

But now that the principles we advocated and the reforms that we urged have become generally approved and accepted, Mr. Roosevelt, who was their main opponent, poses pharisaically as their chiefest champion.

I am not, therefore, unduly prejudiced in Mr. Roosevelt's favor, but the truth in this Standard Oil conspiracy is not a question of favor, but a question of fact.

I am not engaged in defending Mr. Roosevelt personally, and I shall later print letters which will not particularly please Mr. Roosevelt, but I am engaged in giving the American people the exact

DIES AS HE WINS RACE.

Runner, Stung by Taunts for Never Competing, Disregards Weak Heart.

Theodore Drugge always told his friends in the Finnish Socialist Athletic Club in Bay Ridge that he could run and hurdle with the best and swiftest of them, but whenever the club held its meets the young man always took his stand with the spectators. There was something the matter with his heart, he would explain. Whereat the other boys in the club would laugh in great amusement, and it was always considered fine fun to twist Young Drugge about his poor heart.

Last evening, stung by their good-natured taunts, he entered the 100-yard dash, lined up against six contestants. The meet was held in the club's field in Forty-fourth Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, Bay Ridge. Away the racers went, Drugge well in the lead at the outset, and he was well in the lead when he flashed past the tape. He tumbled over on the ground then, and lay there while the 800 spectators cheered for all they were worth, and none more heartily than those who had made fun of Drugge because he would never run.

Suddenly the cheers began to subside falteringly as those near by bent over the outstretched runner, proded him, and then rolled him over on his back. The faint cheering on the outskirts of the crowd could still be heard as a call was sent for an ambulance, and then things were very quiet when a doctor came from the Norwegian Hospital and told them that Drugge had died of heart disease. The young runner was a printer's apprentice, and lived with his family at 4,148 Eighth Avenue, Bay Ridge.

AUTOS KILL TWO BOYS.

Angry Crowds Gather in First Avenue—No Arrests Made.

Two boys met death under the wheels of automobiles within a half-hour of each other on lower First Avenue last night.

Morris Wariskragen, 12 years old, of 342 East Sixth Street, was crossing First Avenue at Fifth Street shortly before 6 o'clock, and in attempting to avoid a heavy motor truck he stepped directly in front of a northbound automobile, owned and driven by John Heichel of 1,238 Simpson Street, the Bronx. Before Mr. Heichel had time to apply the brakes the automobile struck the lad, and the left front wheel passed over his chest, killing him instantly.

Patrolman Lawlor of the East Fifth Street Station carried the body into a near-by drugstore, while excited neighbors carried the news of the tragedy to the boy's parents. In a few minutes the store was besieged by a crowd of angry men and women, who gazed through the windows at the hysterical mother, who was holding her boy's head in her lap. When the proprietor was about to call for the reserves to disperse the crowd it was reported that another boy had been run over at the Corner of First Avenue and First Street.

The crowd surged to the scene of the second accident, where Harry Rosenaud of 201 Allen Street, 5 years old, had been knocked down and run over by an automobile delivery truck owned by the Motor Car Exchange Company, and driven by Samuel Goldstein of 376 East Third Street. The little fellow had been chasing the fire engines responding to an alarm at 95 First Avenue, when he ran directly in front of the truck. He was unconscious when Patrolman Lawlor reached the scene. He placed the boy in the truck and ordered the chauffeur to drive to Bellevue Hospital, where the boy died fifteen minutes after being received in the Emergency Ward.

No arrest was made in either case.

ASTRONOMER OFF FOR MARS.

So European Professor Said, but He Was Sent Back Home.

Carl Mantur, an Austrian, about 54 years old, who was formerly a Professor of Astronomy at the University of Vienna and had also held a chair of the same science at Oxford University, England, it was said, was deported by order of Immigration Commissioner William Williams to Rotterdam on the liner Nieuw Amsterdam, which sailed last Tuesday, on the ground that he might become a public charge.

The professor, who appeared to be a highly cultivated man, had a railroad ticket to Burton Grove, near Chicago, but according to the officials at Ellis Island he had declared that he was going to Mars on his arrival here a week ago.

When questioned by the special Board of Inquiry Prof. Mantur said that he had been to this country when he was a younger man and remained six years, during which time he lectured at various universities and educational institutions.

He was able to converse fluently in several modern tongues, but preferred to hold forth at Ellis Island in the classical languages used by Cicero and Demosthenes, which confirmed the idea held by the officials at Ellis Island that the professor was suffering from overstudy of the sciences and the classics, and would be better off among friends in his native land than starting for the planet Mars, so he was sent back.

JURY OBJECTS TO MISSIONS.

Reports That Churches Could Better Look After Young Folk Here.

The Kings County Grand Jurors, who have just finished a session lasting through July and August, suggested in a presentment handed to Judge Dike in the County Court yesterday that the heads of the various religious organizations give more time to missionary work right at home. The jury declared in its presentment:

> We have noted with deep regret the number of young men any boys who have just commenced a life of crime brought about by idleness and improper associates.
> Especially brought to our attention has been the number of minor girls who have gone astray from a virtuous life by apparent laxity or inability of parents or guardians to give their coming and going from their homes proper watchfulness.
>
> The remedy for these conditions is a subject that should receive the attention of the authorities and the various religious denominations of this borough.
>
> This Grand Jury would suggest that if the head representatives of the various denominations were invited to attend a session of the County Court on arraignment days they would see for themselves what is actually going on, and then instead of paying so much attention to foreign missions they would better understand the maxim that "charity begins at home."

There were over 200 cases waiting to be heard by the Grand Jury when District Attorney James Cropsey took office on Jan. 1, and there are only four cases yet to be heard.

PASSAIC WOMEN YOUNG AT 40

Y. W. C. A. Will Protect Them Even After That If Requested.

Special to The New York Times.

PASSAIC, N. J., Aug. 29.—The rule said to have been adopted by a Western branch of the Young Women's Christian Association that after reaching the age of twenty-five years a young woman ought to be able to look out for herself, and therefore need not be cared for by the association, is not approved by the Passaic branch of the association.

Forty years is the age set as the limit by the Y. W. C. A. here. Miss Carrie Smith, President of the local branch, said to-day that as a matter of fact there was actually no age limit, although a woman, after forty years, was supposed to be able to take care of herself. Even after that age, however, she said, any woman who was in need of care would be looked after by the association here. Miss Smith lives with Mrs. Henry A. Barry of Passaic Avenue, a well-to-do widow, who is her close friend.

HIS OWN EXPLOSIVE KILLS IMPERIALI

Marquis-Inventor Blown to Pieces and His Factory Near Brescia Hurled Into the Air.

HE CAME HERE LAST APRIL

Gave an Exhibition of Imperialite—Said It Could Be Handled Without the Slightest Danger.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Aug. 29.—Marquis Imperiali, inventor of the new explosive called Imperialite, was to-day blown to pieces, and his factory was hurled into the air at Monte Chiari, near Brescia.

Last year the unfortunate Marquis was badly injured by an explosion of a less disastrous nature, which occurred in the same factory.

He had claimed as one of the chief advantages of his invention that, while it was vastly more destructive than cordite, imperialite might be handled and shifted about without the slightest danger.

Marquis Roberto Imperiali arrived in this country last April 17 to introduce imperialite. The explosive was tested for the first time in the United States on May 15 at the new Croton Reservoir, near Valhalla. The demonstration was witnessed by a number of contractors, chemists, and engineers, and by Lieut. Col. Edwin B. Babbitt of the Ordnance Department at Sandy Hook, who was assigned to make observations for the army. The exhibition was conducted by F. A. Lane of this city and Mrs. A. E. Martinsen of Boston. They have an option on the American rights in the invention. John C. Sparks, a chemist, also helped at the exhibition.

Marquis Imperiali hammered the explosive with a sledge hammer and cooked it in a chafing dish. Then he conducted a series of experiments to prove his contention that imperialite was more powerful than dynamite, mélinite, or any other known explosive.

Imperialite is made chiefly of nitrate of ammonia, nitrate of potash, and aluiminium powder. It is a metallic powder, resembling silver. The inventor held that it could be manufactured more cheaply than dynamite and that it was not affected by cold or heat, nor subject to the action of water. He said it was being used for big gun projectiles by the Italian Government, and that the results had been kept secret. He further stated that the explosive could only be exploded by a detonator of fulminate of mercury.

After showing its power by setting off a cartridge in the open on a rock, which was reduced to dust, he placed some of the powder in a dish, gradually heating it over an alcohol lamp to 450 degrees centigrade. The only effect was that a thin, odorless vapor arose from the dish. Then a sudden rise of temperature was tried. Enough of the explosive to blow up a small building was then put in a heated chafing dish, where it soon melted and began to boil and bubble. The final experiment was the blasting of a fifteen cubic yard slab of granite, 800 grammes of Imperialite being used for the purpose. Fragments of the rock was sent over 100 feet into the air.

A virtue claimed for the explosive by the Marquis was that on explosion it gave out no poisonous gas, and was therefore of value for mining underground.

Among those who saw the experiments were C. R. McAbee of the McAbee Powder Company, W. Flinsch and J. G. White of J. G. White & Co., W. L. Bretheryon, representing ex-Senator W. A. Clark, manufacturer of Clarkite; James Forgie of Jacobs & Davies, J. F. Collier of the Empire Engineering Company, Dr. Ichita Taguchi, and Marchioness Imperiali.

MERRITT SUES THE STATE.

Wants $57,387 for Loss of His Prison Contract.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 29.—A claim against the State for $57,387.60 was filed with the Board of Claims to-day by Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., Speaker of the Assembly, as surviving partner of the Potsdam Red Sandstone Company. The claim grows out of a contract for the construction of the Harlem Prison at Wingdale.

This contract was given to the P. J. Carlin Company. The Potsdam Company had no contract with the State, but was the sub-contractor, and the claim is set up in the papers filed by Mr. Merritt that the action of the State in abrogating the Carlin contract was illegal, and that, because of the abrogation of the contract, the claimants are financial losers.

Some time ago the Carlin company put in a claim for more than $300,000, which the State was about to settle for $83,000 less a salvage of $6,000 on machinery conditional on an immediate settlement. This original claim included an item of $55,000 for the Potsdam company. Before the papers for final settlement were completed the Potsdam company secured an order from Robert L. Luce, Chairman of the Board of Claims, staying the settlement until the claim of the Carlin company could be heard. This order was granted on stipulation with the Attorney General and the attorneys for the Carlin company. The claim filed to-day includes an item of $20,565.15 prospective profits. The next largest item is for machinery, $11,500, which figure is arrived at by stating the total value of the machinery at $34,000 and deducting $22,500, which has been charged by the company to subsequent work.

HAD CHINESE DOCTOR, DIED.

Authorities of Seattle Investigating Treatment of L. M. Potter.

Special to The New York Times.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 29.—Dr. J. C. Snyder, the County Coroner, is conducting an investigation into the sudden death of Louis M. Potter, a New York sculptor. He refused to tell to-night the name of a Chinese doctor who treated Potter, but declared that as a result of an operation upon him he had suffered untold agony and died.

Potter had been without food or drink of any kind for six days, according to Dr. Snyder, who hinted that in all probability there would be a criminal prosecution. Potter's identity was learned by chance. A newspaper man having the authority of a Deputy Coroner searched his effects and learned his true name.

With his wife, a New York newspaper writer, Potter arrived here Aug. 19, and registered under the name of Percy, his stepfather's name, at the Hotel Hazelton. He came here from British Columbia, where he had been urged to consult Chinese physicians regarding his malady. His death was attended by a day and a night of delirium and greatest agony.

Louis McClellan Potter was born in Troy, N. Y., on Nov. 4, 1873. He was educated in Trinity College, and studied painting under Charles N. Flagg and Montague Flagg. He went to Paris, and for four years studied in the ateliers of Luc-Olivier Merson and Jean Lampt. Mr. Potter studied the American and Alaskan Indians, and made a speciality of Indian groups. He designed the memorial to Horace Wells at Hartford, Conn.; and made the busts of several prominent persons. He exhibited at the Paris Salon of 1899, the Paris Exposition of 1900, and in the principal societies in this country. He had a special exhibition in New York in May, 1909. Mr. Potter received the decoration of an Officer of Nichan Iftikan by the Bey of Tunis in 1900.

RICH CHILEAN BRIDES TO GO TO ALTAR HERE

MET AT NEW THOUGHT TALK

Younger Sister to Become Bride of Childhood Friend at Dual Brooklyn Wedding To-day.

Two Pan-American romances, one of them sprouting from the New Thought Cult, will culminate in a double wedding at 4 o'clock this afternoon, when Señorita Stella Chinchilla of Valparaiso, Chile, will be married to Clarence Burr Byxbee of South Norwalk, Conn., and her younger sister, Irene, to Carlos Hammerslee, also of Valparaiso.

Two years ago Señor Manuel Chinchilla, a wealthy merchant and land owner of Valparaiso, came to this country on a pleasure trip with his three young daughters, Stella, Irene, and Blanca. His son, Pelayo, was a student in the Sheffield Scientific School of Yale University at the time. After touring the country, the Chinchillas stopped for some time in Boston, and it was there that Señorita Stella's romance had its beginning. She is fond of attending lectures, and one evening went to hear a talk on New Thought at the Metaphysical Club, where she was introduced to Mr. Byxbee, said to be a ten-dollar-a-week clerk in the employ of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, whom chance and a kindred thirst for metaphysics had brought there the same evening. It was a case of love at first sight. A prenuptial agreement is said to give the young couple $100,000.

The second romance was slower. Señorita Irene had known Señor Carlos Hammerslee ever since she was 12 years old. He came here from Chile only recently, partly for business and partly for pleasure.

The double ceremony will take place at 1,287 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, where the Chinchillas have been residing temporarily. The bridesmaids will be the Misses Alice Kissam and Blanca Chinchilla, the best men Pelayo Chinchilla and his classmate, Edward Wilson, Yale, 1912. Señor Chinchilla will give away the brides. Immediately after the dual wedding the two young couples will leave for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls, after which the entire Chinchilla family, including its new accessions, will return to Valparaiso.

All three daughters speak English perfectly. They expressed themselves last night as being charmed with America and Americans.

DEDICATE BIG TELESCOPE.

World's Third Largest Instrument Ready for Service at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, Penn., Aug. 29.—A new thirty-inch photographic refractor telescope, valued at $150,000, said to be the third largest instrument of its kind in the world, was dedicated yesterday at the Allegheny Observatory, Riverview Park, in the presence of a distinguished company of scientists and visitors. Ten years of subscriptions brought the instrument into life, and Director Frank Schlessinger announced that an attempt would be made to determine exact distances between the earth, stars, and planets, although the task might occupy the next ten years.

The dedication was successful through the meeting here of the semi-annual convention of the Astronomical and Astrophysical Society of America, and was also made the occasion for presentation to Director Edward Charles Pickering of the Harvard College Observatory of the degree of L. H. D. from the University of Pittsburgh. The new instrument was erected in memory of William Thaw and his son, William Thaw, Jr., who were lifelong students in the researches of Samuel Pierpont Langley and James Edward Keeler, both former Directors of the Allegheny Observatory.

SEARCH MARSH FOR LOST BOY

Mrs. Gallo Received Threatening Letters, but Son May Have Drowned.

Searching parties from Flushing and Corona were formed last night to comb over the countless deep tide water pools on the thousand-acre stretch of salt meadows between Flushing and Corona in an effort to find the body of Frederick Gallo, son of Mrs. Antonio Gallo of 74 North Sycamore Street, Corona, who has offered $500 reward for the body of her child.

The boy disappeared on July 6, and after making a fruitless search Mrs. Gallo asked the co-operation of the police. It was at first believed that the boy had been kidnapped. This belief was strengthened by the fact that Mrs. Gallo, who is well to do, had received threatening letters demanding money.

Capt. Herbert Graham of the Queens Detective Bureau and Detective Caputo obtained information yesterday from playmates of the child that he had wandered on the meadows and had disappeared in one of the small pools with which the meadows abound. Some of these pools are fifty feet deep and are created by the action of the tides.

NO ARBITRATION ON CANAL.

Believed Administration Will Decline Britain's Request on Tolls Issue.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Although the State Department will authorize no statement to that effect, it is understood here that the Administration will decline to permit the question of the right of the United States to relieve its own shipping from tolls in the Panama Canal to go to arbitration, as proposed by Great Britain.

This position of the Government, it is said, may not be developed fully for some time.

INDICT STANDARD OIL FOR NEW OFFENSES

Federal Grand Jury in Texas Accuses Company and Directors of Trying to Crush a Rival.

CONTEMPT SUIT MAY FOLLOW

First Move of Government Since the Trust's Dissolution Unearths Old Practices, It Is Alleged.

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 29.—Charging conspiracy to destroy the business of the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association of Texas, the Federal Grand Jury of the Northern District of Texas late to-day returned an indictment against the Standard Oil Company of New York, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, the Magnolia Petroleum Company of Texas, and these individuals:

Calvin N. Paine of Titusville, Penn.; John D. Archbold and Henry C. Folger, Jr., of New York; John Sealin of Galveston, A. C. Ebie of Dallas, E. R. Brown of Corsicana, Texas, and W. S. Teagle of Plainfield, N. J.

The general charge is restraint of trade and commerce and unlawful conspiracy and combination in violation of the anti-trust laws, and the specific offense is alleged to have been committed on June 29, 1912.

The case is notable because it is the first step taken by the Government against the Oil Trust since it was dissolved last November, under the mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States, into its thirty-three component parts, to restore competition. It is the result of a three months' investigation of charges that the decree dissolving the so-called trust had been violated.

The indictment alleges that the Pierce-Fordyce Oil Association is engaged in selling various oils and lubricants in the territory named, and, not being a producer or manufacturer, it has bought its supplies from the three companies charged in the indictment; that the defendants entered into a conspiracy for the Magnolia Company to establish rival agencies and sell direct to consumers in the towns where the Pierce-Fordyce Association has agencies; to hire away the agents and officers of that association, to announce that the association would not last, to sell oils to the trade at prices lower than it charged the association, and to refuse to sell that association engine oil, naphtha, and gasoline, without which products it could make no sales whatever to many customers.

Upon these allegations the defendants are charged on two counts:

First, with conspiring in restraint of trade; second, with attempting to create a monopoly in the inter-State trade in coal oil, &c.

The case is set for the January term of court.

Three years ago the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, in one proceeding, and the Security Oil Company and the Navarro Refining Company, in another proceeding, brought by the Attorney General of Texas, were held to be trusts. The expulsion of the former from Texas and the corporate death of the others was decreed. Their properties were sold under judgment.

MAY PROSECUTE FOR CONTEMPT

Government Will Await the Result of the Texas Indictment.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—With reference to the indictment of Standard Oil officials at Dallas it is said at the Department of Justice that the Government has not yet decided whether it will proceed on the question of the violation of the Supreme Court decree dissolving the so-called trust. This would involve contempt proceedings.

The Texas Grand Jury considered the question under the criminal clauses of the Sherman law. Contempt proceedings would have to be undertaken directly before a Federal Court. Such action is beyond the function of a Grand Jury. The indictment returned to-day, it is pointed out, however, will not bar the Government from prosecuting for contempt of court in case that course is deemed desirable.

Officials of the Department of Justice believe, it is stated, that the first move in the case should be made through a Grand Jury, and then, if it developed that an indictment did not promise to satisfy the law's demands they could resort to contempt proceedings as well.

The Special Grand Jury which returned the indictment has been working on the case since last Tuesday, when it was convened to consider the Government's allegations and evidence. The speed with which it concluded the inquiry surprised officials here.

Although this is the first move of the Government against the Standard Oil Company since it was dissolved, a suit against the company is now pending in the Federal court at St. Louis involving the good faith of Standard Oil in carrying out the decree.

The Federal Government is not a party to this suit, which was brought nominally by the State of Missouri to compel the Inspectors of Election of officers of the Waters-Pierce Oil Company at St. Louis last February to vote the proxies of the Rockefeller and other Standard Oil interests, which are said to have named Standard Oil men as officials of the company. The Inspectors refused on the ground that it would violate the dissolution decree.

DIDN'T LIKE WEST POINT.

Joseph McGill's Mother Explains Why Her Son Resigned.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 29.—Denying that her son was hazed into leaving West Point, Mrs. Mary Buchanan McPherson McGill, wife of the Rev. Ernest McGill, near Frederick City, to-day explained Cadet Joseph McGill's abrupt departure from the Government training school this way:

"He simply did not like the military life. He had never liked it, and satisfied himself that he would never grow to like it. So he resigned."

"Yes, he mailed his resignation to the War Department."

"Where is he now?"

"That is unknown to the officers at West Point. I will say that he found that he had a right to resign before he left the school."

"Do you know where he is?"

"I think that is not of public interest," she said firmly.

"Didn't he say in leaving that it was better to be a farmer than a soldier, and that he was going back to the farm?"

"Possibly he did, and possibly that was some reporter's imagination."

"And is he going back to the farm?"

"That is not public business."

Former Cadet McGill is a cousin of Col. Buchanan Schley, distantly related, and, through his mother, is related to Gen. James A. Buchanan, retired, of Washington.

NEW HOLD-UP AT POCANTICO.

Thirteenth on the Rockefeller Estate Since Italian Feud Began.

Special to The New York Times.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 29.—A teamster returning from work on John D. Rockefeller's estate was held up by two Italians, presumably members of the Black Hand, about 6 o'clock last night, and when he protested that he had nothing, one Italian held a revolver at his head while the other searched his pockets. They escaped to the woods.

The hold-up took place on the Sleepy Hollow Road, and makes the thirteenth since the trouble started among the Italians at Pocantico Hills. Sheriff Doyle and Detective Burns still have their men at work on the estate. The news of last night's hold-up was kept quiet until to-day.

Merchant Underwent an Operation for Kidney Trouble.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—John Wanamaker, the merchant and ex-Postmaster General, has been suffering for the last two weeks from kidney trouble, it was learned to-night, but he is now able to sit up.

Mr. Wanamaker recently underwent an operation, which it was said had greatly relieved him. Members of his family have declined to discuss his illness, and earlier in the day it was said that he was merely suffering from a cold.

NEW FLY PEST IN TEXAS.

Strange Insect Is Killing Live Stock—Farmers Are Worried.

DALLAS, Texas, Aug. 29.—Farmers in Northern Texas are plowing by moonlight to escape the attacks of a fly that is causing the death of livestock. Horses and cattle are being driven blind by the pest, and cows refuse to eat.

Dairymen are heavy sufferers, supplies of milk and butter being greatly reduced. The people also are suffering from attacks of the fly. Horses are being covered with blankets and old clothing to protect them, both in the country and in towns in the affected section. While the situation is reported improved in some localities, in others it continues serious, with no indication of an early relief.

WISDOM BOARD FOR CHILDREN

Widow's Will Names Three to Decide Welfare Problems for Daughters.

Special to The New York Times.

GLEN RIDGE, N. J., Aug. 29.—In the will of Mrs. Annie O. Maclay, widow of David Maclay of this town, which was admitted to probate to-day in the County Surrogates' office, it is stipulated that in every question with reference to her daughters, Margaret and Jean Elizabeth Maclay, "involving discipline, school, injustice, or narrowness," the testator desires a council of John S. Watson, James Maclay, and Cora N. Williams. This council will decide the questions at issue. The elder of the two children is 7 years old.

Mrs. Maclay left a considerable estate. James Maclay, a brother of the widow's husband, and Cora N. Williams are named as executors.

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Aug. 29.—A new steamship line between Los Angeles and the Atlantic seaboard, via the Panama Canal, will be established within the next sixty days, if the plans of the Panama Navigation and Commercial Company mature.

Alexander Graydon of Chicago, who is connected with the International Fibre Company, appeared before the Los Angeles Harbor Commission to-day and asked for information concerning docking and wharfage facilities. He stated that associated with him were T. C. Scott of Toronto, Canada, and a number of other Toronto and Pittsburgh capitalists.

FIVE SHIPS BRINGING 7,074.

Cold Weather in Europe Drives American Tourists Home.

Five steamships of the North German Lloyd will land 7,074 passengers at this port on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week. The early homeward rush is caused by the cold weather in Europe.

The steamship George Washington will land 1,937 passengers on Sept. 2; the Grosser Kurfuerst, also due on Monday, 1,106 passengers, including the members of the German-American Teachers' Association; the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, 1,571 passengers on Tuesday; the Rhein, 540 passengers, on Tuesday, and the Prinzess Irene, 1,920 passengers, on Wednesday.

TO SERVE SINCLAIR BY MAIL.

Woman Whose Husband Was Killed by Auto Could Not Find Novelist.

Justice Aspinall of the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, signed an order yesterday, on the application of Mrs. Mary Martin of 1,554 Pacific Street, directing that service in her suit against Upton Sinclair, the novelist, be made by mail. Mrs. Martin is suing Mr. Sinclair and Edgar Selwyn, the actor, for $50,000 damages for the death of her husband, Benjamin Martin, who was killed by an automobile on Sept. 3, 1911. The defendants are sued as joint owners and operators of the machine, which ran down her husband at Twenty-third Street and Eighth Avenue, Manhattan.

According to the testimony offered yesterday, Mr. Sinclair is at present traveling in Europe with his mother. Efforts were made during the greater part of last month to reach Mr. Sinclair.

Mrs. Martin has ten children.

SUES McCOMBS FOR $25,000.

Chauffeur for Wilson's Campaign Manager Killed Thomas Clark.

William F. McCombs, the Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has been sued in the Supreme Court for $25,000 damages because of the death of Thomas Clark, who was run over and killed by Mr. McCombs's automobile.

On April 6 last George Koecher, Mr. McCombs's chauffeur, was driving up Second Avenue and near Sixty-second Street ran over Clark, who was crossing the avenue. Clark died soon afterward.

Koecher was arrested and held on a charge of homicide, but no indictment was returned against him. The suit against Mr. McCombs was filed by John McCarron of 1,123 Webster Avenue, administrator and executor of Clark's estate. Clark is survived by his uncle, Mr. McCarron, and three cousins, Elizabeth Carroll, Mrs. McKay Custer, and Mary Ann McCusker.

MARCH DEFENSE OF BECKER FAILS

Changes His Testimony Before Grand Jury, Admitting He Made No Money for Lieutenant.

STOCK PROFIT STORY FALSE

Banker Mentioned Called and Denies That District Leader Ever Dealt for Him.

TO HEAR GAYNOR AND WALDO

Both to be Called Before Extraordinary Grand Jury—Becker Counts on Change of Venue.

The first stones in the structure of defense which friends of Lieut. Charles Becker, accused of the murder of Herman Rosenthal, have tried to erect for his protection fell to pieces yesterday when James E. March, the Republican leader of the Third Assembly District, a former Warden of the Port and a power in Republican politics in this city, confessed to the Grand Jury that no aid of his had assisted Becker in accumulating even 5 cents of the thousands of dollars which have been discovered by District Attorney Whitman in various banks.

The admission came, however, only after Mr. March had been recalled for a second examination before the Grand Jury, and it is understood that until it was made clear to him that his story was not believed and that there was a law covering the matter of giving false testimony before a Grand Jury, Mr. March stuck to the story that trades in the stock market manipulated by him in the interests of his friend had produced the wealth which various banks now hold to Becker's credit.

Mr. March was jauntily confident when he entered the Grand Jury room. He was nervous, shaken, drooping in spirit and appearance when he emerged from his second ordeal. He had done his best for Becker and had failed. Had the story he is believed to have told been true—that he was responsible for Becker's sudden prosperity—or had it been possible to make the Grand Jury accept it as true, a tremendous step would have been taken in the defense of Becker.

Becker's $100,000 Unexplained.

The confessions of "Billiard Ball" Jack Rose, "Bridgey" Webber, and Harry Vallon accuse Becker of having instigated and directed Rosenthal's murder because the gambler had threatened to reveal Becker's grafting methods. Could it be shown that Becker had never taken graft, discredit would be thrown on the whole story.

But when Mr. March left the Grand Jury room the second time to hurry from the building with hanging head it became known that this hope of Becker had failed. To-day the accounts, totaling close to $100,000, which Mr. Whitman's investigators have located in savings banks and other institutions in this city and in New Jersey, remain as unexplained as they did before Mr. March entered the Grand Jury room, and there weighs still upon the shoulders of Becker the burden of proving that his suddenly acquired wealth was honestly come by.

Mr. Whitman's decision to call Mr. March before the Grand Jury was made several days ago, when tales reached his ears that the former Warden of the Port was boasting publicly of how he could account for Becker's savings, how he had assisted the accused Lieutenant in accumulating them by inside information on the stock market. The Grand Jury was not in session then, however, and Mr. Whitman meant to give Mr. March no inkling of his intentions until it should be possible to hustle the district leader directly before the Grand Jury.

Therefore Mr. March was not subpoenaed to appear before the Grand Jury until 10:40 o'clock yesterday morning. Instantly he begged for twenty-four hours' delay, but this was refused, and he was made to start immediately for the Criminal Court Building, where, at 11 o'clock, he was escorted into the Grand Jury room.

March's Story Breaks Down.

Mr. Whitman himself took charge of Mr. March's examination, so important did he consider it in its possible bearing on Becker's case, and it is understood that the District Attorney was merciless in his questioning. What Mr. March told behind the closed doors of the Grand Jury room is not known, of course, but it is believed that he repeated the story which he had told to friends outside the court building. Mr. Whitman was as familiar with the story as though Mr. March had told it to him.

But the tale as Mr. March told it glittered with generalities. There was no mention of dates, of amounts, or the names of stocks whose fortunate rises or falls turned Becker's small savings into thousands of dollars. When were some of these deals made, what were the amounts involved, what stocks were the mediums of the happy deals which swelled Becker's fortune? These are understood to be some of the questions which Mr. Whitman put to Mr. March.

And it is understood that the jaunty, confident witness began to lose his jauntiness and his confidence as he entangled himself in explanations which didn't explain. He couldn't recall the dates of any of Becker's operations. What sums the Lieutenant had invested seemed to have slipped from his memory. He was hazy even as to the names of stocks in which the deals had been made. All he recalled was that the deals were many, that Becker always won, and that the transactions between them were always made in cash.

Such is understood to have been the substance of Mr. March's testimony, with the additional statement that Becker was only one of numerous friends for whom he acted in the capacity of expert adviser in matters of the stock market. Apparently a large part of Mr. March's time was given over to making money for others by directing and advising their operations in Wall Street.

But, active as he appeared to have been in the interests of others, Mr. March is understood to have exhibited a surprisingly poor memory when it came to recalling who were these friends of whom he thought enough to guide their financial courses with the hand of a master pilot. Mr. March was glib in his replies, it is understood, but glibness could not cover paucity of detail, and presently, it is reported, the statute on prejury was read to him.

Banker Refutes His Testimony.

And then the name of Joseph Francolini, President of the Italian Savings Bank at Spring and Lafayette Streets, is said to have dropped from Mr. March's lips as the name of one of those friends for whom he had exercised his inside knowledge of stock market transactions. Whether or not Mr. March divulged the name, Detective Al Thomas, of Mr. Whitman's staff, was hustled off to find Mr. Francolini and to bring him before the Grand Jury, and presently the detective and the banker entered the building.

Mr. March, his story told, was just leaving the Grand Jury room as Mr. Francolini entered. The banker was excited and nervous. He feared the effect on the depositors of his bank should they learn that he was a Grand Jury witness. Mr. March, it is said, seemed equally excited, and much more nervous. His face, white and lined with the wrinkles of worry, apparently accurately reflected his mental state.

He tried to speak to Mr. Francolini as the banker stepped toward the door of the Grand Jury room, but Mr. March was turned aside to wait in an ante room until Mr. Francolini had been heard and the banker disappeared within the portals without having exchanged a word with the one time warden of the port.

Mr. Francolini was before the Grand Jury only about ten minutes, and when he was excused he hurried back to his bank as though he was glad to shake the dust of the Criminal Courts Building from his feet, and hopeful that neither his entrance nor his exit from the building might be noted by his depositors.

In his few minutes before the Grand Jury, however, it is understood that Mr. Francolini denied absolutely that Mr. March ever had assisted him, either financially or with advice, in operations in Wall Street. Then Mr. March was invited to return to the Grand Jury room.

Under the law a witness may tell one story to a Grand Jury and then may change this story, provided he does so before the same Grand Jury, without laying himself open to prosecution for perjury. Mr. March, it is understood, took advantage of the opening this law allows, and on his second appearance before the Grand Jury took back everything he had said before, admitting finally that never had he aided Becker in any way whatsoever to accumulate the fortune he now possesses. Then he was excused.

With the completion of Mr. March's testimony the Grand Jury adjourned not to reconvene for a week. It had been Mr. Whitman's intention to discharge the present Grand Jury, the body which indicted Becker, then named him again in the blanket indictment, and finally indicted his former aids, Detectives Charles Steinert and James White. The jury has been continued ever since July 1, and, with the approaching organization of the extraordinary Grand Jury which is to assist Justice Goff in his conduct of the John Doe inquiry, it was felt that the present body might be dispensed with.

J. W. Osborne May Assist Whitman.

The occasion for calling Mr. March befort this Grand Jury suggested, however, to Mr. Whitman the advisability of keeping this body in existence indefinitely, so that he might always have a Grand Jury ready at a moment's notice to investigate any other such story as that told by Mr. March. The fact that two Grand Juries will be sitting at the same time, and that in addition to Justice Goff's extraordinary term of the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, six parts of General Sessions will open in October, gave rise to the rumor yesterday that Mr. Whitman would be compelled to procure some outside assistance, and the name of James W. Osborne was mentioned as the lawyer most likely to be retained by Mr. Whitman.

Nothing has been done as yet, however, looking to the appointment of a Special Prosecutor. Mr. Whitman looks on Assistant District Attorney Frank Moss as a tower of strength to his office but he realizes that with seven parts of the court and two Grand Juries in operation and with the John Doe inquiry and several murder trials all on his hands at the same time he will be overwhelmed with work and it would not be surprising to see Mr. Whitman name some lawyer as a Special Assistant District Attorney.

In this event it would occasion no surprise among friends of Mr. Whitman should he appoint Mr. Osborne to the post. Mr. Osborne prosecuted the Ice Trust under special appointment by the Governor and he was counsel for the investigators in the Albany graft inquiry. He was lawyer also for Senator Benn Conger in the trial of Senator Jotham P. Allds before the Senate at Albany on charges of bribery.

With the decisions reached in his conference with Justice Goff on Wednesday evening still fresh in his mind the District Attorney busied himself yesterday with further preparations for the trial of Lieut. Becker, for it has been definitely decided now that the trial of Becker will precede the others and also will forestall the John Doe inquiry, Justice Goff being as eager as Mr. Whitman to hew close to the line in disposing of the murder phase of the Rosenthal inquiry before branching out in original researches into graft, vice, gambling and the police.

Mr. Whitman admitted yesterday that he had learned of the disappearance of Thomas Coupe, night clerk at the Elks' Club in Forty-third Street, who was one of Mr. Whitman's chief witnesses in the murder cases. Coupe was one of the few men to see the whole affair and he later identified "Dago Frank" Cirosici as one of the men he had seen in the automobile when it sped past the club on its way from the shooting.

Mr. Whitman learned that Coupe had taken passage on the Teutonic and was now in his way abroad. He immediately cabled Scotland Yard to be on the look out for the man and though he will not be sent back to this country he will be kept under surveillance so that Mr. Whitman can get him if he should desire to do so.

The District Attorney was much disturbed by the departure of Coupe and it is known that he sees in it another example of the power of the "system" arrayed in this case to prevent in any way it can the conviction of Lieut. Becker. It is known too that Mr. Whitman feels that so far as his witnesses are concerned he is almost powerless to combat the activities of the "system" since, even were he to put his witnesses in the House of Detention any one of them could procure his liberty by providing a bond of only $100.

COUNTS ON CHANGE OF VENUE.

Becker's Counsel Believes It Will Be Impossible to Get a Jury Here.

Lieut. Charles Becker will never be tried in this county for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler who accused the Lieutenant of having been his silent partner, according to the belief of John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the accused Lieutenant. This was learned yesterday, when Mr. McIntyre's plans in connection with the beginning of the trial of Becker became known.

Briefly, Mr. McIntyre's plan is to move for a change of venue, but whether he gets it or not, the lawyer is quite certain that Becker will never go to trial here. Mr. McIntyre saw District Attorney Whitman yesterday and told him then that he would make no objection to the transferring of Becker's case from the Court of General Sessions to the Extraordinary Term of the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court, where Justice Goff will sit.

It became known later that Mr. McIntyre's entire satisfaction with this programme resulted from his certainty that Becker could not be brought to trial. Becker will be arraigned before Justice Goff on next Tuesday morning, the day on which the Extraordinary Term convenes, and then he will be asked to plead to the indictment against him. Whether he pleads or not, District Attorney Whitman will instantly move his trial, and Justice Goff will be asked to set a day for this to begin.

Under the law the earliest that this may be done will be the following Tuesday, and it is understood now that this date will be set, as Justice Goff is as anxious as Mr. Whitman to proceed immediately with the murder case. Mr. McIntyre is informed of this programme, and, except for interposing the usual motion to dismiss the indictment, he will introduce no obstacle in its way.

But when Becker shall have been arraigned he will move instantly for a change of venue. It is known that Mr. McIntyre expects this motion to be denied and is quite prepared for such an outcome. He will take no exception to this ruling, nor in any other way will he try to hinder the progress of the case. Instead he will take his place at the counsel table and join with the District Attorney in the task of trying to obtain a jury.

For it is on what Mr. McIntyre believes to be the impossibility of accomplishing this that he counts to win a change of venue for Becker, even though his original motion may be denied. Mr. McIntyre believes that it will prove impossible to find twelve men who have not already formed an opinion on the case about which so much has been printed in the newspapers, and he counts, too, on the unwillingness of most talesmen to risk spending a month behind locked doors to add to the difficulty of getting a jury.

"Mr. McIntyre expects this case will prove exactly similar to the case of the 'Boodle Aldermen' back in '86," declared a close friend of the lawyer yesterday. "It will be recalled that 600 talesmen were examined in that case, and still a jury had not been procured. Finally Supreme Court Justice Daniels sent the case to Broome County for trial, and that is what Mr. McIntyre expects Justice Goff will have to do when he discovers how impossible it is to get a jury."

Think Goff Will Not Consent.

There was a decided difference of opinion among lawyers who learned yesterday of Mr. McIntyre's views. Many believed that there would be no difficulty in getting a jury, the members of which, though they might have read of the case, should still be open to conviction by the evidence and by the evidence alone. It is considered highly unlikely that Justice Goff would consent to any motion for a change of venue especially since he will be sitting by special appointment just to hear Becker's case and the other cases arising from the murder of Rosenthal.

District Attorney Whitman is known to be among those who have no doubt of the possibility of obtaining a jury, and he will proceed with the case along the lines settled at the conference between himself and Justice Goff on Wednesday night.

Assuming, then, that Mr. McIntyre's motion for a change of venue is denied, Mr. Whitman, or his assistant, William A. De Ford, who has been especially designated to work with Justice Goff, will present to him the information praying for a John Doe inquiry. Justice Goff will accede to this request, and then the necessary notifications will be sent to the fifty men already selected from which the Extraordinary Grand Jury is to be drawn.

Since the law requires a certain delay before this Grand Jury can convene, Justice Goff will adjourn his Extraordinary Term and will not reconvene it until Sept. 10. Then the trial of Becker is booked to start, and on the next day the selection of the Extraordinary Grand Jury will be made.

It is known now that it is Mr. Whitman's intention to examine each man exactly as he would in the case of a trial jury. The District Attorney heard yesterday that one of the fifty men on the panel had figured prominently as a bondsman for women, and it is not the intention of the District Attorney to permit any such person to have a place on a jury which will have to devote much of its time to an investigation of organized vice.

HEARS FRIENDS HIDE GUNMEN.

Whitman Has Plausible Story That Becker Will Produce Them at Trial.

Ever since the proffer of a $5,000 reward for the capture of "Gyp the Blood" Horowitz and "Lefty Louie" Rosenzweig, District Attorney Whitman has received all sorts of tips as to their whereabouts. The latest rumors to reach him came yesterday, when he heard, first, that the missing gunmen had sailed for Europe from this port on last Tuesday, and afterward that both men were in the city, where they had been ever since the murder.

Mr. Whitman is inclined to take more stock in this rumor, since he has publicly stated that he did not believe the police made an honest effort to catch the men. The story which reached Mr. Whitman yesterday went further, however, than merely saying that the men were in the city.

The tale had it that "Gyp" and "Lefty" were in hiding, kept there by friends of Lieut. Becker, who meant to produce them at Becker's trial, and to have them testify then that Harry Vallon, and not they, shot Herman Rosenthal. The story the gunmen are expected to tell if such a programme be followed is that big gamblers in this city raised a $15,000 fund to have Herman Rosenthal leave the city and cut short the revelations concerning gambling and graft which he had threatened to make to Mr. Whitman. The same story has it that "Billiard Ball" Jack Rose, "Bridgey" Webber, and Harry Vallon received this money, and that instead of giving it to Rosenthal to quit town, they pocketed it. Rosenthal kept on talking, and the gamblers demanded to know why he had not been silenced. Then they wanted their money back. To avoid such an unpleasantness as the return of $15,000, the story goes, Vallon, drunk at the moment, shot and killed Rosenthal.

Mr. Whitman is quite ready to believe that Horowitz and Rosenzweig are in the city and have never left it, but he is not so ready to believe the story of the $15,000 fund and the shooting of Rosenthal by Vallon, since his investigations have failed to disclose any facts about such a fund, and it is known that Mr. Whitman does not believe that the fund was ever raised, much less paid to Rose, Webber, and Vallon.

"Dago Frank" Cirsici, one of the two gunmen already under arrest, issued a long statement yesterday from his cell in the Tombs, in which he had been advised to swear to a string of lies, accuse another man of the murder of Rosenthal, and so escape himself. He wrote much of religion and his careful bringing up as a youth in the long statement, and declared finally that he would scorn to do as he had been advised, confident that when the whole truth was known he would be acquitted.

WILL CALL GAYNOR AND WALDO.

Justice Goff's Inquiry Expected to Receive Much Light from Them.

Mayor Gaynor and Police Commissioner Waldo will be witnesses before the Extraordinary Grand Jury in the John Doe inquiry, according to the present plans believed to have been decided on by District Attorney Whitman and Justice Goff at their conference on Wednesday night. It is expected that they will make the most interesting witnesses that could be called.

Mayor Gaynor may have an opportunity to explain his "outward order and decency" idea. A little better understanding of this would be of immense assistance in getting at the truth about Inspectors who allowed disorderly resorts to operate in their districts, especially since former Inspector Hayes had already brought it forward as part of his defense to the charge that he allowed such houses to run wide open in his bailiwick.

Commissioner Waldo can tell some other interesting things about the working of the Police Department, and it is believed that Mr. Whitman and Justice Goff expect the Mayor and the Commissioner to throw more light on the police situation than could any other two men in the city.

William J. Flynn will also be a witness before this Grand Jury, and from him, too, the investigators expect to get a wealth of material bearing on the police connection with gambling and organized vice.

Not one of the four Inspectors whose names have been mentioned in connection with the case will be permitted to testify in the John Doe inquiry, however, without first signing a waiver of all immunity. It is no part of Mr. Whitman's plan to let any guilty man escape if this can be avoided, and in the John Doe inquiry he does not believe that it will be necessary to grant immunity to get the information he wants.

There will be no representative of the District Attorney's office at the trial of former Inspector Hayes at Police Headquarters to-day, but the minutes of the proceedings will be forwarded to Mr. Whitman, who will make use of them in the forthcoming John Doe inquiry.

FREED ON GAMBLING CHARGE.

Magistrate Freschi Quotes Gaynor's Decision on Betting on Races.

In discharging David Brann of 106 East Fifty-first Street yesterday Magistrate Freschi in the Tombs Court quoted a decision handed down by Mayor Gaynor while he was a Supreme Court Justice, in which he held that a man had a right to bet with his friends and could not be punished unless it was shown that he offered to bet with every one.

Brann was arrested on Aug. 9 for running a poolroom at Thirtieth Street and Sixth Avenue, and according to Detective Thomas Cahill of the West Thirtieth Street Station the prisoner accepted bets on horse races. He said that a group of men were in Brann's place, and that he saw the defendant take slips of paper and bills from seven men. As the eighth man approached Cahill interfered, and says that upon searching him he found a paper upon which was written "Idle Michael," "Light," and "Lampblack."

Brann said that he was a tailor, and that he had bet with a friend of his upon a race which was to be run in Hamilton, Ontario; that he won, and his friend had only handed him the wager.

TWO GIVE BAIL FOR GAMBLING.

Alleged Managers of Webber's and Lyceum Club Before House.

Recent gambling raids made by Inspector Dwyer reached the West Side Court yesterday. Kirk Brown, accused of being manager of "Bridgey" Webber's poker rooms that were used as the rendezvous for the Rosenthal murder, was held by Magistrate House in $1,500 bail for trial in Special Sessions. The charge was that he kept and maintained a gambling house.

The sequel to Wednesday night's raid on the Lyceum Social and Literary Club in West Forty-fifth Street, was the arraignment of Samuel B. Hille in response to a summons served on Tuesday. The police call him the manager of the club. In court he was served with a warrant and held in $1,000 bail pending the examination.

NOT ROSENTHAL GUNMAN.

Man Arrested in Havana at First Thought to be "Gyp the Blood."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Aug. 29.—The Havana police have arrested in the city "Tenderloin" Max Goodman and a woman, who says she is his wife, on the charge of being engaged in the white slave traffic.

The police found a letter from Joe Miller Gordy of 136 or 156 Ludlow Street, New York, on the person of a Havana "Tenderloin" café keeper, which, the police declare, shows that he sent two women here and promised to send two more. The arrest of Goodman followed.

The police had a suspicion that he was "Gyp the Blood." Goodman acknowledges that he knows the Rosenthal murderers.

The Goodmans had together $556 and much jewelry.

VERMONT FARMERS CHEER ROOSEVELT

In 150-Mile Dash Up the State the Colonel Rouses Them by Attacking Penrose.

URGES RECIPROCITY REPEAL

And Calls on Republicans to Come Over to the Real Party of Lincoln —Supporters Not Too Confident.

Special to The New York Times.

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 29.—Col. Roosevelt put in one of the hardest days of campaigning in his experience to-day in an effort to turn the tide in his favor to the third party in this State. He was at it from early in the morning until late at night, tearing through the State for 150 miles by automobile, and stopping to make eight speeches. The day's programme ended with an address before a large audience here, which cheered the Colonel heartily. Yet his managers are not overconfident, and are making no predictions.

Col. Roosevelt came to Vermont knowing that he had a hard fight ahead of him if he hoped to make material inroads on the big Republican majority, and from his first address at Bennington it was evident that he was feeling his way. The crowd that greeted him at the ball grounds there represented perhaps half of the city's 7,000 people. It was ready to listen, but there was not the enthusiasm that marked his campaign in Rhode Island and Massachusetts. The Colonel's leaders did not try to deny that.

The Colonel tried first one line and then another to win his audiences to him, and his fighting spirit never flagged. He announced for the first time that the Progressives favored the rescinding of the reciprocity agreement, which is still on the statute books, and touched on the tariff. When he received only a mild response from his hearers he spoke of reestablishing the country life commission to aid the farmers, and appealed to Vermonters to lead the fight for the new Progressive Party now just as it did before the civil war, when Lincoln deserted the Whigs for the Republicans. It was when Roosevelt began an attack on Archbold and Penrose, however, that his hearers warmed up, and the applause was most enthusiastic when he arraigned Penrose as the "side partner" of the head of the Standard Oil Corporation.

"What my enemies object to chiefly in me is the company I keep—you, the people here," he said. "Proud as I am of my friends, I don't know but I'm a little prouder of my foes. I've been fighting against the relations between crooked politicians and crooked business, and now Messrs. Archbold and Penrose tramp up before the Senate Committee and admit all I have said is true.

"And as soon as the committee got this testimony—this testimony by Archbold and Penrose—they let Archbold go to Europe and then scattered to the four winds themselves. They wouldn't let me testify, but I don't know but what I am satisfied to stand on the unconscious recommendation they gave me."

The Colonel again drew the "deadly parallel" between the relations of Archbold and Penrose and the conditions developed by the police investigation in New York, and shouted, much to the enjoyment of his audience:

"Archbold don't complain because he was blackmailed. What he complains of is that he did not get the goods."

To Senator Penrose he also paid his respects, asserting that because of the testimony "out of his own mouth" the Senator should be expelled from the United States Senate.

"Mr. Archbold complains that darkest Abyssinia was not to be compared with the treatment of the Standard Oil by my Administration," he declared. "Well, that's the kind of a-bbyssinia treatment that I would give to Mr. Archbold's side partner, Mr. Penrose. He knows it. That's why he and Archbold are opposed to me."

Investigating When Gift Was Made.

Col. Roosevelt began this line of attack in his address at Bennington and kept at it all day. On the platform at Bennington was James R. Garfield, Secretary of the Interior under Roosevelt. This gave the Colonel another cue.

"Jimmy Garfield," he told his hearers, pointing him out, "has just told me that at the very time this contribution of $100,000 from the Standard Oil, which is being talked about so much, was made, we had already begun the investigation of the Standard Oil practices. And we got the Bureau of Corporations bill through fully eighteen months before the contribution."

"Now, I want to say a word about the new party. You can't support me and vote the Republican State ticket. There is only one way that a man can support me for President, and that is to vote the Progressive ticket, and that is to vote for Mr. Metzger, our nominee for Governor.

"I wish to say a word also to the good people who are reluctant to leave the Republican Party. I ask them to [illegible] book for themselves and find out where the principles of Lincoln are to be found to-day and then to come with us.

True Republicans, if Progressive.

"You are not leaving the Republican Party; you are being true to all that is best in the Republican Party. The Republican machine left the Republican Party at Chicago last June. You stay true to the principles of Abraham Lincoln and you can only do that by coming with us. When any new movement becomes a new party there is much wrenching and pulling of heartstrings, and that was so with Lincoln when he left the Whigs.

"At the present moment the machine type and reactionary type of Republicans care more for beating me than of electing their own man. I don't think any of them expect to win; they have abandoned Mr. Taft. They fear me."

Col. Roosevelt then made a brief criticism of the Sherman anti-trust law and took another slap at Archbold.

"Archbold doesn't think of darkest Abyssinia when he thinks of the dissolution suit," he declared, "but he does think of it when he thinks of my Administration and that I may have another."

"You will!" cried an enthusiast, and the Colonel quickly retorted:

"Yes, I think I will, and he knows that we put the fear of the Lord into him."

"I myself was surprised at the bitterness of some of these crooked financiers and politicians toward me, and was shocked and horrified beyond measure at what has been going on since I was elected Governor of New York. During the fourteen years I learned the need of giving the people a btter grasp on the Government.

"When I was elected Governor I didn't know much of the initiative and referendum, but I learned that when I got anything I couldn't get it through the politicians, but had to go to the people. If you put it up to the politicians you were plumb likely not to get it."

Col. Roosevelt prophesied the passing of the Republican Party, and referred to President Taft "as the last of the reactionaries."

From Bennington the Colonel rode northward by automobile. His first address was at Arlington. At Manchester he spoke at the Equinox House, a Summer resort in the mountains. Wallingford, Brandon, and Rutland then saw the Colonel. In Rutland the public square was packed with one of the largest crowds he faced during the day.

Thousands of farmers were in the throngs that he addressed. This was especially true of Middlebury, where the State Fair was being held. At least 5,000 persons waited patiently two hours beyond the scheduled time.

In this city to-night he made two addresses and went to bed thoroughly tired.

After lauding the men and women of Vermont as "the very type of American citizen to whom we must trust when we strive to make this Government really a Government by the people themselves in the interest of all the people and not of any one class of the people," Mr. Roosevelt said, in his principal speech:

"We must take the principles of Abraham Lincoln and apply them to the issues of the present day. The National Progressive Convention at Chicago thus applied the principles of 1776 and 1860 to the issues of 1912.

"Both of the old parties, on the contrary, have confined themselves to thrashing over again the old straw. There is not one particle of hope for social or economic reform contained in the triumph of either the Democratic or Republican Parties. Each is boss-ridden and privilege-controlled. Each proposes sham remedies and tries to distract the attention of the people from their real needs by the empty sound and fury with which they quarrel over false issues. The two old parties have utterly lost touch with the facts of modern economic life, and they serve no other purpose than that of screens each for its own sinister alliance of crooked politicians and crooked financiers who rule and pillage with impunity.

Appeals to the Farmers.

"I make an especial appeal to the farmers of Vermont. Our platform alone of the three platforms shows an intelligent purpose to deal fundamentally with the causes that are at work to harm American agriculture and to diminish the full value of life in the open country.

"We are for the immediate repeal of the reciprocity treaty. Many of us originally supported that treaty. I did myself, under the impression that it was honestly entered into for the benefit of all our people and to favor the reciprocal good relations between Canada and the United States.

"A full examination has convinced us that the treaty was improper, that it would not do what it purported to do, and that it would seriously damage our farmers without bringing any adequate compensation to any other body of our fellow-citizens. It remains on the statute books in such form that if at any time Canada chose to accept it it would become law. The Progressive proposal is to repeal it, and once for all to put an end to all possible threat of damage which it would bring to our farm people.

"We are for the immediate recreation of the Country Life Commission, the abandonment of which has represented a thoroughly retrograde step by our Government.

"If the Democratic platform on the tariff is sincere, the first step that the Democratic Party would take if it came back to power would be to pass a tariff law which would work the utmost possible damage to the farmer, and yet which would, I firmly believe, do practically nothing whatever for the consumer. In reality, the tariff changes proposed by the Democratic Party, while they would cause utter ruin both to our agricultural and industrial community, would have almost no effect in helping the producer.

"Our proposal, on the contrary, is to help the farmer and at the same time to lower the price of his products to the men who actually consume them. We intend to work for the betterment of conditions of production on our farms, so that the farm shall be made both more fruitful and at the same time more valuable in the future as well as the present. We also intend to work for better business handling by the farmer of his products.

"We in America have much to do in the way of teaching ourselves. * * * Certain of our States, I am happy to say, have already begun to prove experimentally what can be done in co-operative handling and marketing of farm products, as well as in fire insurance, telephone, and even banking organizations. While the cost of living has risen all over the world, it has risen more rapidly here in America than almost anywhere else, and the prime cause, I believe, is to be found in the failure to do what should be done for and by the people who live on the soil. If we choose, I am sure that we can so handle the problem that the farmer will have more profit on the very products that cost the consumer less money."

The Colonel closed with a eulogy of Gov. Johnson, his running mate, of whom he said:

"He is not only fit at this moment to be President; he is fit at this moment to be a great President."

Progressives Expect 15,000 Votes.

When Col. Roosevelt arrived at Bennington this morning he was met by the Rev. Frazer Metzger, candidate of the Bull Moose forces for Governor, and Charles H. Thompson, head of the New England Progressives.

Mr. Thompson doesn't believe much in enthusiastic predictions. He said that machine Republicans were saying the Progressives would not poll more than 7,000 votes.

"It takes a majority of all the votes to elect," said Thompson. "And if we can get 15,000 it will throw the election into the Legislature. We expect to do that."

The Progressives are making Col. Roosevelt the big issue of even the State fight. They assert that the Republicans have practically dropped Taft because of his "unpopularity with the people."

The Progressives are looking for almost their entire support here, it is said, from the more radical Republicans and the younger element, who, although they have voted once or twice, have joined neither organization. The Democrats are showing little interest in the Progressive Party, except as the Progressive Party may help their cause.

LONG ATTACKS THE COLONEL.

Roosevelt's Former Chief Says He Broke Faith with the People.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy under President McKinley, who had as his assistant Theodore Roosevelt up to the time of the war with Spain, has sent a letter to Zion's Herald, by request, entitled "Why I shall vote for Taft."

He charges Roosevelt with breaking faith with the people, seeking self-aggrandizement, and with being a colossal boss. The letter reads, in part:

"I cannot vote for Roosevelt because his election would violate the unwritten, but now practically constitutional principle that no President shall have more than two terms of office.

"I cannot vote for him because, in this respect, he has not kept his word, but has broken faith with the people.

"I cannot vote for him because I regard his treatment of President Taft as unfair, selfish, and violative of the obligations of their mutual relations.

"I cannot vote for him because I believe he is striking at the foundations of our Constitutional Government by his theory of the recall of judicial officers by popular vote, thus making our courts subservient to popular caprice; also by his attack on our representative systems of government and legislation, substituting for it the unrestrained and irresponsible mob rule of Athens.

"I cannot vote for Roosevelt because I believe that, though he may, in his exuberence, be unconscious of it, he is actuated by a spirit of self-aggrandizement and is using his great power of attracting public applause only to obtain his own return to political power. His cry against bosses is wonderfully funny in view of the fact that there is no such colossal boss as himself.

"He preaches effusively the commonplaces of good morals and virtuous conduct, but there is not an item among them in which Taft is not as good, if not a better, example."

MR. KNOX IN HONOLULU.

Secretary Declines to Talk About Roosevelt's Standard Oil Letter.

HONOLULU, Aug. 29.—Secretary Knox refused on his arrival here to-day to make any comment on Theodore Roosevelt and his denial that he had said in the presence of Mr. Knox that letters to George B. Cortelyou were written "to make good the record." The letters in questiton were instructions that any contributions made by the Standard Oil Company to the Republican campaign fund of 1904 must be returned.

"As I have made no statement concerning the correspondence between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Cortelyou on any subject," said Mr. Knox, "and as I have never authorized any one to make any statement for me, you must excuse me from discussing the subject now."

Mr. Knox is voyaging by the cruiser Maryland to the funeral of the Emperor of Japan, which he will attend as a representative of the United States. The Japanese Consul was among those to greet him to-day.

The Maryland will sail for Yokohama at 4 o'clock to-morrow morning. Returning with Secretary Knox immediately after the funeral, the vessel will call here to pick up Secretary Fisher of the Department of the Interior, who is due to arrive here from San Francisco in the meantime.

facts in regard to the political corruption with which they are oppressed.

'Twas Cash for Penrose.

If Senator Penrose stated that the $25,000 sent him by Mr. Archbold was for Mr. Roosevelt and not for himself, he stated what was not true. I have waited several days for Senator Penrose to tell the truth, but he is apparently unwilling to do so, and I am going to tell the truth for him, as I promised to do.

The $25,000 sent Senator Penrose in a secret certificate of deposit by Mr. Archbold was for Senator Penrose's own use in his personal Pennsylvania campaign.

Senator Penrose acknowledged receipt of the $25,000 certificate of deposit and referred specifically to Mr. Archbold's letter of Oct. 13, in which the certificate was inclosed. Furthermore, Senator Penrose signed the acknowledgment as Chairman of the Pennsylvania State Committee, and wrote, in doing so, upon the official stationery of the Pennsylvania State Committee.

Other Standard Oil contributions were solicited and employed by other committees in the campaign of 1904, but this particular certificate of deposit was secured by Senator Penrose for his own use in his own State, and I have the documents to prove this.

If Senator Penrose should tell any further falsehoods, I shall be glad to disprove them, but sufficient for the day is the evil thereof. W. R. HEARST.

GOMPERS REBUKED BY JUDGE

Labor Leader Denied Right to Make Speech in Hatters' Boycott Trial.

Special to The New York Times.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 29.—President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor was rebuked to-day by Judge James L. Martin of Vermont, who is presiding in the famous hatters' boycott trial in the United States court. He declined to permit Mr. Gompers to make a speech after he had answered in the negative a question as to whether or not the American Federation of Labor approved any boycott prior to 1904 against the plaintiff, D. E. Loewe & Co., openshop hat manufacturers of Danbury and Bethel, who in 1909 were awarded $222,000 damages under the boycott prohibition of the Sherman law against Martin Lawlor and 200 other members of the United Hatters of North America, which both Mr. Gompers and Secretary Frank Morrison admit is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

Frank L. Mulholland, the noted labor lawyer of Toledo, Ohio, who is aiding in the defense, was also admonished to-day by Judge Martin. When Mr. Mulholland interrupted the Judge in his remarks he warned the atttorney not to let it occur again. From the testimony of the labor leaders, which was finished this evening, it was brought out that Mr. Gompers was responsible for official editorials published in the official organ, The American Federationist, that the federation adopted resolutions supporting the hatters in their fight with the Loewes, that the federation paid counsel fees and took the case on appeal to the Supreme Court by a two-cent assessment of union members.

Within a day or two Judge Martin will make an important ruling as to whether or not anything but reports of annual conventions of the federation may go before the jury.

The labor leaders differentiate between prosecuting and waging a boycott and approving an application of a local union to conduct a boycott against an enemy of labor. Secretary Morrison testified that the federation still has hopes of having Congress change the Sherman law with reference to boycotts.

Flagship Pennsylvania Renamed.

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 29.—Pennsylvania having been selected by the Navy Department as the name of the new $15,000,000 battleship authorized by Congress, the armored cruiser Pennsylvania, flagship of the Pacific Reserve Fleet at Bremerton, was renamed Pittsburgh yesterday on orders from Washington, D. C.

GAYNOR REFUSES TO SPEAK.

Says He Visited Fair to See the Hogs and Not to Talk.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Aug. 29.—"I am very glad to see you, but I cannot make a speech as I did not come here for that purpose. I came to see the cattle and hogs," said Mayor William J. Gaynor of New York City to a crowd of 15,000 persons at the Orange County Fair in this city this afternoon.

Mayor Gaynor is spending two weeks at the Red Swan Inn at Warwick and motored to this city this afternoon with a party of Warwick friends for the purpose of visiting the fair. The fair officials had learned that he was coming and advertised that he would make an address. This proved very annoying to the Mayor on his arrival at the fair grounds. When it was explained to him that 15,000 persons wished to see and hear him he stepped to the front of the stand and told the crowd that he came as a private citizen and not to make a speech.

Escorted by Mayor R. M. Cox and several officials of the fair, Mayor Gaynor then made his way through the dense crowd to the cattle barns. On his way he was compelled to shake hands with hundreds, and one woman wished him to kiss her baby which she held up. He didn't kiss the youngster, but gave it a fatherly pat on the head. After an hour at the fair the Mayor and his party returned to Warwick.

SENATOR STRICKEN IN WOODS

Doctors Walk Fifteen-Mile Foot Trail to Aid Mr. Stephenson.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 29.—A dispatch from Escanaba, Mich., says United States Senator Isaac Stephenson of Wisconsin was stricken with heart disease in the northern woods. A special train with doctors was sent to his assistance.

Senator Stephenson was on a fishing trip fifty miles north of Escanaba. His camp is fifteen miles from the nearest telegraph station, and no word as to his condition has been received since this morning. There are only foot trails across the fifteen miles from the Stephenson camp to the telegraph station, and the doctors sent to his aid were forced to walk fifteen miles to reach their patient.

SENATOR BORAH NEUTRAL.

Will Not Campaign for Taft or for Roosevelt, Either.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 29.—Senator Borah of Idaho denied emphatically today that he would campaign actively in support of President Taft. He declared that any speeches he proposed to make probably would not be acceptable to the Republican National Committee.

"I said before and after the bolt in Chicago, and I say now, that I am not going to follow the third party movement, but I assert, with equal positiveness, that I am going to advocate Progressive principles, as I have been advocating them for years."

Senator Borah said he would spend his time in Idaho, seeking his own re-election.

WILSON'S INVASION STIRS PENNSYLVANIA

Enthusiastic Crowds Eager to Hear Jersey Governor's Car-End Speeches.

HURT BY BLACKSMITH'S GRIP

Governor Couldn't Use His Hand for a Time—People Have Come Out for Good Government, He Says.

Special to The New York Times.

ON BOARD GOV. WILSON'S SPECIAL TRAIN, en ronts from Harrisburg, Penn., to Sea Girt, N. J., Aug. 29.—If the people of the Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania vote on Election Day as thousands of them, visible from Gov. Wilson's campaigning train, cheered and shouted for him to-day, the New Jersey Executive should figure very prominently in the election returns next November. Gov. Wilson opened his campaign outside of his own State in five speeches, three of which were made from the rear end of a Pullman car, and for most of the day he merely rode from one large assemblage to another. His principal speech, made before 6,000 people at a Grangers' picnic at Williams Grove, in Central Pennsylvania, was an appeal to the Pennsylvanians to cast out the bosses, Republican and Democratic alike, as the people of New Jersey had done.

In all his speeches Gov. Wilson urged his hearers to study his own record in New Jersey and determine from that whether they would like to see the same kind of an Administration in power in the White House.

The Governor told them that the fortifications of the New Jersey bosses, when they were assaulted, turned out to be mere houses of cards which the people had easily pushed over.

One incident of the day came near to having a serious result for Gov. Wilson. A blacksmith at Williams Grove gave such a viselike hand grip to the Governor's right hand that the Governor's face was seamed with lines of pain. When at last the blacksmith eased his grip Gov. Wilson's hand hung limp. He had to stop shaking hands for several minutes while he rubbed his injured fingers. The hand continued to give him great pain for over an hour. The Governor said he felt sure at first that his knuckles had been crushed. He jokingly offered to trade the injured hand, as his train pulled out of Harrisburg, for "most any other hand in Pennsylvania." He said that while he had experienced many kinds of handshakes, he had never felt one to compare with that of the blacksmith of Williams Grove.

Gov. Wilson's invasion of Pennsylvania was made under the auspices of the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee and National Committeeman A. Mitchell Palmer. Enough prominent Democrats of Pennsylvania joined the Governor's party at Philadelphia in the morning to fill a private Pullman car. The party as it started west, took up at once with Gov. Wilson the contention of the Bull Moose candidate that he had the best chance of any of the candidates to carry Pennsylvania, holding that Mr. Taft was out of the running and that Gov. Wilson had little strength in the mining regions. National Committeeman Palmer called Gov. Wilson's attention to the fact that among the prominent Democrats who were accompanying him on his tour there was not a single adherent of the old Guffey machine.

Taft's Strength in Pennsylvania.

"And that shows at once," he declared, "how clean our hands are in this campaign, and just where Roosevelt's claim is fatally defective. Taft is not out of the Pennsylvania race. Of the county Republican organizations sixty-four are fighting for Taft and three for Roosevelt. At the primaries the Taft forces were not awake to Roosevelt's strength, but now they are awake and fighting. All the protected industries are lined up for Taft, and these industries are a big factor in this State. Taft will about break even with Roosevelt in Pennsylvania, and the great bulk of the progressive and independent vote will go to Wilson."

Mr. Palmer's predictions, to which Gov. Wilson listened with much interest, were cut short by the cheering of a crowd at Lancaster.

Gov. Wilson appeared at the rear platform of the Pullman and faced the first car-end audience of his campaign. The people filled all the available space between buildings on both sides of the streets, and soon house windows by the score were crowded with onlookers. The Governor's portrait hung above the roadway and everybody in the crowd carried a "Win With Wilson" banner.

"You know, if it wasn't for the speeches, I'd really like this," remarked the Governor as he looked over the crowd. "The people had no advance notice; it is all so genuinely spontaneous."

"I am more interested in you than you are in me," he told his auditors. "A crowd like this means business: it means that the people have risen. Now, that disturbs some people, and they think the foundations are going to be overthrown, but the people have not risen in an angry mood. They are thinking straight at the Government. They realize that the Government has been drifting away from them and they are going to recapture it."

The crowd expressed its approval in the first big cheer of the day. All along the line, after Lancaster was passed, even where no stops were made, many cross roads were lined with crowds. At Williams Grove the crowd numbered upward of 25,000, most of the people being bedecked with badges showing they were members of the Farmers' Grange.

Windows Smashed to Hear Him.

Gov. Wilson stepped directly from his train into the midst of the multitude. There were no policemen to keep the people back or to escort hiom to the building where he was to have lunch. One automobile had been sent for the entire party of fifty.

Gov. Wilson finally reached the dining room. Many of those accompanying him were so jostled by the throngs that they gave up their attempt in dismay and sought the peanut stands for lunch.

The farmers had arranged to hear Gov. Wilson in the Auditorium, capable of holding four thousand people. They jammed the one small doorway opened for them and smashed the windows, obtaining entrance that way. Gov. Wilson tunnelled his way through the crowd outside and gained the speaker's stand. He was warned that the grange was not in politics and the audience contained many Taft and Roosevelt men, as well as Wilson men.

The Governor took advantage of the situation to poke fun at both the rival candidates.

"I have heard men speak very familiarly in these latter days of Lincoln," he said, "but all the world knows how open the heart of Lincoln was, and how his quiet eyes looked away from the groups of politicians."

"I would like to have the fighting advantage of the Presidency, but having been born of a fighting breed I don't have to have the office to do the fighting. I have enlisted for life, and I don't have to be an officer. I can shoot just as straight as a private. Moreover, I was born of a talkative race, and the only thing necessary in our day is to bring the facts out in the open and talk about them frankly."

At the conclusion of his speech inside the hall, Gov. Wilson was stopped by those outside and forced to make another speech in the open. After thirty minutes of hard work in the crowd he gained his private car on a railroad siding. At Reading, on the way back to Sea Girt, Gov. Wilson encountered a large crowd, who described themselves as "The Dutch."

"America can't be prosperous," he said to them "unless she is happy, and she can't be happy unless her people think the government is dealing justly by them. The American people are just people. The only time they are dangerous is when you shut them out of the game. Then they are going to break in."

While in Pennsylvania the Governor's train covered 217 miles.

In the course of his speech at Williams Grove, Gov. Wilson said:

Gov. Wilson's Speech.

"It is strange that we should have put off so long looking into our Government to see whether it is in fact run according to the rules we originally laid down for it, but it is certain that we are now looking into it very sharply, indeed, and without the least danger that we shall be deceived again as to its character. Our idea of it has been from the first that it was a genuine partnership, and that all were upon one footing and were to share alike.

"But a very interesting thing has come to light. That is not in fact the way the Government has been administered in our time. It has been in the hands of self-constituted trustees, and the partners have seldom been allowed a real governing voice in its administration.

"We had supposed that we were conducting the National business along the lines laid down by Jefferson, but we find that, as a matter of fact, we have been conducting it along the lines laid down by Hamilton. Hamilton believed that the common run of men had little qualification for such business; that it could be really comprehended and wisely directed only by those who led in commercial and industrial enterprises and owned the chief bodies of property in the country. And in our time the leaders of the Republican Party have consciously or unconsciously adopted his notion.

"These men financed party campaigns and were always on the inside when party policy was to be determined. Tariff schedules, the foreign policy of the country, the chief expenditures of the Government—everything went as they suggested; while the rank and file of us fared as we might, and were happy if we had any small share in the prosperity which they organized for themselves.

"They were the trustees, we were their wards, and took part in the common life as they planned and directed. What went on in the trustee meetings we were very seldom allowed to learn—learned, indeed, only by impertinent inquiry, only by Congressional investigations or trials in court, which the trustees complained sadly interfered with the regular course of business.

"We have not yet got to the end of the inquiry, but we have found out enough now to make it certain that we shall change the whole method and spirit of conducting our Government. We shall insist upon being actual partners again, upon knowing how our own business is being conducted and in whose interest, upon maintaining a system of law which will put all classes upon an equality of privilege. It is a big enterprise, but it becomes more and more easy as we comprehend just what it involves. We were confused for a little while, but now we know what we are about.

"Mr. Roosevelt has proclaimed himself a convert to the protective policy—I say a convert because he at one time very frankly avowed a different opinion—and has said that, while he admitted that, no doubt, some duties were too high and ought to be lowered, on the whole the policy pursued by Republican Administrations had been the right one; and he thought the 'prize money' which had been received under that system by the manufacturers of the country was legitimate booty.

"The analogy is a very interesting one. Prize money is generally acquired by capture and not by any process of earning, but Mr. Roosevelt is always frank and says that his only objection to the system is that too much of the prize money remains in the hands of the officers and too little of it is distributed to the crew. His own object he avows to be to see to it that more of the prize money gets into the pay envelopes of those whom the freebooters employ. The interesting point I wish to raise now is who supplies the plunder? From whom is the prize money taken? I suspect that a vast proportion of it comes out of the pockets of the farmer, unwillingly enough no doubt, but inevitably, for I see in him that great helpless class, the unbenefited 'consumer.'

"This great inequity involves a great shame upon us and an enormous disadvantage to the Nation, for the farmer surely is one of the fundamental, original partners of every government. It is a significant thing that the petition, 'Give us this day our daily bread' comes first among the petitions of the Lord's Prayer. All spiritual requests come after it. We cannot conceive our best interests or follow our best instincts until we are fed, until our stomachs are filled, and it would be natural to suppose that in every well-ordered government the farmer would at least have equal consideration with everybody else in political policy.

Democrats Old-Fashioned.

"But the trustees of our Government have not looked upon it so. The present Democratic Congress had the old-fashioned idea of government. They supposed that its benefits and protections were to be distributed and equally shared. It introduced and passed a bill which became known as the Farmers' Free List bill. That bill put many indispensable things on the free list. Most prominent among them were agricultural implements, because the American farmer pays more for his agricultural implements than any other farmer in the world. The American manufacturers who make agricultural implements sell them much cheaper on the other side of the water. On the other side they undersell the local manufacturers of agricultural implements, and prove by their eagerness for the foreign business and their rapid expansion of it that they can afford to do so even with the additional cost of the ocean freight. It was a very natural act on the part of the Democratic Congress, therefore, to put agricultural implements on the free list, to put fence wire also on the free list, and the bagging and ties which the Southern farmer needs and uses for his cotton. It added lumber and laths and shingles and leather and shoes and salt and meats, thinking not of the farmer alone, but of all of us who are struggling to live and pay our bills. But such changes did not comport with the ideas and plans of the trustees, and the President vetoed the free list. I dare say he was right from his point of view, for he represented the trustees and not the people."

SENATOR CLAPP PICKS JURY FOR ROOSEVELT

Tells Times Reporter to Ask Any Six Men for Verdict on Archbold's Charges.

WHAT THE FIRST SIX SAID

Two Thought the Testimony Would Hurt His Chances, Four Said It Would Make Him More Popular.

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, Chairman of the Senate committee investigating the campaign contributions during the Presidential campaign of 1904, left this city yesterday morning for Vermont, where he will make several Bull Moose speeches between now and election.

Senator Clapp arrived from Washington on Wednesday night. At the Hotel Manhattan he met members of the National Progressive Committee, who took him to the Harvard Club, where he spent some time with Col. Roosevelt. It was rumored that Senator Clapp read over the letter which Col. Roosevelt will send the Senate investigating committee in regard to the testimony of John D. Archbold that the Standard Oil Company contributed $150,000 to Col. Roosevelt's campaign in 1904. Senator Clapp denied this.

"I had no time to talk business with Col. Roosevelt," he said. "I only had a few minutes to talk with him before he caught his train, and the investigation at Washington was not mentioned. I didn't come here for a conference with Roosevelt. I was on my way to fight for him in Vermont, but it was only through accident that I learned he was here and met him at the Harvard Club. I don't remember what we said to each other, and I wouldn't tell if I did. Can't two old friends inquire as to each other's health without giving the public all the particulars?

"The committee won't meet again before the end of September," continued the Senator. "We will certainly call Col. Roosevelt if he wants to testify. We will hear anybody who wants to appear there."

Senator Clapp was somewhat excited when THE TIMES reporter called on him after midnight at the Hotel Manhattan. He had just learned from a bellboy that he could not have his suit pressed before 7 o'clock in the morning.

"I've been confined at Washington for a long time, you must remember," he said. "The only time I got away was during the conventions. If there is one spot in this country where a man can be kept in densest ignorance of what is going on in the Nation, that spot is Washington. Most of the people there think they have inside knowledge of everything that is going on, but, as a matter of fact, they know less about it than the people in any backwoods community.

"I have to go back to the events of this Spring, when I was in better touch with current events, to form my judgment. I know that when Col. Roosevelt announced that he was a candidate very few people thought he had a chance. He surprised people then. He carried nearly every State where there was a Presidential primary. If the voters had had more time to become familiar with the primary, he might have carried every primary State.

"My general opinion is that there is going to be a still greater surprise this Fall."

Then the Senator was asked whether he thought Archbold's testimony had hurt Roosevelt.

"On account of my position I don't care to answer that question," he said. "You go and ask the first six men you meet whether Mr. Archbold's testimony hurt Roosevelt or not."

This THE TIMES reporter did. These are the opinions he got:

"No," said the first man, "I don't think Archbold's testimony injured Roosevelt. Roosevelt injured himself by his own statement, however. It was entirely too thin. When he said that the Standard Oil might have given the money, but, if so, it was without his knowledge, he hurt himself. No one who read his statement can believe he is telling the truth."

"Roosevelt cannot be hurt with his own supporters," said the second man. "His word has been questioned too often and so many charges have been made against him that one or two fresh attacks on him make little difference one way or the other. Those who are for Roosevelt can't be changed."

"Archbold's testimony only makes T. R. more popular," said No. 3, who was wearing a Bull Moose pin and watching a baseball score board. "This new charge is plainly a frame-up. It simply shows how big business hates him."

"Archbold's testimony was a hard blow to Roosevelt's chances," said the fourth to whom the question was put. "There are millions of doubtful voters to-day. The Standard Oil contribution, like the Harriman fund scandal, shows Roosevelt's low standard of honor, and will cause many people to decide that he is not the one to lead the Progressive fight."

"The more stir there is the better are Roosevelt's chances," said the fifth. "If he is elected the credit will be due his enemies. The attacks on him make him the centre of the stage. Archbold and Penrose are managing a whirlwind campaign for him."

"Archbold's testimony won't have much to do with the result," said the last. "He hasn't furnished any proof yet. Until he does Roosevelt's word is as good as his. There is no living man with a history so well known as Roosevelt's, and most people made up their minds long ago either that he was a faker or that he was a saint. It will take a good deal to change either opinion."

REJECTS MORE NOMINATIONS.

Secretary Lazansky Refuses to File Late Designations.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Secretary of State Lazansky has refused to accept for filing, under an opinion from Attorney General Carmody, nineteen additional designations of candidates for Congressional and Senatorial nominations, making a total of twenty-three rejected. These certificates were received through the mails after the time fixed by law, which was midnight last Tuesday. The Attorney General holds that court orders must be obtained before the designations can be accepted.

The certificates returned were for the following districts: Socialist Party—For Congress, Twenty-fifth, Twenty-seventh and Thirty-sixth Districts; for Senator, Twenty-third, Twenty-seventh, Thirtieth, Thirty-third, Fortieth and Forty-first. Prohibition Party—For Congress, Twenty-sixth, Thirty-fourth and Fortieth; for Senator, Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth and Forty-second. Independence League—For Congress, First and Twenty-sixth; for Senator, Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth.

Attorney General Carmody has handed down another opinion in which he holds that certificates designating independent candidates must be filed not later than midnight Saturday.

WOMEN CAMPAIGNERS ANGRY.

Their Bull Moose Meeting on a Side Street Instead of City Hall.

The women of the Bull Moose Party, State Division, held their second midday meeting at Worth and Lafayette Streets yesterday, with very much less ostentation than when they planned to hold it on the City Hall steps. They were perfectly certain they could have the steps, so they announced the meeting, and then the powers that be said "No."

A letter from Park Commissioner Stover received yesterday morning said that he had no authority over the City Hall Park, and he knew several gospel societies had asked to speak there and the request had been refused.

Miss Mary Donnelly, who arranges the Bull Moose meetings, then made the pavements hot in a rush to Police Headquarters.

"That part of the city is too congested for a political meeting," said the Chief Inspector, and granted the women a place at Worth and Lafayette Streets.

It was a hot, noisy corner by the Subway station, not big enough to hold a big crowd, and there wasn't one. Several proposed men speakers didn't come, but Alfred E. Smith, Mayor of Bronxville, running for Congress on the Progressive Party ticket in the Twenty-fourth Congressional District, made an enthusiastic speech. Miss Donnelly presided; Miss Alice Carpenter, Miss Clara Morrison, and Miss Anne Rhodes spoke.

Mrs. Alice Snitjer Burke, wearing a pretty rose-trimmed hat, and Miss Aimée Hutchinson, the young woman who lost her parochial school position because of her suffrage sentiments, were among those who gave out literature. An English suffragette, wearing a prison badge, came, she said, to be converted; but they pressed her into the distributing squad and she didn't have a chance to hear the speeches. There were 116 slips of allegiance to the Roosevelt party signed, and as many men were rewarded with Bull Moose buttons. "The City Hall authorities are not interested in noonday meetings. They only care about night meetings—graft," said Miss Donnelly, and the crowd indicated approval.

WOMEN DELEGATES ACCEPT.

Bull Moosers Have Heard from Them from 18 Counties.

Of the 100 women delegates who have been appointed to the State Bull Moose Convention, eighteen counties have already been heard from where the women have promised to attend, it was announced at headquarters yesterday. Many women who are joining in the new party's work are those who have been indifferent, and some of them antagonistic, to woman suffrage, but they are gradually adopting the Bull Moose views, it is said.

WILSON FOR CIVIC CENTRES.

Mrs. Harriman Appeals to Women Everywhere to Join.

Mrs. Borden Harriman had a special talk over the telephone yesterday with Gov. Wilson, having called him up to ask if he was still interested in civic centres, for which he spoke at the first National Conference on Civic and Social Centre Development last year at Madison, Wis. Upon the Governor's answering in the affirmative Mrs. Harriman issued a statement of her party's belief in the value of the centres and asking all women of the country to work for them.

"Gov. Wilson," quotes Mrs. Harriman, "says that if the citizens are to be the governing body of the country they must have common council chambers as Aldermen have, deliberative headquarters as members of Congress have, and the school houses used under proper supervision, he said, would fill this need. There men and women can meet together on common ground for the examination of public questions, and together work out the common problem of making America make good." She then appeals to the women in every town and city in the country to "secure this benefit." The way to work, she says, is by agitating the question.

Suffrage Talks in Vaudeville Near.

The Men's League for Equal Suffrage will have Tuesday, Sept. 10, for its day in the suffrage vaudeville week at Hammerstein's Roof Garden, and Max Eastman will analyze the positions taken by the three Presidential candidates on the "Votes for Women" question. The New York Woman Suffrage Association will take the afternoon and evening of Sept. 14, and sandwiched in between vaudeville acts Mrs. Marie Jennie Howe will give her original anti-suffrage monologue, answered by Mrs. Arthur Livermore, and the audience will choose the victor.

CLARK FORETELLS A VICTORY.

Speaker of the House Makes First of Three Addresses in Maine.

ROCKLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—Speaker Clark of the National House of Representatives delivered here to-night the first of three speeches which he will make in the Democratic State campaign. Mr. Clark confined his remarks to the tariff. He will speak at Bar Harbor and Ellsworth to-morrow.

"Maine went hell-bent for Gov. Kent," quoted Mr. Clark, in forecasting a Democratic sweep in both houses of Congress and in the White House. After paying a tribute to Wilson and Marshall, the Speaker argued for a tariff for revenue only. He said in part:

"Democratic prospects have not been so bright since 1892. The reason they are brighter—that the Democrats have almost a certainty of winning in November—is on account of the magnificent record made by the Democrats of the House in the Sixty-first Congress plus the magnificent record of the Democrats in the House and Senate of the Sixty-second Congress.

"The House was elected on six principal promises: To pass a bill compelling the publication of campaign expenses, both before and after the election; to submit a Constitutional amendment for the election of United States Senators by the people; to economize; to liberalize the rules of the House; to admit New Mexico and Arizona as two States; to reduce the tariff.

"The Democrats have kept every one of these promises, as far as was in their power. It is true that President Taft vetoed our tariff bills, as under the Constitution he had a right to do, but that does not change the fact that we kept the faith with the people, and having kept faith with the people is the reason we will carry the elections this Fall and elect a Democratic House, Senate and President."

WILL OPEN A TARIFF CHAMBER OF HORRORS

Democratic National Committee Will Show the Actual Goods Sold Cheaper Abroad.

A TEXAS WOMAN'S IDEA

Will Have Everything from Common Needles to Mr. Perkins's Harvesting Machines.

A "Chamber of Horrors" to impress upon the voters by tangible exhibits more forcibly than oratory could the iniquities and the inequalities of the high protective tariff will be opened in this city within a few days under the auspices of the Democratic National Committee. This novel adjunct in the Wilson campaign will be conducted under the supervision of a committee appointed yesterday of which Abram I. Elkus and Congressman William C. Redfield are the heads. Mr. Elkus is Chairman and Congressman Redfield Vice Chairman.

The idea is not altogether new, but it has never before been applied in a National campaign. It was used to great advantage by the Committee of One Hundred in the municipal campaign three years ago to illustrate the results to taxpayers and residents of this city generally of Tammany misrule. So effective did this exhibition prove that Tammany soon found it necessary to establish a counter attraction along similar lines in order to get its case before the voters. Then there have been in this city exhibits to illustrate the workings of the budget, the evils of congestion in the tenements and the annual municipal budget exhibition under the auspices of the Board of Estimate.

"We shall have on exhibit a fine line of household utensils and articles of apparel and other necessities of life of all sorts, all made right here in the United States," explained Mr. Elkus last night. "There will be price tags showing how much the American householder has to pay for these articles under what Mr. Taft described as the best of tariffs, and at what price the householder in foreign countries, such as Germany, Canada, and China, can secure these same American made goods. We believe the difference in cost when thus illustrated will astound the consumer. It will prove to him that he is being robbed on an enormous scale by this extraordinary system of high tariff prices.

"We hope that every man and woman in New York, rich or poor, will drop in at the exhibit and learn. We shall exhibit everything from needles to harvesting machines—made by our friend Mr. Perkins's Harvester Trust—and each will point a moral and be adorned with a most entertaining tale. Cartoons and pictures will serve to supplement the sober facts. Noonday meetings with short tariff talks will be held in connection with the exhibit.

"We are already securing materials from foreign countries and hope to be ready for opening early in September. The exhibit will be located at some central point readily accessible from all parts of the city. We hope to extend the work to other large cities and to have traveling exhibits to reach the farmer."

It was said yesterday that the idea originated with the wife of Congressman James L. Slayden of Texas. With her husband she was on a brief visit to Mexico. In going through the shops of the City of Mexico she noticed an American sewing machine of standard make selling 40 per cent. cheaper than one she had just purchased at San Antonio, Texas.

"I should like to exhibit that machine to the wives of some of your high protectionist colleagues," said Mrs. Slayden to her husband. "Every one of them would be just as indignant as I am."

Congressman Redfield, himself a manufacturer, made a trip around the world, after he had been elected to the House of Representatives, with a view of studying foreign markets and thoroughly preparing himself for the work of fighting the tariff evil in the lawmaking body at Washington. Other members appointed on the "Chamber of Horrors" Committee are Congressman Oscar W. Underwood, Calvin Tomkins, Charles R. Crane of Chicago, Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco, Senator Gore of Oklahoma, Congressman Slayden of Texas, and Lynden Evans.

Benjamin C. Marsh, Secretary of the Tariff Reform Committee of the Reform Club, will be the manager.

SPREAD WILSON CAMPAIGN.

League of Independents Working Among Voters of Foreign Birth.

Active work to further the campaign and the interests of Woodrow Wilson among voters of foreign birth in this city is included in the work of the Wilson League of Independent Voters of which Nathan Straus is Honorary President. The league is composed of nearly as many Republicans as Democrats.

The city has been divided into five zones and headquarters opened in each, with a central bureau at the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee in the Fifth Avenue Building. The east side headquarters is in charge of Abraham L. Spiro, and when it organized for work at a meeting in Clinton Hall on Wednesday night 500 voters enrolled under the league's Wilson banner. David Robinson is in charge of the Harlem division, Reuben J. Wittstein in Williamsburg, Frank Corrao in Williamsburg, and Samuel J. Cohen in the Eastern District of Brooklyn.

Among those who have joined the league are Abram I. Elkus, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Rabbi L. B. Michaelson, Deputy Attorney Generals Henry Stanley Renaud and Joseph Edelstein, John W. Bogart, Herman Bernstein, Antonio Zucca, Morris Cukor, Magistrates Freschi and Geismar, Judge Leonard A. Snitkin, Benjamin Hoffman, and Leon Sanders, and Drs. Herbert Friedenwald and Solomon Goldenkranz.

MARSHALL ENDS MAINE TRIP.

Democratic Vice Presidential Nominee Urges Plaisted's Election.

LEWISTON, Me., Aug. 29. — Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana, Democratic nominee for the Vice Presidency, concluded his four day speaking tour of Maine in the interests of Gov. F. W. Plaisted, and the Democratic State ticket with an address here to-night.

Discussing the trusts from what he called the "humanitarian" point of view, Gov. Marshall said in part:

"The greatest objection to the trust is that it closes the door of opportunity on the young man. To this statement, the answer is made that there are $10,000, $20,000 and $30,000 jobs awaiting men of these grades and I suspect this statement is true, but what of it?

"Suppose I could make $10,000 a year as the manager of a trust, but suppose my happiness would be promoted my managing a little business of my own out of which I might not even make $3,000. And suppose—what is true—that I should be prevented by the trusts from running my little business and should be broken up if I tried to run it. Have I not then been deprived of the one thing in life that this republic ought to give a man—his chance to be happy?

"If this continues there will be great captains of finance and industry who will wade through slaughter to a throne and shut the gates of mercy on mankind. They will take the young man of to-day and crush out every little bit of personal ambition which these young men may have, and make them only cogs in a great industrial system, and our boasted democracy where men were free will cease to exist save in name.

"Too long have we contemplated great riches as the source of happiness. Contentment is the great thing for a people and no people can be content whose men may not engage in any business that they may choose, which is not immoral in its character, and many a man is happier in the failure of his own plans than he would be in the success of a system."

BANKS TAKE CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

McAdoo's Suggestion Followed in New England, but Not Here.

About fifty banks, mostly in the New England States, have sent favorable replies to the suggestion of William G. McAdoo, Acting Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, that they receive and forward campaign contributions to the headquarters of all the political parties. Among the banks that have promised to aid not a single one is in this city. Here is the list made public yesterday at Democratic National Headquarters, with bank, town, and State:

Savings Bank, New London, Conn.
Security Company, Hartford, Conn.
Manufacturers' National Bank, Waterbury, Conn.
Hartford National Bank, Hartford, Conn.
Riverside Trust Company, Hartford, Conn.
First National Bank, Wallingford, Conn.
Equitable Guarantee and Trust Company, Wilmington, Del.
International Trust Company, Boston, Mass.
Foxboro National Bank, Foxboro, Mass.
Gardiner Savings Institute, Gardiner, Me.
Holyoke National Bank, Holyoke, Mass.
Second National Bank, Phillipsburg, N. J.
First National Bank, Jersey City, N. J.
First National Bank, Oswego, N. Y.
First National Bank, Hudson, N. Y.
People's Bank, Johnstown, N. Y.
E. A. Dunham & Co., Montour Falls, N. Y.
Penn Valley Banking Company, Centre Hall, N. Y.
Second National Bank, Oswego, N. Y.
National Exchange Bank, Lockport, N. Y.
First National Bank, Manchester, N. H.
The Strafford National Bank, Dover, N. H.
Merrine National Bank, Pittsburgh, Penn.
First National Bank, Danville, Penn.
Ashland National Bank, Ashland, Penn.
First National Bank, Milton, Penn.
South Bethlehem National Bank, South Bethlehem, Penn.
Kutztown National Bank, Kutztown, Penn.
Farmers' National Bank, Millheim, Penn.
Farmers' National Bank, Montrose, Penn.
Aquidneck National Bank, Newport, R. I.
Clement National Bank, Rockland, Vt.
Bennington County National Bank, Bennington, Vt.
Esmont National Bank, Esmont, Va.
National Exchange Bank, Lynchburg, Va.
Virginia Trust Company, Richmond, Va.
Merchants' National Bank, Richmond, Va.
Colonial State Bank, Newport News, Va.
Lynchburg National Bank, Lynchburg, Va.
People's National Bank, Lynchburg, Va.
First National Bank, Richmond, Va.
Stapleton National Bank, St. George, S. I.

About 30,000 letters were sent out to banks and trust companies with the McAdoo suggestion. Only one bank so far has sent a reply refusing to serve. This is the National Bank of Commerce of Boston. In the note of refusal the writer asked the authorities at Democratic National Headquarters to make emphatic and broadcast publication of the fact that his institution had declined to lend itself to "such an improper" scheme as the one suggested by Chairman McAdoo.

"There is nothing improper about it," said Mr. McAdoo. "Instead, the banks that have consented to accept campaign contributions are performing a conspicuous service to the country in making it easier to collect popular contributions. I believe that as we go along, through legislation and through popular demand, political campaigns will be financed very largely with small subscriptions and at a great deal less expense than they are at present."

FLINN DROPS MOOSE PLEDGE.

Abandons Policy to Force Support from Congressional Nominees.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—William Flinn has abandoned the policy, enunciated at Chicago, to force a Progressive pledge from Republican Congressional nominees who seek the Washington Party support. State Chairman Henry G. Wason, at a meeting of Republican Congressional nominees at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel to-day, made this announcement.

As the Progressive leader, Mr. Wason told the Republicans that Mr. Flinn would exert his influence to have the regular Republicans named by the Washington Party, and he had no thought of forcing compliance with the resolutions demanding support of the Progressive platform and support of Roosevelt in the event of the Presidential election being thrown into the House.

The announcement was received with much gratification by some of the assembled candidates, who had previously declared that under no circumstances would they agree to the resolutions, even though the opposition from the Roosevelt forces meant defeat. Representative J. Hampton Moore was one who made such a declaration. The desire of Flinn to get the Republican Congressional candidates on the Washington Party ticket was explained to be due to the changed plans of Flinn and his faction. The fight in Pennsylvania is no longer one to elect Roosevelt Electors, but to elect R. K. Young and A. W. Powell, the Flinn Republican candidates for State Treasurer and Auditor General, and thereby capture the Republican State machinery and control of the Legislature. Flinn is now declared to be most zealous to forestall the formation of a new State ticket and a Taft electoral ticket.

Sixteen Republican Congressional nominees, including three Congressmen-at-Large, named by the Flinn State Convention, attended the meeting.

BALLOTS FOR BLEASE EXCEEDED VOTERS

Votes in South Carolina Primary for Governor 30,000 Above the Record, Is Charged.

VINDICATED, SAYS BLEASE

Won the Greatest Victory Over Newspaper Corporations and Political Tricksters, He Tells The Times.

What Blease Thinks Of It.

In reply to a message asking for his views upon his victory in the South Carolina primaries, Gov. Blease sent the following last night:

By Telegraph to the Editor of The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 29.—I have won the greatest victory over newspaper corporations and political tricksters ever known to the world. It is a clear vindication of my past life and my actions as legislator and Governor. The people of my State are behind me. They know I have been the most belied man that has ever gone into a political contest. The outside world should now be convinced that the newspapers of South Carolina are the greatest set of liars on earth.

COLE L. BLEASE.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 29.—Allegations that more ballots were cast for Governor in Tuesday's Democratic State primary than there were voters in the State have been made to Chairman Gary Evans of the State Executive Committee, and the belief is prevalent to-day that there will be an official recount of the Gubernatorial vote as soon as the Executive Committee can make an investigation. The vote exceeds the record by 30,000.

It is estimated that fully 20,000 more votes were cast for Governor than in any of the other contests. According to returns from Anderson County alone, 4,000 more votes were polled for Governor than for other State officers. Some of the county Executive Committees have not waited for the State Committee to take action, and have ordered investigations and a recount. There are rumors of contests from all over the State.

The Democratic State Executive Committee probably will be called upon to pass upon the legality of the ballots cast.

A heavy vote for Governor has called forth much comment and there have been frequent charges of irregularities. The vote for Governor stands, with five boxes misssing: Blease, 71,525; Jones, 66,460; Duncan, 2,385.

The total vote of 138,500 breaks all records.

United States Senator Benjamin R. Tillman has been renominated by a vote of approximately two to one over his opponents.

MUSSELMAN NOMINATED.

Republicans Select Him to Run for Governor of Michigan.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 29.—With four counties yet to be heard from the result of yesterday's State-wide primary shows Amos Musselman of Grand Rapids to be the Republican candidate for Governor with a majority of 2,018 over his opponent, Secretary of State Frederick C. Martindale. Musselman's votes total 74,307, against 72,289 for Martindale.

The last doubtful Congressional contest to be settled was the one between Representative George A. Loud and Frank Buell in the Tenth. Late returns to-day have given Loud a majority of 482, and his victory is generally conceded.

THE TIMES'S DAILY CABLE DISPATCHES

10,000 SEE BOOTH'S BODY LAID AT REST

Enormous Crowds Watch the Procession Through London to Abney Park Cemetery.

CORTEGE OVER A MILE LONG

Acting Lord Mayor Salutes Body as It Passes Mansion House—Impressive Service at Grave.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Not even the royal funerals which London witnessed in recent years filled the streets with greater crowds than gathered to-day on the route of the slow and solemn procession through the City to Abney Park Cemetery, where Gen. Booth was laid at rest.

The funeral procession was over a mile long and took upward of an hour to pass the Mansion House, where the acting Lord Mayor saluted the body. Throughout the whole five miles of the route vast masses of people lined the streets, silent and bare-headed. Forty bands accompanied the cortège, which included delegates from the United States and Canada, India, and practically all the countries of Europe.

The coffin was carried in an open hearse drawn by chestnut horses. At each corner of the hearse was a Salvation Army flag, and two "Blood and Fire" flags draped the plain oak coffin, on which lay Gen. Booth's cap and Bible.

Ten thousand tickets were issued for admission to the cemetery.

The papers call attention to the extraordinary phenomenon presented by the funeral. The Times says the only comparable occasion in this country in modern times was the burial in 1874 of David Livingstone, "who, like Booth, was a man of no worldly position, and who won the universal respect of mankind by devoting his life to the service of his fellows."

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The body of Gen. Booth was laid to-day beside that of Catherine Booth, his wife, in the old Abney Park Cemetery, in the heart of the East End, where Gen. Booth began his great work, amid signs of deep respect from men and women of all classes. Representatives of reigning houses and of Presidents of republics, including the United States, joined in the tribute round the grave with many thousands from the masses whom the founder of the Salvation Army had tried to uplift. Delegates of legislative bodies, civic corporations, the army and the navy, business men, workmen who had sacrificed their day's wages, weeping women and children, of whom the General was a true friend, marched shoulder to shoulder in the great procession which followed the body to its last simple resting place.

A great gathering of members of the Salvation Army assembled from all parts of the United Kingdom and from many foreign countries in the vicinity of the Salvation Army Headquarters, in the middle of the City of London, five miles from the cemetery, at an early hour in the morning. Rain poured down from daybreak, but when the procession had been marshaled and was about to start the skies cleared. The thousands of members of the Army and others who had stood for long hours in the rain were undismayed by the long march before them to the cemetery.

The coffin was borne from the great doorway of the headquarters to the hearse, which was decorated only with dry palms placed over the "Blood and Fire" banner draping the casket. The celebrated battle flag which the General planted on Calvary was placed at the head of the coffin, and as this was done the flags of the foreign deputations and of the English Provincial Corps were dipped in salute.

At the same time the vast crowd reverently uncovered their heads. Then the General's campaign cap and favorite Bible were lifted on to the platform of the funeral car.

The scene was a most impressive one as the delegates from the provinces and abroad, stepping slowly to the solemn strains of the "Dead March in Saul," marched past the funeral car and came to the full salute as they stepped by the coffin. A guard of honor, composed of the chief local and foreign officers of the Salvation Army, stood at attention round the hearse. Each corps was preceded by a group of battle flags. As the strains of music from each of the forty bands died away after it had passed the coffin another band took up the melody.

Many of those present, especially the women, wept as they saluted their dead leader. Numbers of those in the procession were not in uniform, but bore white sleeve bands with a red cross, and there was a striking absence of the usual trappings of mourning.

Before the hearse when the procession started was a carriage filled with splendid floral tokens sent by dignitaries and distinguished friends of the late General. Immediately after the hearse a selected bodyguard of staff officers of the Salvation Army swung into line, preceding the mourners of the family, who were led by Gen. and Mrs. Bramwell Booth. Then came forty-eight brigades of members of the Army, and these were followed by a rear guard composed of officers from the international headquarters and the emigration staff.

Most fittingly, the procession marched through a portion of that section of the city where the work of the Salvation Army is best known, and there, in front of the houses, stood many poor women and children who had at one time or another received benefit from the Army's operations.

No one could estimate the number of those who had assembled everywhere to witness the passing of the procession. All the streets and the windows along the march were crowded, and even the housetops were jammed with silent throngs. Flags along the route drooped, rain-soaked, at half-mast, and many of the business houses were closed.

A short distance from the starting point in Queen Victoria Street, the coffin passed the Mansion House, the Bank of England, and the Stock Exchange. As Gen. Booth had been an honorary freeman of the City of London, the acting Lord Mayor appeared on the balcony of the Mansion House and saluted the coffin as it went by.

The procession took three hours to traverse the five miles from the starting point to the cemetery gates. The crowds became more dense as the approach to the cemetery was reached.

Beside the grave was erected a platform, on which the members of Gen. Booth's family, the Mayors of Stoke-Newington and Hackney, and the leaders of the Army took their places as the coffin was borne in.

All the housetops in the neighborhood were crowded with spectators. The flags floating from the many surrounding factories were half-masted.

The service was a very simple one. Several hymns were sung and addresses delivered before the actual interment. Among them were speeches by Lieut. Col. Damon, representing the Salvation Army in America, and Miss Eva Booth, Commander of the Army in the United States, who arrived early this morning after her journey across the Atlantic, as well as Gen. Bramwell Booth and Commissioner Cox. All uttered fervent words. The late General's youngest granddaughter sang a solo and Commissioner Carleton read the passage of Scripture used in the Church of England burial service.

Then, while the notes of the hymn "Servant of God, Well Done" were borne aloft and taken up by thousands of voices, both within and without the inclosure, the coffin was lowered into the grave beside that of Mrs. Booth.

Gen. Bramwell Booth read the Salvation Army's brief commitment service, beginning, "As it has pleased Almighty God to promote our beloved General, William Booth, from his place and position in the Salvation Army to the mansion prepared for him above, we now commit his body to this grave, in the sure and certain hope of seeing him again on resurrection morn." He continued:

"God bless and comfort all the bereaved ones! God help us who are left to be faithful unto death! God bless the Salvation Army!"

The concluding sentences were followed by the swelling notes of the Salvation Army song, "To the Front, the Cry is Ringing! To the Front, Your Place is There!"

As Bramwell Booth was approaching the grave Herbert Booth, dressed in civilian clothes, stepped forward and kissed the new General on the cheek. Mrs. Catherine Booth Clibborn, the late General's eldest daughter, who for years had been estranged from the Army, with her husband and their twelve children sat among the mourners.

Miss Eva Booth broke down with grief and fatigue. Mrs. Booth Hellberg begged the audience to excuse her sister from speaking, but the Army was anxious to hear the American leader, and she came forward, Bramwell Booth and Mrs. Hellberg supporting her. Miss Booth said:

"I am worn out with travel and with grief, but I must deliver my message from the Army across the water. My beloved father never lost the hold which he established there so long ago, and we feel his loss as keenly as the English corps. He looked forward with so much joy to the visit which he had planned to make to America this year. But God is with us, and the work will go on."

With the exclamation "Oh, my beloved father!" Miss Booth broke down and was assisted to her seat.

Worn out by the march, many Salvationists were ready to drop when they reached the cemetery. While the ceremony was going on the space in front of the platform began to resemble a battlefield, with fainting soldiers dropping on all sides. White uniformed nurses of the Army ambulance corps treated more than a hundred cases. Some of the sufferers were in a serious condition, and one was removed from among the crowd on the funeral car.

Though one-third of the programme was omitted, the service occupied two hours. It was discovered that a special permit was necessary for a continuance of the ceremony, as burials after 4 o'clock are prohibited. The presence of the Mayor of Stoke-Newington, who granted the permit, solved the difficulty.

At a great "Holiness" meeting held in Congress Hall, Clapton, to-night, the call to penitents to come to the platform was obeyed with dramatic celerity. In the course of the service Commissioner McKie paid an eloquent tribute to the new General of the army.

BOOTH'S ESTATE VERY SMALL.

All Army Properties Are Vested in His Successor as General.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A summary of the will left by the late Gen. Booth was made public to-day. All the properties held by him as General of the Salvation Army, and all like public trusts, both real and personal, including copyrights, are vested in his successor as General, for the time being, of the Salvation Army, to be held by him "upon trusts affecting same."

By a codicil his small private property, having a net value of £487 19s., (approximately $2,440,) he gives to the Salvation Army, with the exception of certain private papers and memoranda which are given to his eldest son, Bramwell, and a few articles chosen by himself, which are given as mementos to each of his children and his children-in-law.

Another codicil deals with property estimated to value £5,295, ($26,475,) representing moneys settled on him many years ago by the late Henry Reed for private use. It was this provision which enabled him to draw no stipend or remuneration of any kind from the funds of the army. This property is divided among his children, Bramwell, Catherine, Marian, Herbert, Eva, and Lucy. His successor, Bramwell Booth, is appointed executor of the will.

GRAHAME-WHITES' MISHAPS.

Yacht Rescues Them from Hydroplane and Then Runs on a Shoal.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A double accident occurred to Claude Grahame-White, the aviator, and his wife while flying last night from Southend-on-Sea to Clacton, on the east coast.

A defect in the motor of their hydroaeroplane compelled them to descend to the surface of the water at Burnham. The machine was sighted and taken in tow by a yacht, and Mr. and Mrs. Grahame-White were rescued and brought on board the vessel.

Soon afterward the yacht went ashore on a shoal and could not be got off until this morning.

GIBSON CHALLENGED BY A CUBAN EDITOR

American Charge Called 'Coward' and Grossly Insulted in Front Page Denunciation.

DUBBED INSECT AND NO MAN

Diplomat Is Told He Dare Not Fight and Denounced for His Course Toward the Government.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Aug. 29.—Siglo, a daily paper, of which Gen. Machado, recently a member of the Gomez Cabinet, is the largest owner, printed a two-column box on the first page to-day, challenging Hugh S. Gibson, the American Chargé d'Affaires, in insulting terms.

The challenge is headed "Coward," and then goes on: "The time has come to stop this infamy. We have had enough shame and enough ignomy.

"Whosoever feels that a Cuban soul animates him should protest by every means and put an end to this cruel and horrible joke of the powerful Nation which injures us because we are weak.

"But it is necessary to do it in this way:

"Gibson, you are a coward. You are a miserable representative of the great who insults the small; men like you are not men; they are insects.

"I personally attack you in the name of Cuba, in my name as a Cuban, as a newspaperman, and a gentleman to demonstrate that you are not capable of doing to a man what you do as the delegate of a strong Government to a weak people.

"Imagine that I have slapped you also.

"This will be read everywhere, and the world will know that you are a miserable being who, in the name of a strong power, insults a weak nation and later does not know how to fight a son of that nation who throws in your face insults that no man of honor can tolerate.

"You see now I do not use any elegancies of language, I wish to say this in just the way I have said it—brusquely, rudely, and grossly, as you, an infamous person, have insulted Cuba."

The challenge is signed by Jesus Lopez, one of the staff of The Siglo.

HAVANA, Aug. 29.—The continued scurrilous attacks appearing in the anti-American section of the Cuban press against Hugh S. Gibson, American Chargé d'Affaires, both on account of his attitude in compelling the Government to pay the claim of Hugh Reilly for a final settlement of the Cienfuegos Water Works contract and also on account of the assault made on him by the newspaper man, Maza, are producing such strong popular sentiment against the United States that it is beginning to give rise to grave apprehension.

The newspapers represent that Mr. Gibson insulted the Cuban Republic by his refusal to accept the Government check for $557,000 in payment of the claim. At the legation it is pointed out that the American representative made it clear to members of the Cabinet that no doubt existed as to the validity of the check, but that cash was necessary to avoid complications through a possible stoppage of the payment by persons disputing the validity of the Reilly claim.

The papers also assert that Mr. Gibson publicly insulted the Cuban people in the presence of Maza, whom they laud as a defender of the honor of the country.

It is possible that an official statement will be issued from the American Legation to correct popular impressions.

Mr. Gibson to-day sent a note to the Cuban Government requesting the prompt prosecution of his assailant, whose release again last night has aroused the greatest indignation in American circles.

The Judge let Maza go on $500 bail, the lowest amount demanded even in a case of common assault. This was done in spite of the fact that Mr. Gibson had been informed by the court that no bail would be allowed and that the accused would be kept in jail.

Mr. Gibson received visits yesterday from representatives of all the foreign legations, who expressed their sympathy with him and indignation at the outrage.

It is probable that a protest will now be made against the withdrawal of police guards from the legations which is in contemplation by the Secretary of the Interior. It is reported that another diplomat was recently the victim of an assault, but refused to prosecute.

During the morning of the day he assaulted Mr. Gibson Maza went to a fencing school and practiced an hour with the sabre, telling the fencing master he intended to do something that night that would provoke a duel.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The United States will insist that adequate punishment be meted out to the Cuban newspaper reporter who assaulted Hugh S. Gibson, the American Chargé d'Affaires in Havana.

Both the Cuban Legation here and the American Legation in Havana have been informed by the State Department that it attaches the greatest importance to the adequate punishment of the assailant.

Dispatches to the State Department last night said that in spite of the spontaneous assurances of Cuban Government officials that the offender would be punished, he was released on his own recognizance, later recaptured and released on a nominal bail.

ACCUSES OUR ATHLETES.

Correspondent of London Times Alleges Trickiness at Stockholm.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 30.—The Times gives prominence to a letter from a correspondent who was at Stockholm during the Olympic games, in which the following charges are made:

1—American runners in some races did, as a team, obstruct and "pocket" competitors of other nations in a way which it was impossible to regard as accidental.

2—As individuals, they did, on several occasions, besides, apparently with intention, "swerving," use their elbows to prevent competitors of another nationality from passing.

3—At the starts of some races, and those not all short distance events, they tried persistently to beat the pistol in a way that ruined the nerve of other competitors who were striving to be honest. In this last particular, as well as in the knocking down of hurdles, it is remarked, they doubtless were encouraged by the immunity from penalties to which they are accustomed in the United States.

The correspondent declares that his letter is not written with the desire of provoking a controversy, but solely with a view to putting the facts on record. He adds:

"To this should be added that a statement of what occurred at Stockholm involves no indictment of the sporting spirit of the people of the United States as a whole. On the contrary, a very large and what we should consider the best element in the American people has a whole-hearted dislike of the particular crowd—it is an American phrase—which controls Olympic matters in America and of what are commonly called the political and Tammany methods which that crowd represents.

"The sporting spirit of Harvard, Yale, and Princeton is as fine as that of Oxford and Cambridge; but those institutions have no such influence in public sporting matters, certainly not in Olympic affairs, as have our universities."

LARGEST MOTORSHIP.

Vessel Being Built in Germany for the Standard Oil Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The Krupps are building at the Germania Dockyard at Kiel, for the German branch of the Standard Oil Company, the largest motor-driven vessel so far constructed anywhere. It is also the largest tank steamer ever built. It is intended to transport oil from the United States and has a carrying capacity of 15,000 tons. The largest vessel hitherto had a capacity of only 8,000 tons.

The ship is 420 feet long and 65 feet wide. The propelling power is supplied by two Diesel motors, which develop 1,800 horse power, with a speed of ten knots an hour.

The Frankfort Zeitung states that fourteen motor ships are now under construction in German yards, ranging between 4,500 and 15,000 tons.

The new motor ship of 6,500 tons, built for the Hamburg-South American Steamship Company, has just finished successful trial trips, developing a speed of nearly 14 knots.

CHINA CANNOT HAVE TIBET, SAYS BRITAIN

Strong Protest Made Against Proposal to Make the Country a Province.

NEW AGREEMENT DEMANDED

It Is Made a Condition to Great Britain's Recognition of the Chinese Republic.

PEKING, Aug. 29.—The proposed incorporation of Tibet as a province of the Chinese Republic has met with strong opposition from Great Britain. The British Government contends that Tibet should be permitted to manage its affairs without Chinese interference.

Sir John Jordan, the British Minister, presented to the Government here to-day a memorandum in which the Tibetan situation is reviewed. The note suggests that the Chinese Government station a representative at Lhasa who shall advise the Tibetans on questions of foreign policy and shall be protected by a bodyguard of Chinese troops.

The British Government objects to the sending of the Chinese expedition now on the borders of Tibet and also to the maintenance of a large Chinese military force in the country.

The note recommends the drawing up of a new Anglo-Chinese agreement, which it makes a condition to the recognition by Great Britain of the Chinese Republic.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Great Britain's policy in regard to Tibet is that it will recognize China's suzerainty over the country, but not its sovereignty.

China, it is pointed out here, attempted to enforce her alleged sovereignty over Tibet only when the Dalai Lama fled to India after the British expedition of 1904. Tibet, however, which was practically independent, thereupon drove out the Chinese army of occupation.

The British Government is of the opinion that a fresh Chinese invasion would be accompanied by acts of great cruelty toward the Tibetans. It also considers that British interests warrant the stationing of a British agent at Lhasa.

The outcome of the present situation may possibly, it is thought here, be the drawing up of a British-Russian-Chinese agreement for the preservation of the autonomy and neutrality of Tibet.

AIDS SHIPS IN FOG.

English Invention Shows Direction from Which Sounds Are Coming.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A successful demonstration has been made in Liverpool of an invention for the use of ships, particularly in time of fog, to show the direction of sounds, such as those of sirens of other ships.

The apparatus, which is the invention of two brothers named Hodkinson, consists of a drum to receive the sound waves and an indicator. The drum, which measures 9 feet by 5 feet, is placed aloft, where it cannot be affected by sounds on deck, and is connected electrically with an indicator, which is placed in such a position that it can readily be seen by the ship's officer on duty. The receiver consists of a number of units, each of which receives sound waves from a particular direction. Though sensitive to sound waves, they are not affected by ordinary mechanical vibrations.

By means of the electrical device a sound wave from a particular direction causes an electric lamp in a particular position in the indicator to be lighted. The position of the lighted lamp shows the position the ship whose siren is sounding occupies with regard to the ship which carries the apparatus. The lamp remains alight until it is seen by the officer on duty, who can then switch it off.

If the other vessel is moving, different lamps are lighted in succession, showing the vessel's course. The apparatus indicates the direction in which the vessel blowing her foghorn is traveling—whether she is going ahead, astern, or on either side. If there are several ships in the vicinity, the recording lights from any of them can be shut off until the position of the others has been observed.

ARMED WOMAN TRIES TO MEET PRESIDENT

Forces Her Way Into His Hotel in Columbus and Is Arrested—Her Mind Weak.

TAFT SPEAKS AT STATE FAIR

Attends Dinner of State Bar Association at Which Gov. Harmon Is Toastmaster.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 29.—Politicians hurrying to Columbus for conferences, dignitaries of State, Nation, and city, and thousands upon thousands of visitors to the centennial display of Columbus flocked together to-day on the streets to greet President Taft.

The day was designated as "Federal Day" of the centennial celebration, and it displayed every attribute of distinction. The President arrived at 7 o'clock and remained in his car in the railroad yards for some time in conference with friends.

A few minutes after the President arrived at his hotel a neatly attired woman of middle age made an unsuccessful attempt to see him. She had the hallucination that she was the wife of the President, and had been directed to meet him here. She entered the elevator with the President, but was seized by detectives.

"I am the President's wife," the woman cried. "I have a sacred knife which I am going to give him."

She was taken to the city prison. Concealed in her bosom was a large knife. In her pocket were two other knives. When questioned by detectives she said:

"I am his wife. He gives me everything I want. I heard he was traveling with another woman, and I went to see if it were true."

In her pockets she had more than $200 in cash and a certified check for $1,060. The woman gave her name as Mrs. Caroline Beers and said her home was in Greenfield, Ohio. Communication with her relatives and the authorities at Greenfield developed that she suffered from mild delusions, but had never been known to be violent. She left home yesterday to come here for the centennial.

The President, who was accompanied by his brother, Horace G. Taft, and Secretary Carmi Thompson, was escorted from the station by a detachment of troops from the Columbus Barracks.

As the Presidential party passed through the streets thousands of centennial visitors lined the sidewalks. His address at the State Fair was listened to by a crowd estimated to be at least 5,000.

"Some of my friends say," said the President, "that if a King had used the veto as I have his head would drop in the basket, but I am not a King, and that is very different. The President has the power, and it is his duty if he does not approve legislation to veto it. He must use the veto when his conscience tells him whether his head drops in the basket or not. If Presidents are men—and most of them are—they will exercise the veto when they think they ought.

"One trouble with the present-day reformer is that he wants his reforms put into effect to-morrow morning for breakfast. Reforms do not come that quickly. Mere change is not necessarily progressive."

"Look over the vetoes of other Presidents and show me the bad ones, and I will show you more that are good. Our forefathers thought it was well to have one man who would represent all the people and who would be able to tell all the people when he saw legislation that he did not believe was good. The veto is an excellent thing. My friends who criticise me forget that I was elected just as they were, and by a good many more people than they were."

The President spoke to the farmers of legislation which Congress had enacted for their benefit, and promised that other legislation would follow. He referred to the system of agricultural banks in Germany, which extend credit to the farmers at low interest rates, and said that the United States Government was now investigating this system with the purpose of introducing it in this coutnry if found feasible.

To-night 200 members of the Ohio bar attended a dinner for President Taft. Gov. Harmon was toastmaster. Supreme Court Justice Horace L. Lurton, who was to have been one of the principal speakers, did not arrive, and the time which was allotted to him was given as an addition to President Taft, who spoke fifty minutes.

GREENVILLE, Ohio, Aug. 29.—L. E. Chenoweth, an attorney of this city, went to Columbus at noon to look after the interests of Mrs. Caroline Beers, who was arrested in that city while waiting for President Taft.

Chenoweth was sent by the woman's relatives as soon as the news of her arrest was received here. John Jarvis, a telegraph operator and son-in-law of Mrs. Beers, said that Mrs. Beers had never shown any tendency toward violence, although her actions had been somewhat peculiar at times. She did not follow politics, and he did not believe she was after the President because of his position or political connections.

Mr. Jarvis said Mrs. Beers left Greenville yesterday, saying she was going to the State Fair at Columbus.

PACKER'S SON STUDIES HOGS.

From University He Goes Into Stock Yards to Learn the Business.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 29.—Edward Morris, Jr., son of Edward Morris, President of the big meat packing concern of Morris & Co., aged 19 years, a graduate of University of Chicago, and a popular young man in society in this city, was to-day graduated from "Hog Alley" in the Union Stock Yards to a comfortable desk in his father's office. He had successfully undergone an eight months' apprenticeship in the meat business and reached his father's office by way of the hog, sheep, and cattle pens.

Last January the elder Morris told his son it was about time to temporarily, at least, discard the foibles of youth and learn the practical end of the business which had laid the foundation of the Morris fortune. Young Morris acquiesced in the suggestion, and, discarding tailor-made clothes and stiff collars, for eight months worked in the stock yards attired in knee-high boots, corduroy trousers, blue flannel shirts, and brown duck coats.

The young man knew little or nothing about the stock yards when he was placed on the pay roll of Morris & Co. and told to find his way to hog alleys. The stock yards speculators who deal in margins and make a good living quickly discovered there was a green hog buyer in the alleys.

Edward Morris, Jr., spent four months in the hog alleys, and toward the end of that time he had learned the subject of hogs to such an extent that he was trusted with big deals. Then he was promoted to the sheep houses. After two months with the sheep he was put in the cattle pen, where he worked for the last two months as a buyer among the range cattle.

Edward, Jr., is now generally known as "Eddie" in the stock yards.

"Eddie has become a good stock man," said one of the cattle buyers of a competing company to-day. "Last Winter when it was colder than blazes, Eddie stuck to his post in the hog pens, and many a day he'd send for a can of coffee and a couple of sandwiches and eat in the Morris shanty in Hog Alley."

A REMBRANDT IN QUESTION.

Metropolitan's Curator Discusses Authenticity of Painting with Dr. Bode.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Dr. William R. Valentiner, Curator of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, sailed from Liverpool in the Celtic today. While here he was the guest of Dr. Bode, the celebrated Berlin connoisseur, and thrashed out with him the latest Rembrandt controversy which has arisen in connection with the painting known as "The Adulteress Before Christ." The picture was sold by a Paris agent, A. Weber, at auction in Berlin last Spring and eventually found its way into the possession of an American collector, described here as "Wanamaker of Minneapolis," who is said to have paid $250,000 for it.

Dr. Bode at the time of the sale was skeptical as to the genuineness of the picture, but when it reached New York and was cleaned under the auspices of Dr. Valentiner, the latter pronounced it as unquestionably an original.

Abraham Bredius, a prominent Dutch authority on Rembrandt, is now out with a statement that the picture is a counterfeit, dating from the first half of the eighteenth century. "Dr. Valentiner assured me in Berlin only a few days ago," said Dr. Bode, "that the genuineness of the picture was beyond doubt. I, of course, have not seen it since it was cleaned, but my New York colleague seems to think that he cannot be wrong."

ARCHBALD WOULD QUIT.

Indicted Judge Seeks Temporary Relief from Duty.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Judge R. W. Archbald of the Commerce Court, whose trial under impeachment proceedings is impending before the Senate, has asked Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court temporarily to relieve him of duty.

Chief Justice White thus far has taken no action upon the request. The phraseology of the act creating the Commerce Court appears to be ambiguous as to the power of the Chief Justice to "relieve" a Judge of the court from duty. The law reads that "in case of the death, resignation, or termination of assignment of any Judge so designated the Chief Justice shall designate a Circuit Judge to fill the vacancy," &c.

Judge Archbald has performed none of the duties of a member of the court since the charges against him were brought by the Judiciary Committee of the House. His trial by the Senate, under the impeachment by the House, will begin on Dec. 4.

CAME ASHORE TOO OFTEN.

Kaiserin Steward Arrested for Smuggling—Two Other Men Held.

Just before the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria sailed for Hamburg yesterday morning Kurt Lillie, one of the cabin stewards, was arrested by Deputy United States Commissioner Beekman and Customs Inspectors Harris and Wood, charged with smuggling gold chains and other jewelry into this country.

Charles H. De Muth, who had arrived on the liner on her last trip and who said he was an employe of a New York firm of importers, was arrested, too, as also was August Moos, a hotel keeper at River and Second Streets, Hoboken.

The steward had been watched since the docking of the Kaiserin last Saturday, because of his frequent trips from the pier to Moos's hotel. After Lillie, it is alleged, confessed that he was smuggling the goods for De Muth, the latter's trunks were again examined, and found to have false bottoms, in which quantities of gold chains and other articles of jewelry were concealed. Lillie was held in $3,000 bail and De Muth and Moos were each held in $2,000.

CONNAUGHTS' LONG TOUR.

Duke, Duchess, and Princess Begin 7,826-Mile Journey in Canada.

Special to The New York Times.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Aug. 29.—The Duke of Connaught, Governor General of Canada, halted here this morning on the first stage of his seven and a half weeks' tour across Canada, accompanied by the Duchess and Princess Patricia.

Sault Ste. Marie is the nearest point to the United States to be touched in the course of the tour, and in thanking the Mayor and Councillors for conferring the freedom of the city upon him the Duke said that in his good wishes for the success of the enterprises of the "Soo" he also desired to include "our cousins beyond the rapids, with whom you compete in friendly rivalry."

In the afternoon the royal party inspected the famous locks and visited the steel and paper works which constitute the principal industries of the city.

In their trip through Western Canada the royal tourists will travel 7,826 miles, of which 6,400 will be covered by rail and 1,426 by steamship. Throughout the tour they are to be the guests of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which has provided a special train and four special steamers for their accommodation.

The special train is said to be the finest and most luxuriously equipped train ever run in any country. The cars reserved for the use of the royal members of the party are the Cornwall and York, which were used by King George and Queen Mary when they toured Canada some years ago as Prince and Princess of Wales. Both cars have been brought thoroughly up to date in fittings and decorations, and are the last word in railroad comfort and elegance.

Of the four special steamers provided by the Canadian Pacific the largest is the Princess Alice, which will convey the royal tourists from Vancouver up the Pacific Coast to Prince Rupert and back, while the others will be used for exploring Arrow Head, Okanagan, and Kootenay Lakes.

ADMIRAL CONTROLS IN NICARAGUA WAR

Southerland Arrives with Reinforcements and Reports Americans Are Now Safe.

TO COMMAND FROM CORINTO

No Further Force Needed to Garrison Towns, He Says—Rebels Are Reported Planning New Attack.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—With the arrival at Corinto of Rear Admiral W. H. H. Southerland on the California with reinforcements of marines and bluejackets, and his prompt assumption of full control of the situation, President Taft's decision not to send troops to the troubled country seems to have full justification.

Two dispatches were received to-day from the Rear Admiral. The first, dated yesterday afternoon, announced his arrival, and gave a general view of the situation. He expressed the opinion that no further force was necessary to garrison the towns where Americans needed protection. He said he had sent Commander Terhune with 500 men to open the railroad line to Managua. Everything was quiet at Leon and intermediate towns to the coast. The railroad and telegraph line had been maliciously damaged at many points, so that much work was needed to put it in order. He expressed the view that by keeping the railroad and telegraph line between Managua and Grenada permanently open the lives and property of Americans in the country would be safe.

The California was sent on yesterday to Panama to bring 780 marines, who will land at Colon to-morrow from the Prairie, and they will reach Corinto in a few days.

The second dispatch sent back by Admiral Southerland said that he had transferred his flag to the Annapolis and would remain at Corinto, where he was in full communication with Commander Terhune, who was on the way to Managua, repairing the railroad and telegraph line. The cruiser Denver has been stationed at San Juan del Sur to keep order there and protect the telegraph and cable station.

Meanwhile the Tenth Infantry, which was originally ordered to Nicaragua, will be held in readiness at Panama to sail at a moment's notice.

Reopening by the marines of rail and telegraphic communication between Managua and Corinto was followed by the receipt of several cablegrams in the State and Navy Departments from that hotbed of trouble.

A report from Cammander Terhune dated Aug. 26 shows that decisive measures were necessary for the American forces to make headway against the rebel leaders.

A committee from the Liberals of Chinandega entered Corinto on the 25th bearing a flag of truce, and in the name of Francisco Baca ordered the local authorities to surrender the town within six hours. The Consul at Corinto reports that the local commandant refused to treat with this committee, stating that he had already turned over the military control of Corinto to the American forces. The committee returned the following day to treat with American officials, and they were informed that no armed force would be allowed to enter Corinto.

On a neck of land running out past the boy about two miles from Corinto Terhune found a bridge, which commanded the entrance to the city.

He tore up part of the bridge and planted two six-pounders on a car at the end. Since then not a Liberal has been seen in the vicinity.

The latest report that had reached Commander Terhune was that Menia had again threatened to bombard Managua. If that programme is carried out Admiral Sutherland will use his forces to protect the city against attack. The defense of Managua is regarded as indispensable to the protection of Americans and American property interests.

Commander Terhune reports that he passed through Leon on Aug. 26 with 200 marines and bluejackets, and, although the mob had quieted down, he had to use threats to clear the railroad for the advance of his men. He understands that most of the important towns, outside of Corinto, Managua and San Juan del Sur, is in possession of the rebels.

It is said the wires between Corinto and Managua will be in operation within forty-eight hours, but it will require eighteen days to repair the railroad.

PANAMA, Aug. 29.—A telegram from Corinto denies the rumor that several American marines have lost their lives in the fighting in Nicaragua. The dispatch, which is dated to-day, reads: "No marines killed or wounded."

Payne to be Opposed by Aiken.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 29.—E. Clarence Aiken of Owasco to-day filed a certificate with the Secretary of State showing that he is to make a contest at the primaries next month against Representative Sereno E. Payne for the regular Republican Congressional nomination in the Cayuga-Wayne-Ontario-Yates-Seneca District. His certificate contains the signatures of over 1,200 voters.

THE
By William
Dana Orcutt
Author of
"The Spell," "The Lever," Etc.

A vivid, picturesque story, pulsating with the joys and sorrows of every-day life. The story is chiefly concerned with the character, life, and temptations of a very beautiful and high-spirited girl, the mother of two young children, whose husband has apparently lost all interest in her except as a source of income. The woman falls under the influence of two other men—one, Cunningham, an able lawyer and a married man, who is attracted and amused by her high-spirited, unconventional conduct; the other, Auchester, an Englishman, whose code of life is exceedingly unconventional and who wishes to take Lucy away from her uncongenial home. The influence of these two men upon her life, one trying to persuade her to shake the bonds of conventionality, the other protesting that such a course would only result in absolute ruin, forms a theme that grips the attention of the reader from start to finish.

CHAOS AT LONDON STATION.

Fatal Accident at Vauxhall Causes Delay to Olympic Specials.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—There was intense confusion at Waterloo station this morning prior to the departure of the Olympic special boat trains.

Earlier in the morning a bad accident at Vauxhall had paralyzed traffic, making it extremely doubtful if the specials could start anywhere near on time. However, by dint of herculean efforts the lines were cleared in time to allow the trains to get away half an hour late.

Some most exciting scenes were witnessed on the platforms, thronged by hundreds of passengers and friends, while mountains of baggage were piled everywhere. In the midst of the turmoil, when there was scarcely room to turn around, a couple of suburban trains pulled in, emptying hundreds of City workers on to the platforms.

It was literally a case of fighting a way out, many being trampled on. Complaints regarding the stupidity and carelessness of the railway officials in allowing packed local trains to come in under such conditions were loud and vehement.

It is said that several well-known gamblers are making the trip on the Olympic, including one of international fame who bears the sobriquet of "Doc."

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Two lives were lost and forty persons were seriously injured in a collision between a crowded business men's train and a light passenger train early this morning at Vauxhall Station, on the London & South Western Railway.

A train from Aldershot, crowded with workers proceeding to the city, was standing in the station, where tickets are collected before the trains run into Waterloo, when a light engine pulling a couple of passenger cars fouled the switches and dashed into the rear of the loaded stationary cars.

The force of the impact was so great that several of the cars were telescoped and the light engine and its tender were twisted and smashed to pieces.

Doctors and ambulances were quickly on the scene, and the dead were removed to a mortuary, while the injured men were transported to St. Thomas's Hospital, near by.

ANOTHER RAID AT HONGKONG.

Bandits Enter British Territory—Bind and Gag Two Europeans.

HONGKONG, Aug. 29.—British territory was again invaded last night by heavily armed Chinese bandits and marauders.

Sixty of these desperadoes attacked and seized the customs station at Lo-Fun, across what is called the New Territory belonging to the British colony. They captured, bound, and gagged two Europeans and some Chinese, and then carried off a stack of rifles and a small sum of money from the Collector's office.

Afterward the bandits left British territory and made a raid on the Chinese town of Sam-Chun, just over the border line, where they looted many of the stores. Sam-Chun is know to be the resort of many outlawed criminals.

KAISER IS NOW WELL.

Dr. Wheeler Thinks That He Deserves the Nobel Peace Prize.

CASSEL, Aug. 29.—Emperor William has apparently completely recovered from his recent indisposition. His Majesty this morning went out for a long horseback ride in the park at Wilhelmshohe Castle. He was accompanied by the Empress, who also had been in unsatisfctory health.

Both the Emperor and Empress appeared in very lively spirits.

VICTORIA, B. C., Aug. 29.—President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California said last night that Emperor William should receive the Nobel Peace Prize

In addressing the members of a "flying legion" which is visiting the Northwest in the interest of the Panama Pacific Exposition, President Wheeler said the German Army had been used as a powerful agency for peace and called attention to the fact that, although the army had been built up steadily for twenty-five years, it had not once been used.

"I believe that war would be revolting to the Kaiser's mind and I venture to suggest that the next Nobel Peace Prize go to him," said Dr. Wheeler.

In Same Lodgings 53 Years.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Dr. Shadworth Hollway Hodgson, the metaphysician, a Fellow of the British Academy, and for fourteen years President of the Aristotelian Society, who died recently, left property worth $200,000. He bequeathed $250 to his landlady at 45 Conduit Street, where he lived in lodgings for fifty-three years.

NEIGHBORS HAVE TRIPLETS.

Twice Within Two Weeks the Stork Has Brought Them to One Town.

WASHINGTON, Penn., Aug. 29.—The stork seems to be busy lately in Canton Township, a part of Washington County, which adjoins the town of Washington. To-day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Patt three little girls arrived in a bunch. The new arrivals weigh from three and one-half to four and one-half pounds each, and all are doing well.

It is less than a week since the stork bestowed a like gift at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nichols, who live a few doors from the Patt domicile. The three Nichols daughters and the three Patt girls are running a close race for popularity in the neighborhood.

FOR COURT REFORM INSTEAD OF RECALL

Bar Association Speakers on the Defensive in Discussing Faulty Machinery of Law.

MORE PAY FOR JUDGES URGED

Give the Bench More Power, Says Frederick N. Judson—F. B. Kellogg Is New Association Head.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 29.—A conspicuous feature of the addresses before the American Bar Association at to-day's final session was the recognition of the speakers that court procedure and the profession of the law were under fire and required defense.

The association went on record as opposed to the recall of both Judges and judicial decisions, and declared that other methods must be used to prevent delays in lawsuits.

F. N. Judson of St. Louis, speaking on "Procedure in Our Judicial Systems," said at the outset of his address:

"It is no exaggeration to say that the judicial procedure of the United States is now on trial before the bar of the public opinion of the country, and even of the civilized world."

Mr. Judson held that this inadequacy of the judicial system had been developed "during a period of legislative activity, which has been directed against the common law independence of the Judges and has resulted in effectively limiting their power. It has been a period of a progressive democratization of the courts, which apparently has not yet ended."

Mr. Judson declared the remedy lay in the methods adopted by the Federal Supreme Court—that is, "in the repeal of all statutory rules of procedure and in leaving the details to be controlled by the Judges under rules of court, made from time to time as occasion requires.

"We must retrace our steps," concluded the speaker, "and vest not less but more independence in our Judges."

Joseph C. France of Baltimore in his address said:

"In popular speech and literature the lawyer is standing at the bar of public opinion—on the defensive. The season's crop of addresses touching our ethical obligations is already large, and the situation demands respectful attention."

He favored raising the standard of admission to the bar and thus help to keep unworthy men out of the profession.

Charles Blood Smith of Kansas declared that most of the criticisms, which had inspired the movement for the recall of Judges, sprang from dissatisfaction with court methods and not with the Judges. Hence reform of methods and not the recall was needed.

Withdrawal of all patronage from Judges and payment of adequate salaries were urged by Henry D. Estabrook of New York. He asserted that the recall was being urged by "one-eyed leaders of the blind," and then said:

"It is proposed that the issue (of the recall) shall be determined not by a majority vote of all eligible electors, who are perhaps indifferent to the proceeding, but by a majority of those actually voting on the particular issue and who are passionately alive to it.

"Here is an amplification of trial by jury that transcends all idea of law or justice; where the Judge himself is prisoner at the bar, accused of no crime nor of anything in particular without benefit of counsel or power to summon witnesses—not even to be confronted by his accusers. It is a dastardly, cowardly, cruel contrivance that would make the iniquity of the inquisition almost respectable by comparison."

The election of Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul as President brought the convention to a close. New Directors elected were William H. Burges of Texas, William H. Staak of Pennsylvania, John H. Voorhees of South Dakota, and S. S. Gregory of Illinois.

Paroled Convicts Will Play Ball.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth of New York, who has selected a team of paroled men to play a game of baseball with convicts confined at the Great Meadow prison at Comstock on Monday next, came here to-day to confer with the State prison officials. She said that twelve former convicts had agreed to accompany her to Comstock and pay their own expenses.

EXPLORED KOREAN WATERS.

R. C. Andrews Back with Rare Whales for Natural History Museum.

Roy Chapman Andrews of the staff of the American Museum of Natural History, who started on a whaling expedition to Korean waters the middle of last December and finally explored the big forests and mountains on the northern boundary of Korea, gave an account of this, his third expedition, yesterday at the Museum of Natural History. He returned Wednesday on the steamship C. F. Tietzen of the Scandinavian-American Line.

Mr. Andrews first went to Japan, where he made arrangements with the Oriental Whale Capturing Company to take a vessel to the island-dotted waters in Korea Strait, to the south of Korea. Here he succeeded in obtaining specimens of the almost extinct species of California gray whale, and the "hump-back." Later he proceeded to Seoul, where he obtained the permission of the Government to make his explorations in the northern part of that country. Embarking from Fusan, he sailed up the eastern coast to Seichan, and thence headed into Musan. From Musan he proceeded along the Tooman River, still to the westward, into the big forests. Next he made a partial ascent of Paik-Tu-San, one of the highest mountain peaks in Northern Korea, and from there he plunged into the wild and desolate plateau to the south in search of what the Koreans called the "Three Big Rivers." In reality he found three lakes, ranging in length from one to two miles, with shores of volcanic ash, apparently brought down from Paik-Tu-San to the north, and deposited by the melting snows in Summer. He found the depth of these lakes to be about eighteen feet.

From the lakes Mr. Andrews proceeded down the Yalu River to Antung, and thence back to Seoul. The news of the strange white man spread among the natives, and the women, whose custom it is to remain secluded from the gaze of men, for once trampled down tradition and in a body came by appointment to Mr. Andrews's camp to look him over and wonder.

LABOR TO HEAR MGR. LAVELLE

Nineteen Organizations to Attend Sunday Service at St. Patrick's.

Mgr. Lavelle will preach a sermon on Labor Sunday to representatives of labor unions and workingmen generally at St. Patrick's Cathedral. Members of the Holy Name Societies have been invited, and many of the priests in charge of Catholic churches will be present.

The service will begin at 8 o'clock with musical vespers. The sermon by Mgr. Lavelle will deal with the rights and duties of workingmen. Cardinal Farley will return to the city for the service if his health permits. It was said at St. Patrick's last night that he would not be likely to speak.

A call signed by officials of nineteen laboring organizations has been issued to the workingmen of New York City. It concludes with the words:

> As the Church has always from the early ages been the protector of the laborer in the guilds founded for that purpose, it is hoped that the members of the various organizations and workingmen generally will accept the invitation to be present.

The call is signed by the following: Edward Feeney, President of the American Federation of Catholic Societies; Hugh Frayne, organizer of the American Federation of Labor; James Holland, Chairman of the Labor Day Committee of the Central Federated Union; Peter Quinn, Vice President of the Central Labor Union of Brooklyn; Timothy Healy, President of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen; James J. Freel, President of the International Stereotypers' and Electrotypers' Union; Charles M. Maxwell, President of Typographical Union No. 6; James J. Murphy, ex-President of Typographical Union No. 6; Thomas J. Carroll, President of the Allied Printing Trades Council and Stereotypers' Union; John McArdle, business agent of Mailers' Union No. 6; John Fitzgibbons, business agent of the Horseshoers' Union No. 1; John J. Crimmins, secretary of Franklin Union No. 23; Peter J. Brady, secretary of the Allied Printing Trades Council; W. H. Erhardt, President of the New York Printing Pressmen's Union No. 51; Thomas Flannagan, President of Franklin Union No. 23; Francis Creamer, business agent of House Movers' Union No. 51, and Hugh Reed, President of the Inside Electrical Workers' Union.

Will Wed Girl Rescued in France.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—His rescue of a young woman, who was about to drown in the Seine in France two years ago, became known to his friends here for the first time to-day when Samuel J. Hume, dramatic student and graduate of the University of California, left for Boston to marry the girl in the case, Miss Maud Crawford Dick of Edinburgh, Scotland. Miss Dick is now on her way from Liverpool to Boston to meet Hume.

TARIFF FIXED BY TRUSTS SEEKING SPECIAL FAVORS

Alexander Hamilton's Revenue Policy Distorted by the Interests Into the Payne-Aldrich Prohibition System—Present Campaign Issue a Tariff for and by the People.

By W. L. SAUNDERS,

Doctor of Science, University of Pennsylvania, 1911, Former Mayor of North Plainfield, N. J., and Member of New Jersey Democratic State Committee.

The chief issue in this campaign is not protection or free trade; it is whether or not we should begin at once to readjust the tariff to a basis of fair protection. It is recognized that the present law is indefensible. It is not framed on true protection lines at all, but it involves a new idea of National fiscal policy which the authors of protection never dreamed of, namely, that the Government should impose tariffs high enough to actually prohibit importations, and regardless of whether the thing protected was or might be produced at equal cost in the United States. Nor was it ever dreamed that Government protection should be extended to industries that were corraled under the control of a few people.

Least of all did anybody foresee an actual dicker between special interests and the Government in which campaign contributions were exchanged for tariff favors.

A further abuse of protection against which our forefathers would have revolted is the use of the tariff to maintain industries against natural conditions which are more favorable elsewhere. This is like taxing millions of people to sustain the business of raising bananas in Vermont. It can be done if your hothouse is big enough and if the tariff is high enough to shut out importations from the tropics. This exaggerated case illustrates what has been done in some industries in the United States. It has only been a question as to how far these strong influence dared to go in their use of the power of the Government to enable them to exploit one group of people for the benefit of another.

Hamilton's Revenue Policy.

Alexander Hamilton is the father of American protection. He wanted to build up the great natural resources of the country by a reasonable protection to infant industries against older and more powerful competitors abroad, He thought that a 10, or at the maximum a 15, per cent. duty should be imposed. This duty was really a revenue duty. It was intended as a means by which revenues might be increased through a measure which at the same time would place the home manufacturer at an advantage. Experience has shown that the plan is a wise and effective one where countries are large and have natural resources. Such is the present policy of Russia and Germany. They are engaged in building up certain industries by a moderate tariff, and are at the same time getting revenues for the Government which otherwise would have to be obtained by increased taxation on foodstuffs, incomes, or through other sources which place the burden more directly on the common people.

But this is not at all the present American system. It began right, and in all probability it would have continued on reasonable lines of revenue producing protection had not the Republican Party saved the Union in the civil war, and through that intoxication which invariably follows a powerful and prolonged lease of power it fell into the hands of special interests until it became the wheedling handmaiden of wealth.

Step by step the tariff was put up at the demand of small groups of men who went to Washington with axes to grind. There was the wool group and the cotton group, the sugar group and the chemical group, the metal group and the wood group, the flax group and the silk group, all standing together under the free masonry of a common cause, vowing to help each other and demanding protection in the name of American labor.

There is a story told of a man who stood knocking at the gates of heaven. Saint Peter called out, "Who's there?" and received the reply that a prominent American protectionist wished to enter. "Are you afoot or horseback?" asked Peter, and being told that he was afoot he was denied admission, for Peter said that no one could get in that day who was not mounted. As this Republican sped disconsolate down the fleecy path he met a workman who told him that he was on his way to the gates of bliss. "There is no use your going," said the other, "for I have just been there and have it from Saint Peter himself that no one can enter who is not mounted. But I'll tell you what we can do. You get down on all fours. I'll get on your back, and together we can go to the golden gates. When Peter asks if I am mounted I'll say yes, and then the gates will be opened to us." So on they went, the question was asked, the answer given, and old Peter promptly replied, "Just hitch your horse outside and come in."

It looks very much as though the record on earth has shown that the golden gates of prosperity have been opened to those men who have used a tariff key for their purpose, while the American workman has been the horse or the donkey, who still stands hitched outside.

Payne-Aldrich Prohibition.

This is not an idle figure of speech that I am giving you, but it is a stern reality. We face a very serious matter. A good thing has suffered mutilation and murder in the house of its friends. A revenue policy carrying with it fair protection has lost all its flavor. Whoever refers now to protection as a revenue policy? Do our standpatters even attempt its defense on revenue grounds? Not at all, because the elements of greed and selfishness have forgotten the interests of the Government while pursuing their own interests. Why should revenues be allowed to pile up through importations? Why this is the very thing we must prevent, for the less the revenues are the greater our business should be! We must stop these things coming in at all, and so the 10 per cent. revenue-producing protective tariff of Alexander Hamilton has become the 100 per cent. prohibition system of Payne, Aldrich & Co.

Who, then, are the true friends of revenue-protection, the men who have changed its whole character by the abuse of it; the men who have prostituted it until its influence is gone, until it is like a sucked orange; or the people like Gov. Wilson, who are trying to save it by a gentle but firm process of readjustment? If you are in a mine of quicksand, your true friend is not he who stands pat and lets you alone, but it is the man who pulls you out. To stand pat is to get in deeper, and this is exactly what those who control the Republican Party have been doing. No one with the slightest claim to knowledge of the subject can maintain that the Payne-Aldrich Tariff bill is revision downward. It is distinctly a clever piece of manipulation conceived by the standpatters, and working toward higher and not lower duties. It represents high-water mark in this policy of destruction; it is the last swing of the pendulum too far in the wrong direction.

Without Fostering Monopoly.

About twelve years ago, at a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers at Detroit, I introduced the following resolution:

> Resolved, That the object of tariff legislation should be to protect those industries only which require it, and without providing the opportunity for monopoly abuses.

It was passed with but little opposition, but, being only a statement of principles, it has served no practical purpose. How can we excuse or defend a policy which does not confine protection to those indutries only which require it? Up to a very recent date no serious effort has been made to ascertain whether any protected industry required it.

Does the mineral water industry require it, for instance, when the water comes from the ground and when its real commercial value is dependent rather upon its trademark than upon "the cost of manufacture"? Pure bottled water that is cheap is a life saver in some localities and a substitute for strong drink everywhere, yet every ounce of it is subject to a duty, as is also the bottle that carries it.

If it is not clear to any one how this affects prices, I will call your attention to the price of a glass of Shaster water, which costs 15 cents under the very shadow of Mount Shasta which produces it, and when you ask why they tell you that it is as good as imported Apollinaris and that is its price. The domestic product is sold at a price which is regulated by that of the tariff-taxed imported one, and not according to the cost of production in this country. In the face of such things, is it at all difficult to see how the high cost of living is influenced by the tariff?

Tariff Framed Arbitrarily.

I shall not dwell upon the difficulties involved in attempting to ascertain which are the industries that require protection. Relative costs of production are not easily determined, as so much is involved in the question; but the fact remains that the tariff has not been framed on lines of relative costs, but arbitrarily and at the bidding of the interests affected.

Has any framer of tariff schedules ever given the slightest consideration to the question of avoiding the opportunities for monopoly abuses? On the contrary, the things which had become centralized in monopolies had the most influential sponsors before the committees of Congress. Government support through the tariff has been looked upon as one of the strongest assets of monopoly.

Borax, for instance, is said to be practically controlled by one man, yet it is taxed 2 cents a pound, and this has brought millions in profit to the home producer who has been clever enough to put the price at a figure that keeps out importations, but which is in no sense proportioned by the cost of production.

Sugar is one of the most important of life's necessities, its per capita consumption is about the same for the poor as for the rich, yet it is heavily taxed in the Payne-Aldrich bill, and entirely without regard either to the cost of production or to monopoly control. The Lowry Bulletin 12, recently before the Senate, states: "The cost of production has no relation to the selling price of domestic sugar, and the domestic producer bases his price on the value of imported sugar, plus the duty and cost of refining."

Some Sugar Tariff Figures.

A rival of the Sugar Trust has recently issued a circular from which the following extracts have been taken:

> The people are called upon to pay the Government an annual tax bill for the duty on cane sugar amounting to more than $50,000,000, nor is this all, for the price of beet sugar and domestic cane sugar is based not so much on the cost of producing those sugars, as it is on the price of imported cane sugar, which necessarily includes the duty, so the consumers of sugar in this country pay tribute not only to the Government, but also to the beet sugar refiners, in all, the staggering sum of $100,000,000 to $150,000,000.
> Whenever a jobber buys a carload of sugar, his invoice includes about $510 for the duty. Whenever a housewife buys a dollar's worth of sugar, she gets only 70 cents' worth of sugar, the other 30 cents of her dollar being for the duty. Moreover, every can of preserved fruit, every jar of jam and jelly, every piece of candy, every glass of soda water, and even every stick of chewing gum, must yield its share of the inexorable demand of the Government and the beet sugar interests.

The American people have borne this oppression with patience. They have not fully understood the situation and have been inclined to let the subject alone, believing that the tariff should be revised only by its friends. But they have now discovered that those who laid claims to being its friends are really its enemies; that they cannot further be trusted with the interests of the people as a whole. They now see that the tariff schedule on sugar was fixed by the President of the Sugar Trust; that the schedule on wool was fixed by the President of the Wool Trust, and they are now determined to take the situation in their own hands.

As the instrument to effect this readjustment, Gov. Wilson has offered to devote his services. He is by nature as resourceful as he is conservative. As Governor of New Jersey he has shown administrative and constructive abilities of a high order. As a friend of humanity he stands with clean hands and a pure heart. To such a man the Nation turns with confidence that he will do something, and that the problems which oppress us will be treated in a spirit of justice and wisdom.

§One out when winning run was scored.

Two-base hits—Northen, Snodgrass, Wheat, Murray. Home run—Northen. Sacrifice hit—Merkle. Stolen bases—Daubert, 2; Cutshaw, 2. First base on errors—New York, 1; Brooklyn, 1. Left on bases—New York, 9; Brooklyn, 8. Double play—Fletcher and Merkle. Struck out—By Ragon, 3; by Tesreau, 3. Bases on balls—Off Ragon, 1; off Tesreau, 6. Hit by pitcher—By Ragon (Becker;) by Tesreau (Northen, Ragon.) Hits—Off Ragon, 7 in eight innings (at bat 30;) off Rucker, 3 in one inning at bat 5.) Umpires—Messrs. Klem and Orth. Time of game—One hour and fifty-two minutes.

Brooklyn almost beat the Giants at the Polo Grounds yesterday. The Dodgers had the game won in the first half of the ninth inning and then the defense crumbled like a piece of tissue paper and New York injected just enough batting to nose in a winner by a score of 4 to 3.

Patrick Don Carlos Ragon, the Spanish-Celt, pitched a better game than the mastadonic Tesreau, for Jeff was as wild as a Patagonian. Ragon had fine control and prevented the Giants from hitting the ball profusely. In the ninth inning, with two runners on the sacks and two out, Manager Bill Dahlen subtracted Ragon from the game to let Tex Erwin bat. Tex got a pass and filled the bases. The huge Ozark bear hunter was as nervous as a débutante and after getting two strikes on Moran he gave him four balls and Cutshaw was pushed over the plate with the run which put Brooklyn in the lead 3 to 2.

Nap Rucker was hailed from the warming-up alley to hurl the ninth inning. Honestly, it gave the Brooklyn fans heartaches to sit still and watch the support which these Brooklyns gave Rucker. They supported Ragon well, but when the star southpaw took up the firing duty the Brooklyn team seemed stricken with palsy.

Chief Meyers was the first man up in the ninth inning for New York and he hit a ball a mile high back of second between centre and right fields. The fly should have been easy for either Moran or Northen. They both ran in for it and Cutshaw at second ran back for the ball, howling at the top of his voice that he had it, when he didn't at all. There was a mix-up, of course, and the ball dropped safely between the three players. It isn't nice to call names, but that's no way to treat a pitcher like Rucker. Devore went to first to run for Meyers. Art Fletcher then banged a single to centre, sending Devore to second. Shafer went in to bat for Tesreau, and Kirkpatrick, playing third base, scooped up a grounder and tossed him out at first base. Kirkpatrick might have rushed back to third and forced Devore at that station, which would have been a more opportune play.

Then came Brooklyn's colossal error. Snodgrass rolled an easy grounder to Kirkpatrick, who made an accurate toss to Otto Miller at the plate to get Devore. Joshua was out easily, but Miller dropped the ball and the score was tied. Larry Doyle then whaled a grounder against the first sack and the ball bounded into right field, sending Fletcher home with the winning run.

Thus did Brooklyn let a victory flitter away from them after they had it on ice.

It was a good thing for the Giants that they won the game, because the Cubs won from St. Louis, and to a casual observer on the outside New York can't afford to lose many games these days if they want to annex the National League muslin again.

A crowd of about 8,000 greeted the return of the Giants, who are home to make the last stand for the pennant. If they can hold up under the attack of the visiting brethren between now and Oct. 5 the flag will stay right here in town. There were as many Dodger rooters at work yesterday as Giant shouters, and it looked bad for the pennant chasers most of the journey.

The Giants are still in a batting slump, and if it had depended on their hitting yesterday they would not have won. Manager McGraw looks for a brace in this department of the game soon, for the Giants have one of the hardest weeks of the season ahead of them next week, when they have to play ten games in six days in Boston and Philadelphia.

Brooklyn dropped a torpedo in the Giants' camp in the first inning. Tesreau couldn't find the plate and Moran walked. Hub Northen rudely plastered his bat against one of Tesreau's speediest shoots and the bulb went flying into the upper tier of the right-field grand stand for a home run. The ball bounded out again, but it was a homer just the same, and the Brooklyn bugs made considerable noise when the two runs crossed the pan.

Smith was tossed out by Herzog and Daubert walked. He stole second. Wheat's bouncer was too hot for Tesreau, and Zack was safe at first, while Daubert went to third. Cutshaw flied to Murray, and then Weat and Daubert attempted a double steal and the Dodger first baseman was nipped at the plate. That lead of Brooklyn's made the Giants feel uncomfortable.

In the third inning, with one out, Northen again pummeled the ball to the right-field wall and the sphere bounded back and hit John T. Brush's limousine. Any player who can hit the auto gets a two-bagger. Smith lifted a fly to Snodgrass and "Snow" dropped it. Northen foolishly tried to go to third base, and Snodgrass threw him out to Herzog, thereby killing a large Brooklyn chance.

Chief Meyers attracted much attention in the fourth inning, for it was his timely wallop that scored two runs and put the Giants on even terms with their enemies. Becker went to first base when Ragon hit him with the ball. Kirkpatrick took Smith's place at third for Brooklyn and his first chance was Murray's grounder. The new player fumbled the ball and "Red" was safe. Merkle skied to left field. Herzog then beat out a bunt, filling the bases. Meyers propelled the ball to left for a single, scoring Becker and Murray, and Fletcher flied to Daubert.

The Giants threatened in the sixth inning, when Murray doubled to left, and went to third on Merkle's sacrifice. Herzog rolled a grounder to Fisher, who tossed the ball down to get Murray going home. Murray was down between third base and the plate, Fisher getting there and making a fine one-handed catch of Kirkpatrick's high throw, after which he slapped the ball on Murray for an out.

In the first half of the ninth inning Zack Wheat singled to centre and Cutshaw forced him at second. Cutshaw stole second and third bases, because Meyers wasn't throwing as accurately as he usually does. Fisher struck out and Miller walked. Erwin, batting for Ragon, also walked, filling the bases. Tesreau was unable to get back to earth and walked Moran, forcing Cutshaw in with the count which put the Dodgers in the lead. Tesreau tossed out Northen at first base and ended the inning.

With Nap Rucker pitching in the ninth, Meyers lifted a fly to centre, which fell safe because too many Brooklyn players wanted to catch the fly. Devore ran for Meyers. Fletcher hit a liner to centre which Moran almost got. As it was, a quick throw might have gotten Devore at second base.

Shafer, batting for Tesreau, went out at first and the runners advanced a base. Snodgrass hopped a bouncer at Fisher, who threw home to halt Devore. Miller dropped the ball and the score was tied. Then Doyle unearthed a safe crack which bounded off first bast, and Fletcher rushed over the plate with the winning run.

Tubing Over to a Lively Town.

Brooklyn Navy Yard sailors picked the "under dog" and rooted for the Superbas. They planted their vocal batteries back of the Brooklyns' bench and fired them at the enemy frequently.

Brooklyn used to be only the place where they planted the other end of a bridge, but now suddenly it becomes the home of a dangerous ball club.

The loudest rooter was an Irish terrier puppy from Brooklyn. The dog barked every time Brooklyn was at the bat. It was a wise enough dog to be silent in the ninth inning.

Herzog felt as sore as a jumping toothache in the eighth inning, when he was called out on strikes, and did so much talking that Umpire Klem dared him to say one more word, and he would send him back to Maryland. Herzog shut up.

Fletcher ripped off the spectacular play of the game when he nabbed Ragon's grounder back of second with one hand and threw the pitcher out at first base in the second inning.

Manager Bill Dahlen has reformed. He didn't kick loud enough at anything yesterday to be exiled to the clubhouse.

Fisher at shortstop is a big improvement over the players who have been booting balls in that territory for Brooklyn all season.

New York has fallen off in batting and baserunning. It will be quite necessary to recover in both departments to land the streamer.

Northern backed himself against the wall in right field to get Doyle's flier in the third inning. The catch robbed Larry of an extra-base smash and deeply disappointed Meyers and Snodgrass, who were ready to rush home.

Batting Bee In Sixth and Seventh Innings Defeats St. Louis.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Chicago bunched hits to-day off Harmon, after St. Louis had taken the lead, and won out, 10 to 6. Schulte made a home run in the first inning, after which Harmon pitched effectively until a batting bee of the locals was started in the fifth inning. It continued throughout the next two innings, netting enough runs to win.

Errors by Chicago and opportune hitting by St. Louis gave the visitors their score. The batting of Magee and W. Smith featured. The score:

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 29.—A lively clatter of Senatorial war clubs was heard in the seventh inning when three hits in succession beat the Yankees out of a well-played ball game here this afternoon by 2 to 1.

Eighteen-year-old Joe Engle hooked up with Schoolmaster Fisher in pitching. The Washington youngster was hit the harder, but was favored with the lucky breaks and was also steadier in the pinches. Engel is a protégé of Mike Thompson, the well-known football referee, and in downing the New Yorkers he earned his first big league victory extending over the nine-inning route.

Ray Fisher held the Senators to five hits. Both Fisher and Engel were backed up by errorless support, which was remarkable on account of the soggy turf due to early morning showers.

It was a lucky hunch that caused Griffith to give his club another slight shaking up. Laporte held down second base in place of Morgan, and it was Laporte's healthy wallop in the seventh inning that paved the way to the big end of the local score. The Yankees looked something like a major league club to-day in contrast to their appearance here last month.

Jack Lelivelt, the former Senator, who played centre, and Tommy McMillan at short seem to have added a lot of strength. Lelivelt got in one of his valuable hits and McMillan played a strong game in the short field.

In only three innings did the Senators get men on the bases. A couple of safe blows behind a base on balls in the second failed to bring forth fruit. In the sixth inning Engel led off with a walk, but could not reach second base, all of which shows that Mr. Fisher had something on the ball.

The seventh Washington frame saw the rout of the Yankees. Gandil ushered in proceedings with a pop fly to Hal Chase. Laporte brought the crowd to its feet with a double along the left field foul line. Fisher became rattled and uncorked a wild pitch. Laporte pulled up at third base. Kenworthy shot a single to centre, scoring Laporte, and the youngster followed this with a steal of second base, going to third when McBride's grounder was too hot for McMillan to handle properly. Ainsmith sent a slow roller to McMillan and was thrown out at first base, Kenworthy crossing the plate on the play. Engel ended the frolic by taking three swings.

Wolverton has put a lot of fight into the Yankee team and several times during the game trouble was scented. The visitors had more chances to score than did the Senators, but a slip-up in the sixth inning and a sensational stop in the ninth by Foster snuffed out two well-laid plots for runs.

With Hal Chase out of the way in the fourth inning Daniels singled to left and stole second, scoring on a sizzling grounder which blasted its way through McBride's paws.

Luck was decidedly with the home folks in the sixth inning, when Daniels was on second and Lelivelt smashed to left for a clean single. Daniels slipped on the wet turf half way to the plate, measuring his length, and when he finally scrambled to his feet Ainsmith was waiting for him with the ball. But for Daniels's mishap the score would have been tied and the battle waged into extra innings.

With one gone in the visitors' ninth inning Paddock doubled to the left field score board and reached third on Lelivelt's out. Simmons drove a ball at Foster that stung his hand. It looked like a sure single, and how Foster was able to freeze on to the pellet nobody knows, but he did, and a lightning throw over to Gandil ended the game.

To-morrow Griffith will work Pitcher Bob Groom, who will be opposed by Russell Ford.

Boston Increases Its Lead.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Boston added another victory and increased its lead in the penant race to-day at the expense of the Athletics and Eddie Plank. The score was 8 to 1. Ray Collins pitched a shut-out game, assisted principally by Speaker's spectacular fielding, until the ninth inning, when errors by Yerkes and Hooper put Philadelphia in a position to score its only run on McInnis's double. Plank's delivery was easy for the Red Sox. Brown, who succeeded Plank in the fifth inning, allowed only two hits. Plank was forced out of the game after the fourth inning, when Boston tallied four runs on hard hitting and a pass. The score:

Boston Fans Coming Here.

The double header between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox at the Polo Grounds on Labor Day afternoon will begin at 2 o'clock. A telegram was received from President McAleer of the Boston club yesterday requesting the reservation of 250 seats in the grand stand directly behind the Boston bench for the accommodation of Boston fans who will come here on the Sound steamers next Sunday night. The sale of reserved and box seats began at the offices of the New York National League Club, in the Fifth Avenue Building, yesterday morning and will continue to-day. Manager Stahl has figured it out that his best pitcher, Joe Wood, who has won fourteen straight games, will occupy the box in one of the games, while either Roy Collins or Buck O'Brien will officiate in the other. In all probability Wolverton will use Russell Ford and either McConnell or Warhop in the box for New York.

EBBETS TAKES IN PARTNERS.

McKeever Brothers Buy Shares in Brooklyn Baseball Club.

Announcement was made yesterday that ex-Alderman Stephen W. McKeever and Edward J. McKeever, Brooklyn contractors, had purchased stock in the Brooklyn Baseball Club. President Ebbets needed capital to complete the new Ebbets Field, and the McKeevers joined with him in his venture.

The amount of their investment was not disclosed, but at an election of officers Edward J. McKeever was made Vice President. Charles H. Ebbets, Sr. retains control and continues as President, with Henry Medicus Treasurer and C. H. Ebbets, Jr. Secretary.

The new park will not be opened until about Oct. 1, if at all this year. A recent strike of the ironworkers caused a delay in delivery of the material for the grand stand.

ESTHER W. IN FRONT.

Pennsylvania Trotter Wins Massachusetts Stake at Readville.

READVILLE, Mass., Aug. 29.—Esther W. won the classic Massachusetts Stake for trotters, which were eligible to the 2:12 class last Spring, in the Grand Circuit meeting here to-day, but not until the event had gone five heats, "Long Shot" Cox driving the Pennsylvania mare to the front in the last three heats.

Baden, the biggest money winning trotter of the year, was picked to carry away the Massachusetts, which was established in 1886, and has been won by the greatest horses on the American turf, but Baden was forced into third place. Little was thought of the chances of Dorsh Medium, which finished second. Oakdale, which finished fourth, was picked before the race as the real opponent of Baden. Ed Geers, however, with fast brushes through the homestretch, carried away the first couple of heats with Dorsh Medium, securing the second by so narrow a margin over Baden that only the judges could determine the winner.

After the first two heats, when Esther W. broke badly, Cox succeeded in getting her away in the lead and made every post a winning one. Baden was hard driven in the homestretch of each of the last four heats, but was unable to get placed better than third.

Cox won his second victory of the day by taking the 2:07 race with Baron A., losing the initial heat by waiting too long before making his drive. The summary:

PETER PAN V. DOES FAST TIME TRIAL

Averages Forty Miles in Huntington Test—Blackton May Be Ineligible.

James Simpson's Peter Pan V. and Thomas F. Chesebrough's Restless II. were the only redeeming features of the motor boat trials yesterday in Huntington Harbor. These two hydroplanes that are trying for the honor of defending the Harmsworth Cup against the British challengers, Maple Leaf IV. and Mona, were the only ones of the eight candidates that showed anything tangible. While some of the other boats were on the course, mishaps of one kind and another kept them from registering.

The committee had all but given up hope of seeing a boat go around the course even once when Peter Pan V. was brought out, after an afternoon's work devoted to ridding her of flooded carburetters, and she made three rounds of the course, of seven and one-half miles each, doing for each circuit 13:07, 12:49, and 12:47, respectively, with an average speed of 34.86 knots, or 40.08 statute miles, per hour. Restless II. completed the full course in 1:06:00, with an average of 27.55 knots, or 31.55 miles.

The latter, with Saracen, Minnow, and Tech, Jr., had formed a quartet which had been announced as triers, and it was expected by the committee in charge that the tests would be such as to warrant more positive assurance in the hope that the trophy would remain in this country.

After each of the nominees had "left the post" in a manner which promised a real contest, a multitude of troubles almost immediately followed, such as beset boats of the type, and caused many disappointments, which almost concluded in the feeling that, aside from Ankle Deep, Uncle Sam would have no representative.

At the time named for the start of the tests—2 o'clock—Huntington Harbor was never in better condition for such an event. The bay was as smooth as a millpond, and there was an almost absolute dearth of wind. Delays were made necessary by the non-appearance of several of the craft named for the fray, and, although Restless II. and Saracen were ready, tied up to the committee boat from the appointed hour, the committee held the tests off, as far as an actual start was concerned, until 3:45 P. M., when Restless II., Minnow, and Tech, Jr., were sent on their respective journeys. Saracen's clutches would not work at about this time, and she did not move when the question was asked, and drifted about for nearly an hour before the trouble could be remedied and a start made.

When the first-named trio were sent away the weather conditions had changed in no uncertain manner. The wind kicked up quite a sea, with the result that when the boats really got under power they were tossed about like cockleshells.

None of the boats reached the first turn before something happened to each. The cylinders of Restless would not operate, and of the twenty-four with which she is equipped only six did duty. Therefore, Chesebrough turned about and lay in between the committee boat and shore, trying to get his plane in good working order.

Saracen had gone away from the start throwing water from her steps like a spouting whale, but before she got to Eaton's Point she hove to, out of commission, while Tech, Jr., soon broke her gasoline feed pipe leading into the carburetter, and was disabled for an hour and a half.

Tech, Jr., is the entry of Col. T. Coleman du Pont of Wilmington, Del., and is 19 feet 11½ inches long. She is equipped with a Sterling engine with eight cylinders, capable of 150 horse power. After she got within hailing distance of the committee her helmsman was ordered to report for a trial this morning at 11 o'clock, when it is expected that the boats of the Reliance fleet, which were seen everywhere on the bay but on the course, but also be commanded to get out and accept the same conditions as the other entrants.

It developed yesterday that J. Stuart Blackton, who was expected to be helmsman for one of the Reliances in the real race for the trophy, which begins to-morrow, in case one of them is selected, is ineligible because of the fact that he is an Englishman, who, although he has been here twenty-six years, has never become naturalized.

A cablegram was sent to Lord Northcliffe, the donor of the trophy, asking if this objection could not be waived in the case of Mr. Blackton, who has been an ardent follower of the sport and who last year drove Viva, one of his own boats, in the international contest. Up to last night no reply had been received.

The action of the committee in asking C. N. Mankowski, owner of the Ankle Deep, which made such a fine showing in the test of Wednesday, to come to the official boat and witness the races, gave an insight that the Lake George craft would be one of the three defenders. The summary:

Restless, T. F. Chesebrough 5:33:07 6:39:07 1:06:00
Saracen, L. J. Hess....3:54:00 Disabled.
Minnow, W. E. Dodge..3:45:15 Disabled.
Tech, Jr., T. C. du Pont..3:45:30 Disabled.

Elapsed time of rounds—Peter Pan, V., three rounds, 22½ miles, 13:07, 12:49, 12:47; Restless, full course, four rounds, 30 miles, at average of 16:30 each round; Peter Pan, V., average speed, 34.86 knots, 40.08 miles; Restless, average speed, 27.55 knots, 31.68 miles.

FAST TRIALS AT ELGIN.

Teddy Tetzlaff Drives Over 8½-Mile Auto Course in 6:47.

ELGIN, Ill., Aug. 29.—All previous records for the Elgin automobile race course of 8½ miles, both in trial runs and races, were broken to-day, when Teddy Tetzlaff, in limbering up his Fiat car, set a mark of 6:47. The previous record was 6:55. All the drivers who made trials to-day pronounced the course in excellent condition for the opening race to-morrow.

Three contests are carded for to-morrow. Four cars will race for the Illinois trophy over a 203-mile course. Gil Anderson and Charlie Merz will drive Stutz cars, Ralph Mulford a Rayfield, and Neil Whalen the National with which he won last year's Engin National trophy.

The Aurora trophy, 152½ miles, has six entries. Hugh Hughes, Spencer Wishart, and Edward Pullen will drive Mercers, Mortimer Roberts a Mason, and Harry Hastings and N. Wilbur, Fol cars.

There also will be a 96-mile race for light cars for a trophy given by Manager Fred W. Jencks of the Elgin Road Race Association.

SWIMMING RACES IN POOL.

Frerichs and Reilly Share Honors at Steeplechase, Coney Island.

R. Frerichs, the schoolboy champion of Commercial High School, and J. Reilly of the New York Athletic Club divided honors last night at the aquatic sports of the Glenmore A. C. in the Steeplechase Pool, Coney Island. The schoolboy swimmer carried off the honors in the ninety-yard handicap swim with a mark 7 seconds, with E. H. Wood, unattached, 16 seconds, second, and Reilly, who started from the mark of 4 seconds, third. The race was a close one all the way, the victor winning by only inches.

Reilly captured the obstacle race at the same distance, Frerichs getting third place, and Joseph Graham of the home club second. The summaries:

90-Yard Swim, Handicap.—Won by R. Frerichs, Commercial High School, (7 seconds;) E. H. Wood, unattached, (16 seconds,) second; J. Reilly, New York A. C., (4 seconds,) third. Time—1:01 4-5.

90-Yard Obstacle Swim.—Won by J. Reilly, New York A. C.; Joseph Graham, Glenmore A. C., second; R. Frerichs, Commercial High School, third. Time—1:08.

Canoe-Tilting Contest.—B. King, New York A. C., and R. H. Krapp, New York A. C., defeated E. Kelly, New York A. C., and H. E. Deloiselle, New York A. C. Time—3:00.

Ladies' Doubles at Bar Harbor Ended.

SETS NEW GOLF RECORD.

Elmer W. Loving Plays Van Cortlandt Course in 66 Strokes.

Both the professional and amateur records for the Van Cortlandt links went by the board yesterday afternoon when Elmer W. Loving, playing against his clubmate, E. L. Larkin of the New York Golf Club, won his match by 7 up and 6 to play and went around in 66 strokes. Loving's figures are four strokes better than the previous amateur record of 70, equaled on Wednesday by W. D. Patterson of the Scottish-American Golf Club, and is two strokes better than the professional record of 68 held by Gil Nicholls of Wilmington. Only once during the round was Loving over fours, and seven threes graced his card. He went out in thirty-three strokes, and back in the same figures. His card follows:

Out ....4 4 3 3 4 4 4 3 4—33
In ....4 3 5 3 4 3 4 4 3—33—66

The tournament of the New York Golf Club, in which the record was made, reached the semi-final stage yesterday, and Loving's opponent to-day will be W. A. Purcell, another of the home talent. In the upper half of the bracket D. P. Healey, unattached, will play J. A. Boot of the home club.

Loving has had no difficulty during the tournament, winning each of his matches by comfortable margins. His first opponent yesterday was Patterson, who is President of the Scottish-American Golf Club, and had the latter been stronger on the greens he might have given the fast-going youth a rub for the privilege of advancing. Notably on the thirteenth and fourteenth greens were Patterson's efforts of no avail, for he was an inch short of the cup at the former for a three, which would have halved the hole. It was here that Loving became dormie five. A poor recovery from the rough at the next permitted the hole to be halved and made Loving a winner. The summary:

First Division.—Second Round—Theodore Werner, unattached, beat F. D. Brengel, New York Golf, 1 up; D. P. Healey, unattached, beat H. G. Rice, Newspaper Club, 6 up and 5 to play; C. W. Brocker, unattached, beat Donald Carr, North Jersey, 8 up and 6 to play; J. A. Boot, New York Golf, beat A. H. Harrison, New York Golf, 2 up and 1 to play; F. M. Gould, New York Golf, beat Dr. E. M. Mendel, New York Golf, 4 up and 3 to play; W. A. Purcell, New York Golf, beat Paul Haber, Scottish-American, 3 up and 2 to play; E. W. Loving, New York Golf, beat W. D. Patterson, Scottish-American, 5 up and 4 to play, and E. L. Larkin, New York Golf, beat F. K. Flaugh, Forest Hill, 1 up, (21 holes.)

Third Round—Healey beat Werner, 2 up and 1 to play; Boot beat Brocker, 1 up; Purcell beat Gould, 1 up, and Loving beat Larkin, 7 up and 6 to play.

Consolation Cup.—First Round—Rice beat Brengel, 2 up and 1 to play; Harrison beat Carr, 4 up and 2 to play; Haber beat Mendel, 1 up, and Patterson beat Flaugh, 3 up and 2 to play.

STARS FOR OLYMPIC GOLF.

Western and Eastern Cracks to Play at Chicago To-morrow.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Seven teams of America's foremost golfers who will play in the National amateur championship, beginning Monday, are entered for the eighth annual Olympic Cup competition, which will be played at the Chicago Golf Club on Saturday. The Olympic Cup is for thirty-six holes, medal play, total score of the team of four to count.

The Western Golf Association team (Charles Evans, Jr., Western champion; W. K. Wood, Ned Sawyer, and Kenneth Edwards) and the Metropolitan Golf Association team (Jerome Travers, W. J. Travis, Oswald Kirkby, and Fred Herreshoff) comprise some of the leading contenders for the National championship; and the play will do much to put them on edge for next week's struggle. Other teams entered are the Intercollegiate team, the Trans-Mississippi Golf Association team, the teams representing Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts.

Harold H. Hilton, amateur champion, and Norman Hunter, the British representative entered for the National, put in several hours to-day practicing. They did not play around and turned in no scores. Other prominent players practicing to-day were Harry G. Legg, O. Kirkby, trans-Mississippi champion; Evans, Wood, Mason Phelps, Robert P. Hunter, and Gilbert Waldo, the Connecticut champion.

SMITH WINS OPEN GOLF.

California Professional Victor in Western Championship.

FLOSSMOOR, Ill., Aug. 29.—Coming up from behind, MacDonald Smith, professional of Del Monte, Cal., who held third place at the end of the third eighteen-hole round this forenoon with a score of 226 for fifty-four holes, captured the Western open golf championship this afternoon at the Idlewild Country Club with a medal score of 299 for seventy-two holes.

Alec Robertson of Rock Island, Ill., who had led until the final round, was second with 302. Robertson was unnerved by the large gallery that followed him and lost his stride.

J. J. McDonald of Atlantic City, N. J., was third with 303. Tom McNamara of Boston and Walter Fogarvue of Glencoe, Ill., tied for fourth place with 305.

Handicap Golf at Stockbridge.

Special to The New York Times.

STOCKBRIDGE, Mass., Aug. 29.—The event in to-day's programme in the annual tournament of the Stockbridge Golf Club was the handicap scores to be selected from the best thirty-six holes out of three rounds. The handicap given was two-thirds the listed handicap. S. H. Lawton held the lowest net score of 64, and there were several contestants who were tied for second with 67. To-morrow morning Frank Peebles of the Annandale Country Club of Pasadena, Cal., and James Mayden of the Nassau Country Club, Long Island, will play a professional eighteen-hole match. To-day's scores:

F. Lamond, 92, 11—81; A. W. Knight, 82, 8—74; D. S. Low, 95, 12—83; S. H. Lawton, 70, 6—64; E. W. Rogers, 84, 11—73; J. H. Choate, Jr., 80, 7—73; H. N. French, 78, 6—72; T. A. E. Harris, 73, 5—68; W. P. Eaton, 87, 11—76; B. Caldwell, 87, 12—75; D. M. Cole, 76, 5—71; L. J. Hazelton, 78, 7—71; E. L. Scofield, Jr., 75, 4—71; C. J. Bellamy, 81, 5—76; S. G. Crabbe, 83, 8—75; P. Blagden, 78, 11—67; H. Stetson, 91, 12—79; J. M. Moose, 96, 13—83; E. P. Winters, 97, 15—82; C. A. Bowles, Jr., 72, 4—68; E. H. Kendall, 75, 5—70; D. Woodward, 80, 9—71; H. P. Stetson, 80, 7—73; S. Frothingham, 74, 6—68; D. T. Dana, 72, 5—67; L. A. Ripley, 81, 10—71; G. T. Brown, 70, 3—67; W. S. Leeds, 73, 6—67; J. H. Davies, 81, 10—71; A. S. Ridley, 82, 9—73; G. D. Hapgood, 78, 9—69; C. C. Brown, 86, 9—77; J. Minaldi, 85, 12—73.

Special to The New York Times.

WESTBURY, L. I., Aug. 29.—There was a small attendance to-day on the polo field during the first half of the game between the Blues and Whites, it being called at 3:30 o'clock and the last half at 5 o'clock. Friends of the players, including Mrs. F. S. Von Stade, Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. J. Watson Webb, Mrs. H. Hadden, Mrs. H. Phipps, and Mrs. S. A. W. Baltazzi, made up an interested group of spectators. The line-up:

Blues.—F. S. Von Stade, J. W. Webb, E. W. Hopping, and S. A. W. Baltazzi. Whites.—Harold Phipps, William Lambert, Seward Carey, and Russell Grace.

Second Half.—Blues—Joseph Grace, E. S. Cowdin, H. Hadden, and H. Phipps. Whites—J. W. Webb, R. Bacon, Jr., W. D. Straight, and E. S. Cowdin, Jr.

Score, 6 to 5, in favor of the Blues.

MERCIER OUTCLASSES MOTOR CYCLE FIELD

Brooklyn Rider Defeats Hamilton and Eckel in Three-Mile Race at Brighton.

Ferdie Mercier of Brooklyn outclassed the field in the three-cornered professional race at the Brighton Beach Stadium-Motordrome last night, leading his competitors across the finish line in each of the three heats. In the first heat Mercier was hard pressed at the finish by Harry Hamilton of Newark, but in the second heat he finished fifty yards in front. The last heat was the prettiest race of the series, the three contestants being on even terms practically all the way. Mercier kept a slight distance ahead and won in 2:16 2-5.

The scheduled race against time by Eddie Hasha, holder of the mile record of 37 1-5 seconds, was not attempted. Owing to valve trouble in the motor cycle, Hasha decided it was useless to attempt the task.

George Lochnar of Syracuse was the winner of the five-mile professional event. He won the second and third heats after getting second place in the first heat, which was won by Billy Shields, also of Syracuse. Shields got second place in the point score, and Billy Wray of Brooklyn was third.

Eddie Hasha, starting from scratch in the six-mile handicap, overtook the remaining field and won with plenty to spare. The other contestants, Lochnar, Ayrault, Hamilton, Eckel, and Mercier, all had handicaps of one lap and 200 yards, a total of 787 yards. Ayrault finished second and Mercier third. The winner's time was 4:24 4-5. The summary:

Three-Cornered Match Race, Distance Three Miles.—First Heat—Won by Ferdie Mercier, Brooklyn; Harry Hamilton, Newark, N. J., second; Earl Eckel, Washington, N. J., third. Time—2:14. Second Heat—Won by Mercier; Hamilton, second; Eckel, third. Time—2:13 3-5. Third Heat—Won by Mercier; Eckel, second; Hamilton, third. Time—2:16 4-5.

Five-Mile Race, Professional.—First Heat—Won by Billy Shields, Syracuse; George Lochnar, Syracuse, second; Billy Wray, Brooklyn, third. Time—4:02 3-5. Second Heat—Won by Lochnar; Wray, second; Herbert Ayrault, Newark, N. J., third. Time—3:44. Third Heat—Won by Lochnar; Ayrault, second; Shields, third. Time—3:44 4-5. Point score: Lochnar first, Shields second, Wray third.

Three-Mile Match Race, Amateur.—First Heat—Won by Jimmy French, Brooklyn; Ira Vail, Brooklyn, second. Time—2:18. Second Heat—Won by Vail; French, second. Time—2:14 3-5. Third Heat—Won by Vail; French, second. Time—2:14 2-5.

Six-Mile Handicap.—Won by Eddie Hasha, Newark, (scratch;) Herbert Ayrault, Newark, (787 yards,) second; Ferdie Mercier, Brooklyn, (787 yards,) third. Time—4:24 4-5.

International Motor Cycle Match.

The first international match of the season takes place at the Stadium-Motordrome at Brighton Beach to-morrow night, when Arthur Chapple of New York competes against Jimmy Baxter of London, England, in the feature event of the card over the three-mile distance. Baxter arrived in New York yesterday, and is working out to-day for the battle. His reputation on the other side is the best of any foreign pilot. Chapple, on account of his coming match with Hasha, is not taking any chances, and he will be seen at his best.

Sunday night Baxter plays a return date with Eddie Hasha of Dallas. On Labor Day night Chapple rides from scratch in the Suburban Handicap, the feature event of the programme. This will be the champion's last ride prior to taking on Eddie Hasha for a series of matches, the first of which will be held Tuesday night, best two heats out of three, over the three-mile distance.

WILL ROW FOR $500 CUP.

William Haines and Frank B. Greer to Revive Professional Sculling.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—A step toward reviving professional sculling in the United States was taken to-day when forfeits of $500 a side were posted for a match between William Haines, formerly a well-known oarsman in England and now coach of the Union Boat Club of this city, and Frank B. Greer of Boston, former amateur champion of the United States. The winner of the race will claim the professional sculling championship of the United States.

The match will be rowed in the Charles River basin in Boston on Labor Day in connection with the New England amateur rowing regatta. The City of Boston has offered a $500 cup for the event and Courtney Guild of the Boston Athletic Association has been chosen referee.

Miss Painter in Golf Final.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Miss Caroline Painter of Midlothian Club, Chicago, title holder, and Miss Ruth Chisholm of Euclid Club, Cleveland, will play to-morrow on the Hinsdale golf links in the final round for the Women's Western Golf Association championship. Miss Painter to-day easily defeated Miss Inez Clark of Waukegan, 5 up and 4 to play, and Miss Chisholm defeated Miss Myra Helmar of Midlothian, 4 and 3. Miss Chisholm to-day came within one stroke of equaling the course record, making an 89.

PROGRESS IN OHIO.

Eastward the star of "progress" makes its way. Ohio is the first State which Western reformers call Eastern to strike terror to Wall Street by improving upon the Wisconsin idea of the rule of the people. Wisconsin itself never won such a victory for the people as would be Ohio's adoption of the forty-two Constitutional amendments offered in one enormous bolus to the bewildered electorate. Several of them are several pages of fine print in length. The text and the explanation form a pamphlet which is almost a book. It is a human certainty that if the amendments are adopted at all they will be adopted unread, and by a minority of the voters. Observers of opinion in Ohio say that the importance of the issues is not understood, and that there are no signs to show that the voters have made up their minds despite the frantic appeals of the reformers and the protests of those who fear that reform of the proposed sorts comes too high to be afforded by those who must pay the bills.

There are good reasons why the electorate is confused, apart from the fact that it must answer forty-two questions at once. For example, the twoscore amendments are not grouped in such a manner that amendments may be sensed in their relation to one another. There are eight amendments modifying court procedure, and some which are good or not bad in themselves are less desirable if others also are adopted. It would not seem wise both to decrease the power of the judiciary in the regulation of trials and to authorize a verdict by nine jurors. If verdicts are to be more easily reached the proceedings leading to the verdict should be more carefully considered and regulated by judicial control. There are five amendments obviously in the interest of labor to such an extent that they are opposed to the interests of all not falling within the privileged class, but the five also are offered separately arranged, so that the voters generally are not likely, as they vote on one labor proposal after another, to perceive what a cumulation of privileges they are approving.

Many are likely to vote for "reform" of the jury system, although they may not know what the change proposed is, nor whether it is such a change as the voter would consider a reform if he knew what it was. The ballot on damages in case of "wrongful" death begs the question. Of course damages should be regulated in the case of wrongful death, but it may be that some cases of accidental death are not wrongful. Everybody will vote for the "welfare" of employés, but welfare in this case covers many sorts of economic sin over which true charity would cast its cloak and avert its approval.

These faults of form are serious because they will win votes for defects of substance. The text of the proposals is not on the ballot, and, if the amendments are adopted, they will go into effect before the publication of the debates of the convention which prepared them, and prepared the misleading titles. Advertisements are the only official means of informing the voters, and the text is not advertised. But the President of the convention and others in authority are declaring that there is such a presumption in favor of the amendments that they ought to be swallowed blindly and as a whole. On the other hand, critics of the amendments are asserting that the only safe way is to vote against all, although some are admittedly good. Discrimination is only possible with leisure and information, and neither is possible this year. There are tax amendments which affect both public and private credit, and which taint all investments in Ohio. There are proposals allowing each city to govern itself at will, destroying uniformity of credit, and making each city's financial condition a matter for specific study. There is an authorization of $50,000,000 of State bonds under conditions which if also approved will deprive them of half their purchasing power through the establishment of a minimum wage, a short day, and taxation of the bonds. The latter is part of a scheme of taxation which includes both the income tax and the tax on personal property, a hardship which even Wisconsin has never dreamed of nor dared to impose.

Necessarily this summary hits only the high spots, and but few of them. What may come after the adoption of this Constitution is indicated by provisions for direct legislation by 3, 6, or 10 per cent. of the electorate and by the sort of wildcat proposals rejected even by the convention which prepared the forty-two issues to be decided on Tuesday. It requires only a majority of the voters who vote to adopt the Constitution. The rule of the people under the Constitution may mean the rule of 10 per cent. of the people. The vote for the election of the Constitutional delegates was small, and the vote on their work promises to be smaller yet, and even worse advised. The people of Ohio know whether or not they have prospered under the Constitution which they are asked to reject for proposals that throw experience into the discard, and which are wilder than those which the last Congress rejected, although dominated by trades unions. No man in Ohio ought to vote yes unless he knows what he is voting about. If in doubt he ought to vote no. This will not be the last chance to vote. The proposals with merit will be offered again.

ANOTHER AMERICAN CARDINAL.

If the report is true, and it is reasonably well authenticated, that the Pope will soon confer a Cardinal's hat on Mgr. Kennedy, rector of the American College in Rome, there will be a fourth American Cardinal, or a fifth if Mgr. Falconio is to be accounted an American, as he was by some persons at the time of his appointment. Father Kennedy is in every way qualified for the high place which is said to be ready for him, to be an American Cardinal resident in Rome, and to represent there the interests of a branch of the ancient Church. At the next Conclave to elect a head of the Church, therefore, four American prelates—Cardinals Gibbons, Farley, O'Connell, and Kennedy—will probably cast their ballots, while the direct influence upon the deliberations of the College of Cardinal Kennedy should be large. There are changes, even in the Church.

When Dr. Farley and Dr. O'Connell were elevated to the Cardinalate last year, an intimation came from Rome that another American Cardinal might be appointed this year. The natural inference was that Rome was getting ready to recognize the beneficent influence and wisdom of Archbishop Ireland. But the red hat would scarcely increase his importance among his people, and his reputation will survive without further honors from Rome.

THE NEW ORLEANS EXPERIMENT.

New Orleans, with a population of 340,000, is the largest of the American cities experimenting with the commission form of government. That experiment was decided upon by a very large majority of the city's voters at a special election on Wednesday. Municipal government in New Orleans has been expensive, inefficient, and corrupt. On a smaller scale, all the evils that affect the Government of this vast city have been discernible there. Burns detectives have lately been accumulating evidence of frauds in bridge building and paving contracts, and of gross irregularities in other departments. Public officers have been charged with membership in private corporations which receive most of the public building contracts. The citizens have been impelled to turn the rascals out, and to substitute for the old and elaborate form of government the simpler commission plan, with the initiative and referendum to serve as correctives in case wrongdoing continues.

The experiment in so large a city will be watched with great interest. There is no reason whatever why it should not be successful if the vigilance of the citizens does not relax. It all depends on the force of public opinion. There is no magic in the commission form to overcome apathy and selfishness. Any form of municipal government is serviceable when it is economically and faithfully administered, but with the commission form fewer officers are required and larger salaries may be paid. A man who receives $5,000 a year is less liable to temptation than one who gets only $1,000. But the plan will work well only while the people are so wide awake as to put in office only the men who will not succumb to temptation in any circumstances.

A HOPELESS FLIGHT.

The leader of the band in one of our fashionable hotels who went to Europe to get a little rest and escape the prevalent "Turkey Trot" has our deepest sympathy. He found that the trot had preceded him. The preposterous dance with its syncopated music is as popular now in Paris, Vienna, and Berlin as it was in New York last Winter. "Everybody's Doing It" is the favored tune on the ocean steamers. Popular dance music is more infectious than the measles and travels more quickly. What did our band leader expect? He plays that kind of music himself. Let him begin his reformatory work at home.

If he had stayed in America and sought rest at seaside and mountain resorts, he would have suffered in the same way. Everybody is doing it, all over the world. They who do not are unpopular and suffer public rebuke. At one of the restaurants in this city they used to have a band leader who never got nearer to the public taste of the twentieth century than Suppé's "Poet and Peasant" overture. He has gone now. Next Winter we shall not have so much of the "Turkey Trot" song. But we are sure to have something as bad or worse. The only way to avoid popular tunes is to keep away from the resorts of the populace.

BREAKING TREATIES.

When the violation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was under discussion in the Senate it was pointed out that we should undoubtedly be summoned to arbitrate our action, with every chance of losing. To which the ready answer of the advocates of violation was that we could decline to arbitrate on the ground that the measure relating to the Panama Canal is purely domestic, is, in fact, "our own business, and not that of any other nation," since we build the canal and shall maintain it. But we got the right to build the canal and control it only by the consent of Great Britain to surrender her rights under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, and this consent was given in return for our pledge that the vessels of all nations should use the canal on equal and fair terms. To decline to arbitrate differences arising from such a transaction is simply to repudiate the vital, essential, efficient principle of all arbitration. It tends directly to the annulment of all treaties of arbitration that we have with the various nations of the world, or, what amounts to the same thing, to the refusal to renew them when they expire.

Now we have in all twenty-five such treaties, a greater number than any other country except Brazil. They are effective in every case for five years from the time of ratification, and will expire by limitation during the years 1913 to 1915. Here is a list of the countries with which these treaties have been made:

In Europe: Switzerland, Italy, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Portugal, Spain, Netherlands, Austria-Hungary.

In America: Mexico, Peru, Salvador, Argentina, Haiti, Bolivia, Ecuador, Uruguay, Costa Rica, Chile, Brazil, Paraguay.

In the Orient: Japan, China.

There are besides these the treaties with Great Britain and France, signed last year and amended by the Senate, which would, of course, be abandoned completely if we refused to arbitrate our action regarding the canal. It will be noted that one-half of our treaties of arbitration are with the countries to the south of us, with which it is especially important that we should maintain the most friendly relations, because of the delicate questions constantly likely to arise under our Monroe Doctrine. Fortunately it will be some time before the canal will actually be open and the measure adopted by Congress be operative. Let us hope that that measure will, in time, be modified to redeem the National honor and preserve the peace-making principle of arbitration.

A CANDID ANSWER.

To a correspondent who asked for some expression of his views upon the subject of immigration, Gov. Wilson replies with entire candor and frankness in a letter which will doubtless remove the immigration issue from the campaign so far as he is concerned. Attempts have been made, both during the primary campaign and since the nominations, to do Gov. Wilson grievous political harm by the citation of extracts from his historical writings. The letter he writes disposes once for all of the charge that he entertains narrow and bigoted sentiments in respect to immigration.

He points out to his correspondent that the Democratic Party, from the very beginning, has advocated a liberal immigration policy; it opposed the alien and sedition laws of the Federalists, and advocated the removal of restrictions upon naturalization. "I feel that "it would be inconsistent with our his-"torical character as a Nation if we did "not offer a very hearty welcome to "every honest man and woman that "comes to this country to seek a per-"manent home and a new opportu-"nity," says the Governor.

Like every sensible American, whether of native or of foreign birth, Gov. Wilson sees the necessity of laws for regulation and restriction. The old doctrine so often preached by the orators, that this land is a refuge for the oppressed of all nations, and that everybody is welcome and no questions asked, has been abandoned in favor of a policy of reasonable discrimination. We welcome, as the Governor says, the honest and industrious immigrant, the capable, the self-sustaining, but it has been necessary to draw a line against the criminal, the diseased, and those who are incapable either of supporting themselves or of contributing to the support of others. Says Gov. Wilson:

> I think that every American, whether born in this country or not, must feel that there may arise from time to time conditions with regard to labor in this country, and with regard to the safeguarding of the various interests, both temporary and permanent, when regulation of one kind or another may become necessary. But these things are not inconsistent with the general policy of liberal welcome with which I myself heartily sympathize.

This is not only in accord with intelligent opinion in this country, it is in accord with the writings of Gov. Wilson from which his political opponents have quoted. It is a sufficient answer.

THE NICARAGUA INCIDENT.

The influence of the presence of American marines in Nicaragua is restoring a semblance of order. The revolution goes on, and will continue until it is determined whether President Diaz and his adherents or Gen. Mena and his followers shall control the Custom House and other sources of revenue. If the Senate had not suppressed the treaty with Nicaragua which would have given over to a representative of the United States supervision of the customs receipts Mena would never have headed a revolution against the Government. The object of all Latin-American revolutionists is to get hold of the nation's finances.

Perfectly sound treaties were offered to the Senate by President Taft and Secretary Knox under which both Honduras and Nicaragua would have been enabled to refund their debts, and by which their legally elected Governments would have been strongly protected from insurrections fomented in the United States or elsewhere. The Senate rejected or suppressed the treaties because "Wall Street interests" were supposed to be behind them. But no Senator has suggested a better plan of restoring peace to the afflicted Central American States.

President Taft's sudden withdrawal of his order for the transfer of the Tenth Infantry to Nicaragua is justified by the latest news from the seat of war. The marines serve every purpose at present. If the troops of the regular army had gone there it might have seemed more like "intervention." It may yet be necessary to send them. But what can the President do when American lives and property are endangered in a little country which cannot protect its own people? With the Panama Canal nearly ready for business, a state of disorder and lawlessness exists from our Southern boundary almost to the border of the waterway. We must have, before long, a sane and definite policy in regard to our relations with our nearest Latin-American neighbors.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Needless, Stupid, and Cruel.

Presumably the immigration officials, in deporting the young Irish girl, Mary Terrell, acted in accordance with the law—which is a good thing for officials to do. But certainly, if the facts in the case, and all the facts, were as stated by those officials—and a careful investigation made by our reporter supplied not even an excuse for doubting it—the enforcement was of the law's letter, not of its spirit, and the deportation was an act needless, stupid, and cruel, an insult to common sense, and a disgrace to the country.

Mary Terrell was sent back, not to her home in Ireland, but to Liverpool, where she has no friends and no definite prospects of employment. The reason why she was not allowed to go on to San Francisco, where she has a brother waiting to receive her, is not because she has any of the excluding diseases, not because any mental or physical defect made probable her becoming a public charge, but because she is the unmarried mother of a child now three years old. For that reason alone, and with no consideration of the circumstances which made her slip a misfortune rather than a crime or even a sin, regardless of the largely mitigating if not wholly exculpating facts that the care of this child has been undertaken by the girl's parents and that there has not been since its birth and is not now any plausible question of her desire, her determination and her ability to lead an honest life, she was tried, condemned, and deported as an "immoral woman."

One does not have to go to George Bernard Shaw for authority to declare this action of our Government a gross and brutal misuse of its undoubted right to exclude undesirable immigrants. Not one of our many religions would fail to condemn it, and it violates the instincts common to all humanity—to all deserving of the name, at least. There are a few narrow and darkened minds with no mercy or forgiveness for error when it happens to be the one this woman made, but surely the American public never intended that our immigration laws should be enforced on lines such as people like that would draw.

Mary Terrell is already on the sea and there is apparently nothing that can be done for or about her. One can only express the wish that the Commissioner of Immigration had more discretionary power or made a better use of what he has.

Foreign Letter Postage.

One of our readers, a resident of Kingston, writes to us that though he has been told that 2 cents will carry a letter to Germany, friends in Hanover have had to pay extra postage whenever a five-cent stamp was not used. The clerk at the Kingston office, it seems, only says in reply to complaints about this that "it should not be so" and "we can't understand it."

There is more that he might say if he were better informed. The situation as regards postage from the United States to Germany is complicated by the fact that there are two rates, and one or the other applies, dependent on the route over which the mail matter is sent.

By ocean transportation direct to Germany the fee is 2 cents an ounce, but letters thus stamped are dispatched, or are supposed to be dispatched, only by steamers able to land them at a German port. Letters stamped at the Postal Union rate of 5 cents are sent by the fastest steamers, and, instead of going all the way by water, are landed at the first port touched at, in England or France, and the greater speed of railway trains is utilized, in part or whole, for the rest of the journey. Whether the higher postage rate is ever demanded at German Post Offices for letters that have come by the cheaper or slower route is a question which may or may not need investigating. It doesn't seem very probable.

The matter, though not of momentous importance, is worthy of some attention, and people who send letters abroad should in courtesy, if not for other reasons, be careful to put enough stamps on them. The foreign Postmaster gives up an insufficiently stamped letter, not on receiving the amount of the deficiency, but when he gets double the whole amount which the letter should have carried. That makes the receiving of such letters something of a burden, if they happen to be numerous, and sooner or later the recipient begins to wonder if they are worth what they cost him—or especially her. That does not tend to increase the fervor of friendships, and it is particularly erosive of them in the case of tourists traveling, as so many of them are, with letters of credit that have seen their best days and are looking a bit wan and weak.

Glory as Seen by Aldermen.

Just why Aldermen should be "large eaters" in both senses of that inelegant but convenient phrase it is not quite easy to see. Perhaps not all of them are. A considerable majority of them must be and must always have been, however, else would not the other phrase, "Aldermanic proportions," bring instantly to the mind of every hearer the picture of a rotund man, with the rotundity especially pronounced in his equatorial region.

But while tradition permits, and even expects, an Alderman to eat enough to give him his characteristic "proportions" in reasonable measure, there is neither permission nor expectation, so far as the available chronicles reveal, that he should eat—as pigs never do—merely to demonstrate an abnormal gastric capacity and without regard to appetite or decency. What is to be said, therefore, of Alderman Frank J. Dotzler, of this astonished and perhaps disgusted city, and what of Alderman John Probst, also ours, who entered into a public contest with fourteen other famine-breeders, to determine which could eat the most?

Alderman Dotzler vanquished all competitors and made the record of consuming at a single meal 9¼ pounds of beefsteak, 19 rolls, and 11 cups of coffee! Alderman Probst was a close second. Two Coroners and a Coroner's physician supervised these interesting proceedings, but no immediate need for their official services developed.

As there is considerable talk, not all laudatory, about Aldermen just now, indulgence by them in this form of sport can hardly be called judicious.

MISS CARPENTER RETORTS

That Mrs. Atherton Misconceives Roosevelt's Relation to Suffrage.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is impossible to conceive that any intelligent person could read Gertrude Atherton's highly sensational article in The Times with any other feeling than disgust. It may interest Mrs. Atherton to know that the initiative for the suffrage plank in the Progressive Party platform came not from Mr. Roosevelt himself but from a group of suffragists. Mr. Roosevelt was a keen enough politician to realize that the "Votes for Women" movement had reached a place where not only it could be of use to the Progressive Party, but the Progressive Party could have the honor of swinging it into victory.

Mrs. Atherton's overvivid imagination as to what Mr. Roosevelt said in the privacy of his own apartment has led her far astray. Her criticism of Miss Addams but emphasizes her own inability to make a fair criticism of any woman. We are quite content that Mrs. Atherton should stay on the side opposed to us, and we are equally content to have Miss Addams remain on ours. ALICE CARPENTER,

INTELLIGENT VOTING.

Reader Pleads for Careful Selection of Congressmen.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Ask the first ten men whom you may meet upon the street which of the three principal Presidential candidates he is going to vote for and he will either tell you promptly or else discuss their various qualifications with a fair degree of intelligence. Ask who will be his choice for the House of Representatives from his particular district and nine out of the ten will tell you that they do not even know who are the candidates. Much less do they know the qualifications of these candidates or the principles which they stand for. Yet on election day they will vote some ticket, and some man of whom they have never heard will be elected to represent them in Congress. It is this man and not the President who is by the Constitution of the United States authorized and empowered to make the laws which govern the country.

We must awaken to the fact that we are each sending our own lawmaker to Congress, and that his responsibility, due to the comparatively small number of citizens who elect him, is only limited by the intelligent interest of these citizens in his subsequent actions. It is only by careful selection of competent and honest legislators that we can achieve those ideals of reform which have been crystallized for us by the leaders and thinkers of the day.

Fears for the Colonel's Health.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For all his abounding vitality Col. Roosevelt is not strong enough to bear up well under the self-imposed burdens of his campaigning. The day is not far distant when he may break down like the deacon's "one-hoss shay." Signs are multiplying to physicians who have opportunities of seeing Col. Roosevelt at close range that his heart is overworked. He should let up a little and not try to reply to all who attack him. Millions of Democrats who, like my humble self, purpose to vote against the Rooseveltians take an interest in the Colonel's health. We want him to be with us for many a year to come, for he is certainly a fountain of joy that gladdens the dry sands of politics, and if he has made some bad moves he has also done a lot of good works.

Feminine Subway Tactics.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

This morning, while riding on the Third Avenue Elevated, I saw some of those poor downtrodden feminine beauties, who complain about "spreadout Subway sitters," start in some of their fine work. A young man courteously gave up his seat to one of them, but the young lady either did not have manners enough or thought it was unnecessary, for she did not thank him. She started to push the party on her right, and finally made room for her lady friend. Then both started, and in a very little while the third friend was seated. Three persons were now seated in the space originally seating one. You can imagine how comfortable her neighbors were for the rest of their trip to business. NOT A "SPREAD-OUT" MAN.

INVESTIGATING.

When they're through investigating
All the ills we've been creating
  Since the era of the wicked trusts began,
Will they leave us just one model
Of a worthy trust to coddle,
  And the picture of an honest business man?

How much Aldermen were making
  From the rental of the choicest corner stands,
Will they cease their probing labors
And again be trusting neighbors
  If they find two lily Aldermanic hands?

Just how many cops were taking
  Graft in bunches big enough to choke a horse,
Will they leave a single copper
Who has not yet come a cropper,
  To remind us of our erstwhile thrifty force?

Down in Washington, the taking
  Of the "S. O." contributions for "T. R.,"
Will they hit us in the plexus,
In a way to grieve and vex us,
  With the fragments of a frazzled, fallen star?

When they're through investigating,
And have stopped eliminating
  This and that one who disdained not tainted pelf,
Will the last, lone agitator
Be his own sad undertaker

HOPE TO WIN VERMONT.

Democrats There Expect Biggest Vote Ever Cast by Them.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTPELIER, Vt., Aug. 29.—As already noted, one of the leading questions in the present campaign in this State is the question of taxation. An old fellow who knows the people thoroughly spake in parables at Burlington the other day.

A distinguished lawyer, a man of the highest integrity and much respected by his neighbors because of his character and ability, offered himself as a candidate for an office which he was in every way qualified to fill with advantage to the people. It was discovered, however, that he had acted in a purely professional capacity for one of the corporations, and immediately the word passed around that he was not available. So insidiously had the poison been spread that other lawyers, who had not been "touched" as this ambitious brother, fell into the habit of agreeing that they could not vote for any man who had been associated in any way, professional or otherwise, with any of the corporations.

When the protestant in this case was asked whether or not he would take the position that the corporations, although bearing the larger burden of taxation, should be outlawed and that none of their officers or shareholders should enjoy by reason of this fact any of the rights of citizenship or the protection of the law, the halting answer came that he did not know that he could go quite so far; but that "something had to be done to curb the corporations."

Irresponsible newspapers, muck-raking magazines, wild-eyed fanatics, self-seeking demagogues have contributed to the confusional insanity of the times in Vermont as elsewhere, until there is but a step left between direct confiscation of property by statute and practical confiscation by the imposition of unequal taxation. Such at any rate is the idea dawning upon some of the thinking people of this State who are not seeking office, but who would really like to see fair play.

The man who spoke in parables is rather rare; but, once the people begin to think, his tribe will increase. With the railroads paying 2½ per cent. on their gross earnings, the banks paying 7 mills on the dollar on the savings deposits they hold, and the people not paying a cent for the support of the State Government in its various activities, it would seem that there is no reasonable ground for the further demands that are made for the exemption of mortgages from taxation and for the lowering of the share the people as such now bear of taxation for purely local purposes.

Just the same, there is a very distinct and growing belief among the more thoughtful young men of the State that the time has come when there should be a new deal in the politics of the State, the day having passed when the issues of the war that was fought fifty years ago should be regarded as pertinent to these piping times of peace and a reunited country.

There are so many elements entering into the present campaign that it is really difficult to say on what particular line the voters will finally dress. The Republicans appear to be weak in a good many spots. They did not nominate their best man for Governor, they have not convinced the people that they are sincere in any of their professions as to a reduction of taxation, they are suffering especially from the pernicious activity of the Bull Moose people, they did not begin to "take notice" soon enough, and find themselves four days before the ballots are to be cast and counted in a shirt of eleven yards, as the saying goes, with little chance of meeting the assaults of the now thoroughly infuriated animal and with the unterrified Democracy and the irresponsible Socialists laughing at their calamity.

The weakness of the Bull Moose movement is in the Bull Moose himself and in the character of the men who have espoused his cause in this State, and in the generally recognized unfitness of the Bull Moose candidate for Governor, the Rev. Fraser Metzger, who has proved his eligibility for admission to the Bull Moose party by his double dealing with the Republicans and by the same token has established his unworthiness for the office to which he aspires.

Having taken part in the deliberations of the regular Republican Party in its conventions, State and county, and approved its course, it does not now appear to thoughtful Republican voters how he can hope for or expect any support from Republican voters; it is certain that he will not receive any Democratic votes. In the meantime the Democrats and Socialists, with little or nothing in common, are hoeing their own rows, the former assured that they will not lose faith in the integrity of their cause by defeat, and the latter striving for the time when they will so increase their following that they will become a real factor in the politics of the State. USAGE OR "AUTHORITY"?

The Dictionary and Common Speech Are Sometimes at Odds.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

On "Puzzles of Pronunciation," what about "divan," with the short i and the accent on the "van" of the dictionaries, against the long accented i of usage? What about "paresis"—long accented e of usage—against the accented "par" of the dictionaries?

May we safely proceed according to usage, or must we render ourselves painfully subject to remark by faithfulness to the minority of "authority"? May we say "awlternative" with the crowd, or should we risk the pitying glance of the "well-informed" with just plain "alternative"?

There is another word on which the authorities give us choice, but such a choice as leaves me doubtful. It is "quinine." Shall I say "key-neen" or "kwin-ine," or "kwi-nine"? J. W. E.

Defends "The Poor Rich."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While it may or may not have been just sensible of two wealthy ladies to give entertainments lately at Newport, it is a wonder to me that some of the many mechanics and tradesmen of various kinds who got the golden flood do not arise and ask to have such good times continued and repeated.

It is not wholly bad, nor even half bad, for people of means to spend their money. They are in a fix. If they spend it the world "hollers" at their extravagance; if they keep it the same world declares they are tight wads, &c. What are the poor rich folks to do? Many a mechanic's family is glad of these two entertainments. JUNIUS II.

Dishonest Newsboys.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

While riding in an open Broadway car I called to a newsboy standing near by for a one-cent newspaper. He answered immediately, and upon my giving him a nickel he hesitated a minute, then handed me three cents change, and while the car was at full speed jumped off, making a dishonest cent in the transaction. What will these boys be when they grow up? K. L.

THE REAL FATHER OF THE TRUSTS

Revealed by Charles H. Betts, Editor and Former Friend of Roosevelt.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The revelations before the Senate committee relative to the contribution of the Standard Oil Company to the Roosevelt campaign in 1904 are interesting and illuminating. They are interesting because they reveal the state of affairs existing between big business and the political parties, and they are illuminating because they throw a new and added light upon the character and the conduct of Theodore Roosevelt, who for years successfully posed as a saint, but who now, in the eyes of all intelligent and thinking people, stands revealed as the chief sinner of the Nation.

Is it not plain that while Roosevelt was denouncing the trusts and the "malefactors of great wealth" he had a secret understanding with them whereby they were to finance his political campaign, as the Harvester Trust and the Steel Trust are now doing? These trusts are reported to have expended $3,000,000 in a vain attempt to buy for Roosevelt the regular Republican nomination for President, which nomination he gave the American people his solemn pledge he would not take. Failing to get the Republican nomination, he created a new political party for the express purpose of accepting a nomination which he said he would not take, and the Steel Trust and the Harvester Trust are financing his third party canvass as lavishly as they financed his canvass for the Republican nomination.

Col. Roosevelt is the only man in history who has been able to work both ends of a combination successfully. He has worked the trusts for the money to finance his campaign and he has worked the people into the belief that he is an enemy of the trusts. He is certainly fooling one or the other, and a person does not have to be very intelligent to know which he is fooling now and which he has fooled in the past. If Col. Roosevelt had been fooling the trusts in the past, does anybody believe that they would continue to put up money so lavishly to buy his way back into the White House?

Is it not evident that the trusts have discovered that, with his wonderful versatility and adaptability, Col. Roosevelt is the best man in the world with whom the trusts can fool the people for the purpose of securing and keeping control of the Government? Is not this the reason they are investing their money in his campaign so lavishly? Is not this the reason he became a candidate for a third term at the request of the money interests, whom he favored all through his Administration?

When Col. Roosevelt was inaugurated President there were 149 big trusts in this country, and when he turned the Government over to President Taft there were 10,020 big trusts and combinations. If Washington was the Father of His Country, then Roosevelt is the Father of Trusts.

It seems to me that nothing can be plainer than this. If the Standard Oil Company had contributed the additional $150,000, asked for, that much-abused trust would then have risen to the dignity of a "good trust" in the eyes of this moral crusader who is leading the battle at Armageddon.

How long! oh, how long! will the American people continue to be hoodwinked, deceived, and misled by this showy and impudent political impostor!

CITY DEFEATS RAILWAY PLEA.

Brooklyn Traction Company Seeks to Escape $60,000 Paving Bill.

The City of New York won a preliminary victory yesterday in the Supreme Court in its action against the Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban Railroad to recover $68,739.32 for repairs in a roadway used by the traction company.

Justice McCall upheld a demurrer filed by Corporation Counsel Archibald Watson, who objected to the company pleading as its defense that it could not be held responsible for the condition of the roadway in question.

According to the complaint, the President of the Borough of Queens advised the Brooklyn, Queens County and Suburban Railroad in November, 1908, that the roadway along Jamaica Avenue from Van Wyck Avenue to the Brooklyn Borough line was sadly out of repair and greatly in need of repaving. The Borough gave the road thirty days in which to begin the necessary repairs and threatened at the end of that time to do the work and hold the traction company for the bill.

According to Mr. Watson, the notice from the Borough was ignored and repairs costing more than $60,000 were promptly begun. The defense of the company took the form of waiving all responsibility upon roadways occupied by its tracks. Permission to enter a new defense will be granted.

MAY BAR FLUSHING BAY FISH.

Girl's Death from Tainted Crab Starts Investigation of the Water.

Following the death of Mary Shumann, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Shumann of College Point, caused, it is thought, by her eating a tainted crab taken from Flushing Bay, the Board of Health of Queens is investigating the condition of the water of the bay, with a view of prohibiting the use of sea food taken there, if the water is found to be poisoned.

In former years Flushing Bay was a noted fishing ground till dye factories were built on its shores and the poison refuse destroyed the fish. Two years ago the factories were removed, and the Flushing Business Men's Association undertook the restocking of the waters, with such success that now they again yield big catches. So many cases of ptomaine poisoning, however, have been reported among those eating fish taken from the bay that it is the opinion of many physicians that enough of the poisonous refuse of former years remains to render the fish which feed upon it unfit for use.

ARMY OFFICERS GO ABROAD.

Gen. Wood, Who Also Was to Go to Manoeuvres, Recalled.

Four officers of the United States Army sailed yesterday for Havre on the French liner Provence to witness the French, German, and English military manoeuvres in September and October. They are all of the General Staff. Major Gen. Leonard Wood was to have accompanied the party, but he was recalled to Washington, owing to the trouble in Nicaragua.

The officers sailing were Col. E. St. John Greble, Capt. George Van H. Moseley, Capt. Paul B. Malone, whose wife accompanied him, and Capt. John M. A. Palmer. They will visit Paris, London, and Berlin, and will be escorted to the scenes of the manoeuvres. Capt. Leon Ollivier of the French Army, who has been staying here several weeks instructing the officers at Sandy Hook in the operation of the big guns he invented, also sailed for Havre on the Provence.

NEWPORT SOCIETY GATHERS AT PICNIC

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Wilson Take Guests to Vaucluse, in Middletown—Dance in Colonial Hall.

MRS. DREXEL ENTERTAINS

Rhode Island Society of Sons of the Revolution Holds Dinner—R. D. Little Wins Tennis Cup.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson gave a picnic and dance at Vaucluse in Middletown this afternoon. Soon after noon the guests, led by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, arrived for picnic luncheon and dancing in the Colonial hall.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Craig Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth Wickes, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. Gordon Douglass, Mrs. J. Norman De R. Whitehouse, Mrs. Richard Stevens, Mrs. William Woodward, and her sister, Mrs. Cecil Higgins of London, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Miss Eugenie M. Ladenburg, Mrs. Robert Goelet, Henry Whitehouse, Craig Wadsworth, Maurice Roche, Clement Newbold of Philadelphia, Williams P. Burden, William Rhinelander Stewart, Jr., Hamiel Von Haimhausen, Chargé d'Affairies of the German Embassy; Henri de Bach and Andrew Kalpaschnikoff of the Russian Embassy, and Bertram Cruger. After the luncheon and dance Mr. and Mrs. Wilson escorted their guests, with the orchestra, to the Clambake Club.

Mrs. John R. Drexel gave a dinner to-night at Fairholm for forty guests, after which more than a hundred others came in for dancing.

R. D. Little wins the tennis prize cup presented by the Newport Golf Club in competition to the players in the National lawn tennis tournament at the Casino last week.

The annual dinner of the Rhode Island Society Sons of the Revolution was held at the Miantonomi Club to-night in honor of the battle of Rhode Island. Thomas P. Peckham, President of the society, presided. Addresses were given by the Right Rev. James H. Darlington, Bishop of Harrisburg, and Justice Darius Baker of the Superior Court of Rhode Island.

THE SMART HEIRS FOUND?

Children of Titanic Victim Believed to be in Belgian Convent.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 29.—The long-sought son and daughter of the late Montgomery Smart of New York, a Titanic victim, are believed to be in a Belgian convent. Their names are George and Annie Smart.

The American Consul General here has been notified by the representative of the late Mr. Smart of the missing heirs' supposed presence in Belgium, and everything possible is being done to discover their whereabouts.

A wide search for the missing children of J. Montgomery Smart began shortly after it was learned that he had gone down in the Titanic. There was considerable personal property to be looked after, and arrangements had to be made concerning Mr. Smart's business ventures. Nothing could be done with any completeness until the children were found. F. K. Seward of the law firm that looked after the interests of the American Cold Storage and Shipping Company, of which Mr. Smart was President, was also on the Titanic, but he was saved.

Mr. Seward knew nothing about the location of the two children. The boy is 20 years old and the girl is two years younger. Their mother died about ten years ago. Mr. Smart was anxious that they be educated abroad. His idea was to shift them from one country to another, so that they might learn the different languages. Sometimes he spoke of them and said they were under the care of some of his wife's relatives, but he never gave a hint as to their location.

Mr. Smart had intimate friends, but none of them ever knew anything definite about his family relations. They knew in a casual way that he had two children who were being educated, but nothing more. Whenever he traveled Mr. Smart carried all his private papers with him in a trunk marked "personal." This trunk went to the bottom of the sea with him.

Advertisements for the children were printed over half Europe. Consuls were asked to keep their eyes open, any many other measures were resorted to with no result. The fact that the children were probably in different educational establishments seemed to give a double promise of success. That they had maternal relatives abroad was also looked upon as a good sign. But no news came.

How large an estate Mr. Smart left is not known. It is probably less than $100,000.

SOCIAL NOTES.

The marriage of Mrs. Mary Hyde Ripley, widow of the late Sidney Dillon Ripley, to Charles R. Scott, for years the representative in the Orient of the International Banking Corporation of New York, is set for Monday, Sept. 9, at Bar Harbor. Shortly afterward Mr. Scott will take his bride abroad for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pancoast Clyde, Jr., who have been spending the Summer in Kent, England, will return to New York in the Fall and will live with Mr. and Mrs. William P. Clyde, Sr., at 1 West Fifty-first Street. Their son, born July 26, has been named William Pancoast Clyde, being the third living of that name.

The Misses Henrietta and Laura Drake-Smith are leaving Richfield Springs, where they have been the guests of their brother, Oliver Drake-Smith, for Southampton to spend September. In October they will return to Washington, D. C., to spend the Winter.

The wedding of Edward Ayrault Robinson of Baltimore and a brother of Dr. T. Canby Robinson of New York to Miss Vera Wesson of Springfield, Mass., will take place late this Fall. Miss Wesson and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Wesson, are at their camp at Kineo, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Harkness have been spending several days in town.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Stuart Wing have taken an apartment at the St. Regis. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hopkins, who motored in from Irvington, are at the same hotel for a few days.

The Hon. Lionel Lambart, an English polo player, who arrived from England several days ago, left the Vanderbilt yesterday for Long Island, where he is to visit Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock.

Albert H. Hoffman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Burrall Hoffman, who came over from Hamburg, where he holds a position in a German bank, to spend a part of the Summer with his parents, returned yesterday on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

Ambassador Bryce and Mrs. Bryce, who have been in Australia, sailed from Melbourne on Tuesday and are due at San Francisco on Sept. 12. They will go immediately to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Easton of 124 West Eighty-sixth Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gertrude Easton, to Frederick B. Richardson, son of Mrs. Frederick B. Richardson of Morristown, N. J.

Miss Isabelle H. Hardie, who is in mourning for her brother, Col. Hardie, is at 19 West Tenth Street before sailing for Europe, Sept. 7. She will remain abroad throughout the Winter.

SCOTTI TO WED MISS IVES.

Baritone and Actress, Now in London, Will Probably Be Married Here.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—THE NEW YORK TIMES is authorized by Antonio Scotti, the baritone, and Miss Charlotte Ives to announce their approaching marriage. Both have been staying here for some time.

The singer to-day, on being asked about his reported engagement, said: "I have nothing to say. When I am ready to marry I will announce it." Just then Miss Ives came up and Scotti told her of the report. "Quite right," said the actress. "We are going to be married. I am sailing in the Mauretania on Saturday and will announce it on my arrival. I must go back to take up my part in 'Passers-By,' as I gave Mr. Frohman my word that I would, but we are to be married as soon as we can make arrangements."

It was then that Scotti agreed that the announcement should be made in THE NEW YORK TIMES, after which both went on a motor ride. Scotti will not sail for some weeks. The wedding will probably be in New York.

JAMES KEIR HARDIE WEDS.

Son of Labor Leader Marries Miss Marian D. Stoddart of Scotland.

James Keir Hardie, son of Keir Hardie, the Socialist Member of Parliament and leader of the Labor Party in England, was married at the home of August De Bruycker at 11 o'clock yesterday morning to Miss Marian Dalrymple Stoddart of Old Cumnock, Ayrshire, Scotland, whom he has known since childhood. The Rev. A. N. Daniels officiated. Only a few relatives and friends were present.

The bride wore a gown of white satin draped with figured chiffon, and a large black velvet hat topped with white plumes. Miss Flora Daniels was her maid of honor and only attendant. Hans Hansen acted as best man.

Mr. Hardie has been in this country for two years. His bride arrived Monday with his father, who is to make a six weeks' lecture tour.

WOMAN PASTOR MARRIES.

The Rev. M. Rowena Morse Wedded to the Rev. Newton Mann, Aged 75.

KENOSHA, Wis., Aug. 29.—Announcement was made here to-night of the marriage of the Rev. M. Rowena Morse, pastor of the Third Unitarian Church of Chicago, and the Rev. Newton Mann, 75 years old, pastor of the Simmons Unitarian Church of Kenosha. Mrs. Mann is a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Fichette Morse of Delphi Falls, N. Y.

The wedding took place in a romantic spot near the childhood home of Mr. Mann at Delphi Falls on a ledge of rock which he had hewn out as his pulpit when a boy.

Mrs. Mann is said to have been the first woman to be granted a doctor's degree by a German university.

MISS CORNING'S WEDDING.

Fletcher Hurst Montgomery of Norwalk, Conn., will be his brother's best man, and the ushers selected are William Randolph Montgomery, a brother of the bridegroom; Edward Parsons Corning, a brother of the bride; Franklin Butler Crosby of New York, and Charles Milton Fessenden of Stamford. The Rev. H. Stanley White will officiate.

The reception and supper will be served at 8 o'clock at the Corning country place, The Moorings, at Shippan Point.

Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery will make their home at South Bend, Ind.

MISS SMITH ENGAGED.

Daughter of the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith to Wed Guy Emerson.

The engagement is announced by the Rev. Dr. Roland Cotton Smith and Mrs. Smith of their daughter, Miss Margaret Sigourney Smith, to Guy Emerson. Miss Smith, who is with her parents at their Summer home at Ipswich, Mass., is a neice of Mrs. Bayard Tuckerman, and a cousin of the Elkenses of Philadelphia, and of Mrs. Evans R. Dick, Jr., or New York.

Mr. Emerson is a son of Dr. Nathaniel Waldo Emerson and Mrs. Emerson, (Carlotta Bond,) of Boston, and is a Harvard man.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Wedding Dates.

The wedding of Shaun Kelly of New York and Miss Charlotte Crocker of Fitchburg, Mass., will take place on Oct. 19. The engagement was announced last Autumn, before Miss Crocker made her début.

The marriage of Philip Weld of Boston, now living in New York, to Miss Katharine Saltonstall of Boston, will take place in that city on Saturday, Nov. 2. Mr. Weld's brother, Rudolph Weld, married several years ago Miss Sylvia Parsons, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barclay Parsons of this city.

On Oct. 19 the marriage of William Fellowes Morgan, Jr., of this city and Miss Rathbone will take place. The engagement was announced several months ago.

MUCH THAT IS FUNNY IN THIS NEW FARCE

But "Little Miss Brown" Shows the Need of Reshaping and Rehearsing.

SOME BRIGHT SITUATIONS

Madge Kennedy Very Charming in Title Role, While William Morris and Ned Sparks Add to the Fun.

LITTLE MISS BROWN, a farcical comedy in three acts, by Philip Bartholomae. Forty-eighth Street Theatre.

Day Clerk	Ned A. Sparks
Porter	Tom Lemonier
Telephone Girl	Rae Bowden
Eulalia Burke	Terese Deagle
Mr. Burke	Charles Stanley
Philip Dennison	Richard Taber
Bellboy	John F. Heins
Miss Wendel	Ellen Mortimer
Little Miss Brown	Madge Kennedy
Night Clerk	Sidney Macy
Maid	Mattie Ferguson
Richard Dennison	William Morris
Mrs. Richard Dennison	Olive Harper Thorne
Joseph Clews	George Pauncefort
Robert Mason	John Bowers

Personally "Little Miss Brown" is a very appealing person. She has the blank stare of the truly innocent, the tender heart of the genuinely good, and the amusing manners of the naturally humorous. Moreover, in Mr. Philip Bartholomae's new farce, which contains much that is amusing, she is so fortunate as to find herself the central figure of a number of very entertaining situations. All of which makes it the more regrettable that the filling-in has not been made more acceptable.

As it is, a considerable part of the evening is spent in listening to the obvious and the long-drawn out. And these qualities were accentuated last night in a general performance of the piece which showed the need of rehearsals. During such rehearsals there might have been many eliminations to get a pace which is now lacking, and some introductions of matter to develop a continuity. In other words, "Little Miss Brown" seems like a pretty good farce gone wrong. But it is by no means hopeless.

To begin with, it is one of those pieces in which a word of explanation from anybody would immediately stop the action. Wherefore, everybody keeps talking about how easy it would be to explain, and then not making the slightest effort to do so. But it is funny, notwithstanding, to see how "Little Miss Brown" gets herself and somebody else's innocent husband into a peck of trouble by taking a fictitious name in order to get a night's lodging in a highly respectable hostelry where single ladies unchaperoned are not welcomed late at night. The man whose apartments she thus invades must ultimately announce that his wife is the young interloper's mother. And this statement, as may be imagined, is received indignantly by the wife, and hilariously by the audience. It is funny, too, and interesting, in a way, to see how Mr. Bartholomae has managed to "dramatize" that good old wheeze about the innocent girl who orders up six cocktails in order to get the cherries. And another top point of laughter comes from Miss Brown's ingenuous announcement at just the wrong moment that she doesn't want him to kiss her, but "he makes me."

Most novel of all the material of the play is a brief scene, one of three in a single act, which shows the innocent husband attempting to force "Little Miss Brown" to make an escape through a fifth-story window of the hotel after the house detective has put her under arrest for a theft of jewelry.

Of course, she didn't steal the jewelry, and, of course, she is ultimately able to explain what might easily have been explained by the husband or herself long before. But that is a point which really wouldn't matter so much if various other important details hadn't been overlooked. One of these is the fact that in farce he who hesitates is lost.

In this case the general effect was like that of a hurried stock performance.

But if team work was more or less ragged and uncertain there were still several very amusing individual performances. Miss Brown is not only a neat little comedy rôle in itself, but it had the advantages which come from a pretty face and an engaging personality as well as a decided feeling for comic effect on the part of Miss Madge Kennedy. Miss Kennedy's youth, good looks, and marked sense of fun helped her to make a decidedly favorable impression last night. And it goes without saying that in William Morris she had an associate farceur who has probably forgotten more about that difficult art than most of our actors ever knew.

A broadly humorous figure of a grouchy hotel clerk is provided by Ned A. Sparks, and a good bit in character by Charles Stanley. No really incompetent playing is to be observed in any of the other more important parts, though it is quite apparent, as has been said, that rehearsing and reshaping are needed.

"THE ATTACK" PLAYED.

New Bernstein Drama, with John Mason, Shown in Buffalo.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—"The Attack," by Henry Bernstein, was produced to-night for the first time in America by Charles Frohman at the Star Theatre. John Mason, who has recently come under Mr. Frohman's management, had the principal rôle. Mr. Bernstein has struck rather a new vein in "The Attack," venturing upon newer territory for him, the region of sentiment, almost of romance.

Martha Hedman, who appeared as Mr. Mason's leading woman, made her first appearance before an American audience. Others in the cast were Sidney Herbert, Wilfred Draycott, Frank Hollins, Clinton Preston and Eva Dennison.

Injunction Restrains Wilton Lackaye.

H. H. Frazee received word from Chicago yesterday that a temporary injunction had been granted restraining Wilton Lackaye from appearing in another play than "Fine Feathers," and also restraining Liebler & Co. from advertising or announcing Mr. Lackaye as a member of their "Oliver Twist" company. Mr. Frazee asserts that Mr. Lackaye's contract calls for his appearance in "Fine Feathers" during the entire run of the play in Chicago, which Mr. Frazee expects to last through a greater part of the season.

"The Pink Lady" for South Africa.

Klaw & Erlanger have signed contracts with the Thompson & Cross-Levenson Company of Durban, South Africa, for a production of "The Pink Lady" in that country in February. The play will be shown in Rhodesia, Cape Colony, Orange River Colony, Transvaal, Natal, and in the Portuguese territory. The contracts were negotiated with M. A. Levenson of Durban, who will sail for London to-morrow on his way home. It is possible that Evie Green, who appeared here in the title role of "The Duchess of Dantzig," will be the Pink Lady in South Africa.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Park Theatre will open its season on Thursday, Sept. 12, with Clifton Crawford in Channing Pollock and Rennold Wolf's musical play, "My Best Girl."

Charles Klein will give an invitation dress rehearsal of his play, "The Ne'er Do Well," at the Lyric Theatre Sunday evening, preceding the public opening of the piece on Monday.

A second company to play "The Master of the House" is to start rehearsing next week under the direction of Julius Steger, who staged the production now at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre.

Edward Emery has been engaged for the role of Frederick Hollis in "June Madness," Henry Kitchell Webster's drama that Winthrop Ames and the Shuberts are to produce next month. Hedwig Reicher, Mr. Emery, and Renee Kelly will have the roles which they originated with the Drama Players last season.

Thomas Chalmers Hardie, last season baritone with Henry W. Savage's "The Girl of the Golden West," and Henrietta Wakefield, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera House, have been engaged for Walter Damrosch's new comic opera, "The Dove of Peace."

Richard Carle's father, Edgar W. Carlton of Somerville, Mass., attended the performance of "The Girl from Montmartre," in which Mr. Carle is starring. It is the first time Mr. Carlton has seen his son on the stage since his opening in "The Mayor of Tokio," about six years ago.

William Collier, who will again be under the management of Lew Fields, will star this season in a new comedy called "Never Say Die," the work of William Post and Mr. Collier. The play will open early in October.

CORT THEATRE IN THE BRONX

Manager is Building the Royal, with Seating Capacity of 2,500.

John Cort, General Manager of the Northwestern Theatrical Association, returned yesterday from an inspection tour of his Western interests, and announced that he would have a new theatre in New York before the first of the year. In association with Frank Gresten he is building a playhouse in the Bronx, to be known as the Royal Theatre, and to be ready for opening on Dec. 15. It will be a "combination house," playing Broadway attractions.

It is located at the intersection of Westchester and Bergen Avenues and 150th Street, at the junction point of several car lines. It will have a seating capacity of 2,500, with 1,000 seats on the ground floor. The exterior of the building, which is on a plot 138 by 200 feet, will be of steel and concrete, with granite and limestone front. The stage will be 40 feet deep, 130 feet wide, and 70 feet to the gridiron. The auditorium decorations will be in gold and red, with silk tapestry walls and marble wainscoating. The whole cost will be $750,000.

The Cort Theatre, which is now building in Forty-eighth Street, will open about Nov. 16 with Laurette Taylor in "Peg o' My Heart," under Oliver Morosco's management. About the Christmas holidays Mr. Cort will have a new theatre in Boston also.

W. A. BRADY AGAIN PRESIDENT

Re-elected by Managers' National Association—Play Piracy Checked.

The annual meeting of the National Association of Theatrical Producing Managers was held at the Hotel Astor yesterday afternoon. William A. Brady was re-elected President, Charles H. Yale Vice President, H. Clay Miner Treasurer, Hollis E. Cooley Secretary, and Ligon Johnson general counsel. Vacancies on the Board of Directors were filled by the election of William F. Connor, Augustus Thomas, A. H. Woods, and H. H. Frazee.

State Senator C. C. Hunt, representing the Garment Salesmen's Association, appeared before the board to ask the Managers' Association to co-operate with the salesmen in getting an amendment to the newly enacted baggage laws regulating the dimensions of trunks in baggage cars. No definite action was taken upon the Senator's request, but the matter will be considered later.

Mr. Brady read his annual report, showing what had been accomplished by the association in getting adequate copyright protection for plays, in preventing drastic laws against the theatre in various parts of the country, in practically stamping out play piracy, and in settling various labor disputes, and railway questions.

PANAMA POLICE CENSORED.

United States Protests Against Brutal Treatment of Americans.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Emphatic demands upon the Panaman Government to control the Panaman police and put an end to the gross brutality with which Americans, soldiers, sailors, and civilians have been treated, have been issued by the American State Department. It was in the execution of these orders that American Minister Dodge yesterday demanded the removal of Chief of Police Quijano and Police Captain Delaossa. In the first case the resignation of the Chief was sufficient, but the refusal of the Panaman Government to remove the Police Captain will be followed by a more peremptory demand by Minister Dodge.

This action is taken upon reports of the Minister and army officers in the Canal Zone, who have made careful examination into complaints of severe mistreatment of Americans by the Panaman police. The most recent cases were the affray in Colon on July 4, where an American civilian was killed and several soldiers severely wounded by the police, and the other was the savage beating administered by the police to four officers of the Pacific Mail steamer Newport in Panama. Official reports assert that in each case the police were entirely unjustified in their attacks upon the Americans. It is charged that the native police are very much in dread of the American bluejackets particularly, and are in the habit of shooting or stabbing them at the slightest sign of resistance to arrest, even when the person is totally unarmed.

SUES DR. G. G. RAMBAUD.

First Wife Asks $5,500 in Addition to Divorce Settlement.

Mrs. Lulu F. B. Rambaud began suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against her former husband, Dr. George Gibier Rambaud of 361 West Twenty-third Street, for $5,500.

When Mrs. Rambaud obtained a decree of divorce several years ago her husband agreed to settle upon her certain real estate which he held in Texas. Later Mrs. Rambaud came to the conclusion that a sum paid to her as representing the value of the Texas property was not enough and she brought suit. Dr. Rambaud, it was said yesterday by his counsel, C. W. Coleman of 32 Liberty Street, had recently remarried.

Dr. Rambaud is the head of the Pasteur Institute in this city. The present Mrs. Rambaud is better known on the opera stage as Mme. Gerville-Reache, the contralto.

PONY SHOW AT RED BANK.

Margaret Shutts, Three-Year-Old "Tot," Rides in Exhibition.

Special to The New York Times.

RED BANK, Aug. 29.—Over 5,000 people, coming from the shore resorts and farming districts by automobile, trolley, and carriage, poured into the gates on this, the opening day of the Monmouth County Agricultural Association's four-day fair.

The fair grounds were thronged with children, as this was school children's day.

To-day's main attraction were the horse show and racing. Society folk from the Rumson and Jersey shore sections were attracted by the horse show in charge of Hardon L. Crawford of New York. The assistant directors were: Howard S. Borden, saddle horses, jumpers, pony classes; G. Foster Rawlins, thoroughbreds, farm, and delivery classes; W. Strother Jones, all carriage horses. Thomas S. Field was superintendent, and J. W. Decker and Sidney Wallace acted as judges. Cups and gold were awarded as prizes.

A feature of the horse show was the children's ponies, in which Margaret Shutts, the 3-year-old daughter of A. W. Shutts of Red Bank, was seen on a saddle. She is the youngest girl ever seen riding in a horse show in the State. The winners in horse exhibit follows:

Team Delivery Horses.—King Almon and Early Rise, Fleischman Company, first; R. H. Macy & Co., second.

Single Delivery Horses.—First, R. H. Macy & Co.; second, Fleischman Company.

Stallion with Get.—First, Sir Richard and get, F. C. Bryam, Red Bank.

Colt, Filly, or Gelding, Three Years Old or Under, Shown in Hand or by Side of Saddle Horses.—First, Admiral Cord, Charles McCue, Seabright; second, Felspar, Green Bank Farm, W. T. Van Brunt, Red Bank.

Children's Ponies, Saddle Ponies, Not Over 11 Hands, Children Under 12 Years of Age to Ride.—First, Rex Piebald, A. I. Elkus; second, A. W. Shutts.

Children's Donkey and Wagon, Children to Drive.—First, Babette, W. G. F. White, New York; second, J. F. Talcott, Rumson.

Children's Saddle Ponies, Over 11 Hands and Under 14 Hands, Children Under 15 Years of Age to Ride.—First, Humming Bird, J. Horace Harding, Rumson; second, Danny, J. F. Talcott, Rumson; third, Barny, Arthur Ryle, Seabright.

Children's Combination Riding and Driving Pony, Under 13.2 Hands.—First, Humming Bird, J. Horace Harding; second, Danny, J. F. Talcott; third, Barny, Arthur Ryle.

Close finishes featured the two races held over the half-mile track this afternoon before a large crowd. The first race, a 2:17 pace, for purse of $300, was won by Carrie Dillon, owned by Charles S. Parker, Trenton, which took the first, second, and fourth heats in the best three out of five heats. She finished second in the third heat, which was won by Leland Gentry, owned by Elwood Snyder, Eatontown, and captured second money.

In the second race, 2:40 trot, purse $300, Begonia, Remson & Post, Roslyn, N. Y., won in three straight heats, with Elastic, Remson & Post, a close second in the final heat.

THOUSANDS MOURN FOR DR. BLAUSTEIN

East Side Shows Affection at Five Services for Educator and Philanthropic Worker.

WOMEN PRECEDE HEARSE

Eulogies of the Dead Delivered at Synagogue, Educational Alliance, and Other Hebrew Institutions.

Funeral services for Dr. David Blaustein, educator and philanthropic worker, were held in five places yesterday and attended by thousands of men and women, while many more thousands, unable to gain admission to the various services, stood in the streets and joined in a general tribute of affection for the memory of the man who had done so much for the poor people generally, and the east side in particular. Hundreds of men and women, and children too, wept as the body was borne through the streets.

The first service, at 11 o'clock, took place in the synagogue of the Congregation Poal Zedek Anshe Ilile, at Forsyth and Delancey Streets, where a brief eulogy was delivered by Dr. J. L. Magnes, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Jewish Community society, which was founded by Dr. Blaustein. He said in part:

"Dr. Blaustein was a man continually engaged in doing good, always desiring to be an interpreter between men of different opinions of all grades, and always trying to reconcile the hearts of the children with the hearts of the parents. He was a common soldier of the people, who allowed himself to be used as an instrument in the hands of God for the general good of humanity."

A prayer by Rabbi M. A. Siegel, cantor of the synagogue, concluded the service there. Several hundred of the poor women of the east side whom Dr. Blaustein had befriended were seated in the gallery, and they gave evidence of their sorrow over his death by weeping throughout the services.

The crowds were so large around the church that the police were compelled to form lines to enable the funeral party to start for the Educational Alliance, of which Dr. Blaustein was superintendent for many years, and where special services followed. Among the 500 men and women who walked ahead of the hearse and twenty carriages were delegations from the various societies and organizations with which Dr. Blaustein had been identified during his busy life; Don Abarbanel Lodge No. 2, O. B. A., which had charge of the funeral arrangements; Centennial Lodge, Order of the Sons of Zion, Hebrew Community of New York City, which he founded; Educational Alliance, Hebrew Sheltering House and Immigrant Aid Society, Hebrew Free Loan Bureau, Society of Social Workers, Hebrew Charities, United Religious Teachers' Association, and the Cantors' Society.

The funeral procession passed through Delancey, Eldridge, Canal, Orchard, Pike, Henry and Jefferson Streets to East Broadway, where thousands of people lined the sidewalks. When the body was borne into the assembly room in the building of the Educational Alliance, Mrs. Miriam Blaustein, the widow, who was seated with relatives near the front, was overcome by faintness, but soon succeeded in controlling her grief. She was formerly Miss Miriam Umstadter of Norfolk, Va., and met Dr. Blaustein while a student at Columbia at the time he was a member of the faculty of the School of Philanthropy there. They were married last September.

The Rev. H. Masliansky, former minister of the People's Congregation in the Alliance, spoke of Dr. Blaustein's broad sympathy and practical helpfulness for all in misfortune; his unselfishness, his work in behalf of the poor immigrants from all lands, and his untiring efforts to better the conditions on the east side. The Rev. Dr. Samuel Buchler and the Rev. N. Abramson conducted the services. The children's choir sang several of the favorite hymns of Dr. Blaustein.

From the Alliance building the funeral procession went up East Broadway to the Hebrew Maternity Hospital, of which Dr. Blaustein was a Director. When the hearse paused in front of the door the Rev. Philip Jaches, President of the institution, spoke from the steps on behalf of the Board of Directors, and said:

"We honor this man because he combined with his superior qualities every kind of good. Born of poor parents at some place in Russia, he raised himself, educated himself, and became a great leader here. He worked not for himself, but always for others. He did splendid work in finding homes for Jewish people outside the city. My wishes are that babies born in this institution, whatever their virtues may be, shall have some at least which distinguish this great man and brother."

Memorial services were also held in the Home for the Aged Daughters of Jacob, East Broadway and Sheriff Street, and in the Hebrew Sheltering House and Immigrant Aid Society in East Broadway. The funeral party crossed the Williamsburg Bridge to Washington Cemetery, where the interment was according to Masonic rites. The pallbearers were Louis Gerson, Abraham Heller, Louis Kram, S. I. Koppelmann, M. B. Kramer, Louis Rose, Wolf Kram, Jacob Saphirstein, Leon Kamaiky, and Ezekiel Schrieber.

Those who took part in the memorial services in the Home of the Daughters of Jacob were the Revs. Solomon Moseson and David Robins, Mrs. Gussie Meyer, a Director, and Mrs. Annie Joseph, Chairman of the Executive Committee. In the Maternity Hospital prayer was offered by Dr. B. Siegel, chaplain of the institution. Members of the staff and Directors present were: Dr. A. M. Hillkowich, Dr. Nathan Ratnoff, Dr. J. Heller, Dr. A. J. Rongy, P. Raginsky, and Samuel Seinfel, who represented Jules J. Dukas, who is a Director in the hospital and President of the Hebrew Loan Bureau.

Among those present at the church services and the Educational Alliance were: K. S. Freidus, David Kahn, Samuel B. Hamburger, Jesse Straus, D. W. Blumenthal, William C. Popper, the Rev. S. Rapsch, Ferdinand Kuhn, the Rev. M. S. Margolies, of the Eighty-fifth Street Synagogue, the Rev. M. Z. Rabinowitz of the Forsyth Street Synagogue, Jacob Adler, Louis Marshall, Dr. Henry Fleischman, Joseph Levenson, Dr. Samuel Newman, the Rev. Dr. Tearlow, Abraham Cruger, A. Feinstein, Abram Shomer, the Rev. H. Tompkin, Benjamin Tuskam, Cyrus Sulzberger, and many of the heads of departments and teachers in the Educational Alliance.

Thomas P. Hughes.

Thomas P. Hughes, formerly a member of the New York Stock Exchange, died on Wednesday night at the Rush Hospital for Consumptives in Philadelphia. About ten years ago, Mr. Hughes, who had enjoyed a successful business career in Philadelphia, came to this city and bought a seat on the Stock Exchange. He accumulated a considerable fortune, but his health failed and he was obliged to retire. In 1908 he became manager of the uptown office of Harriman & Co., which position he relinquished to return to Philadelphia. He was unmarried and when in New York made his home at the Lawyers' and Philadelphia Clubs.

DANIEL McL. SOMERS DEAD.

Ex-Park Commissioner of Brooklyn and Tin Manufacturer.

Daniel McLean Somers, ex-Park Commissioner of Brooklyn, and a Director in the Brooklyn Public Library, died Wednesday at his home, 105 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, after a long illness. Mr. Somers was a member of the firm of Somers Brothers, tin manufacturers, with a large factory in Brooklyn. The plant was absorbed by the Steel Trust, in which Mr. Somers was a large shareholder.

Mr. Somers was born in Alexandria, Va., in 1841. His family traced their descent from John Somers, Lord Chancellor of England, at the time of the Wars of the Roses. The Somers family held prominent places in the Colonial Army.

After receiving his education in the South Mr. Somers went to Brooklyn in 1865, and the establishment of Somers Brothers soon followed. He was a charter member of the Manufacturers' Association, a Director of the Manufacturers' Trust Company, and a Director and former President of the Associated Manufacturers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company. He was identified with the Democratic organization, and during two administrations served as Park Commissioner of Brooklyn. Mr. Somers is survived by a widow, a son, and a brother.

THEODOR GOMPERZ DEAD.

Greek Scholar Who Deciphered the Papyri Found in Herculaneum.

VIENNA, Aug. 29.—Prof. Theodor Gomperz, the author and Greek scholar who deciphered and elucidated the papyri found in Herculaneum and also made valuable contributions to the publication of Demosthenes's orations, died to-day.

Prof. Theodor Gomperz was born at Brünn, Austria, March 29, 1832. He studied at the University of Vienna, where he became Professor of Classical Philology in 1869. In addition to his decipherment of the papyri found in Herculaneum, he is known chiefly for his German edition of the works of John Stuart Mill, 1869-1880. His best-known works are "Demosthenes der Staatsmann," 1864; "Philodemi de Ira Lieber," 1864; "Herculanische Studien," 1865-6; "Zu Philodems Büchern con der Musik," 1885, and others. His Masterpiece was "Griechische Denker, eine Geschichte der antiken Philosophie," 1893-1895.

E. K. Bartlett Dies Suddenly at Club.

Ezra K. Bartlett, a retired broker, died suddenly last night of acute indigestion at the New York Athletic Club, 58 West Fifty-ninth Street, where he had a room. He had been suffering from indigestion for some time. Mr. Bartlett had an apartment at 610 Riverside Drive. He joined the Athletic Club recently. He was 55 years old and came of a Philadelphia family.

Rev. Dr. Asa Fulton Dead at 88.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—The Rev. Dr. Asa Fulton, former editor of The Christian Times, and former assistant rector of the Church of the Ascension, New York, died here to-day, aged 88 years. He was the oldest Episcopal priest in the State and was pastor emeritus of St. Stephen's Church, this city.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. MABEL SABYAN LOOMIS, wife of William H. Loomis, the artist, died late Wednesday night at her home, 600 West 115th Street. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Pierce of Providence, and was 30 years of age. For the last two years she has been an invalid.

Mrs. REBECCA SANDS, widow of David M. H. Sands, died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Clara Lawrence, 758 Ocean Avenue, Brooklyn, aged 91 years. She was born in Newburg, N. Y., but had made her home in Brooklyn for more than seventy years. She is survived by two sons, a daughter, twelve grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren.

A. COBURN HOYT, for thirty years teller of the Portsmouth (N. H.) Savings Bank, and father of Dr. Robert E. Hoyt, U. S. N., and Lieut. F. Roland Hoyt, U. S. M. C., died Wednesday at Portsmouth, aged 77 years.

LEWIS P. TAYLOR, at one time Postmaster of South Orange, N. J., died at his home, 103 Scotland Road, in that city, Wednesday night, after an illness of more than two years. He was the son of Ira Taylor, who was the first Postmaster of South Orange and whom he succeeded in that position. Mr. Taylor's son is now Postmaster, making the third generation in which the office has been held by a member of the family. Mr. Taylor was 73 years old.

JOSEPH GILMOUR of Port Carbon, Penn., died suddenly Wednesday at his home in that town. He was one of the pioneer foundrymen of the anthracite region, and was 73 years of age. He was born in Kilmarnock, Scotland, and was the son of Boyd Gilmour, ironmaster at Galston, Scotland. Mr. Gilmour was prominent in Masonic circles, being a member of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania.

PALMER A. HART, President of the Palmer A. Hart Company, Incorporated, of Woodlawn, died yesterday in the Mount Vernon Hospital. Mr. Hart resided at Tremont and Jerome Avenues, the Bronx. His company erected many prominent monuments and mausoleums, among them being the Paul Morton Mausoleum and the Wisconsin Memorial in the National Military Park at Vicksburg. Mr. Hart was born in Morrisville, Madison County, N. Y., in 1870. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war, an Odd Fellow, a member of the Hopewell Lodge of Masons and the Damascus Commandry of Brooklyn, and the Mystic Shrine. Mr. Hart left a widow and two sisters.

Miss CHRISTINA B. ISHAM, Membership Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, in East Fifteenth Street, died yesterday of peritonitis in her home, 58 Ingraham Place, Newark, N. J., aged 36. She was born in New Haven, Conn., and was educated in Colorado College, Colorado Springs. She is survived by her parents and four sisters. BILLBOARDS, HE SAYS, DISFIGURE THE CITY

Commissioner Fosdick Finds the "Blatant" Things Up Contrary to Law and Astheticism.

BIG PROFITS MADE OF THEM

The City Advised to Take Control and Keep Its Architectural Face from Being Marred.

Commissioner of Accounts Fosdick has submitted to Mayor Gaynor a report of violations of law and disfigurements to highways by advertising billboards in this city. The Commissioner finds that there are approximately 3,700 billboards here, 25 per cent. of which are of the double-decker variety—that is, they are made up of two signs, each 10 feet in height, one placed above the other, and making in all about 4,600 facings for advertisements. In some instances there are three signs so placed, although the ordinances limit the height of wooden billboards to 10 feet and the metal boards to 18 feet 6 inches. An estimate based upon the actual measurements of 1,309 of these signs indicate that there are 3,800,000 square feet of surface in billboard advertising in the city.

The companies charge for the use of this space, where it is a bill poster board, from 1 to 2½ cents a square foot per month, or from 12 to 30 cents a square foot a year. The charge of painted bulletins averages about 18 cents a square foot a year. These prices, however, says the report, are for the ordinary locations in the city, as the prices for choice locations, such as public squares, intersections of public streets, &c., are considerably higher. The prices include the cost of posting the sheet or painting the advertisement on the bulletin board.

"An estimate of the gross revenue to the advertising companies, based upon these figures," says the report, "would indicate that they annually receive from the billboard advertising privilege in the city approximately $1,000,000. It should be borne in mind that this figure deals only with billboards and does not include sky signs; that is, signs erected upon walls and roofs of buildings.

The capital stock of eight of the leading companies engaged in the billboard business in the city amounts to nearly $2,000,000.

"The law relating to the erection of billboards," says Commissioner Fosdick in his report, "is constantly violated and little or no attempt made to enforce it." He continues:

The first regulation of the Code, to the effect that signs or billboards shall not be at any point over 10 feet above the adjoining ground except when constructed entirely of metal, or of wood covered with metal, was found to be violated in 412 instances out of 500 cases inspected. Some of these were constructed entirely of wood; others were constructed of metal facings with wooden uprights, braces and supports.

The second requirement, limiting the height of metal billboards to 18 feet 6 inches, is almost entirely ignored. One hundred and eighty-eight instances were found in which violations of this nature occurred. These instances practically covered all the signs inspected which were constructed of metal or of wood overed with metal. In some cases signs were doubled or trebled, extending one on top of another to a height of 40 feet. One hundred and sixty-five signs were found extending beyond the building line.

Besides being dangerous to health if they are not safely constructed and located, and when they are so constructed as to shut out light and air from buildings, Commissioner Fosdick finds there is another reason for their control by the city authorities. He says:

Not only are billboards ugly in themselves, but they mar the sightliness of every structure about them, so that real estate values are often affected by their presence. Beauty of environment is an asset of permanent value, and the surrounding property cannot be defaced without affecting materially the property in the entire neighborhood. The City of New York annually spends millions of dollars on public buildings, monuments, and parks. No public work is attempted without due regard to aesthetic considerations, which enter largely into the cost of construction. Millions of dollars are annually expended from private sources for the same purpose. The uncontrolled erection of large and blatant billboards in juxtaposition to these studied architectural effects is not only an inconsistent public policy but is unquestionably an injury to the general welfare.

"Courts have been slow in their interpretation of the police power to include elements of the aesthetic," the Commissioner observes.

RAID A COCAINE SHOP.

Parents Nearby Had Complained Their Sons Were Being Ruined.

Mothers and fathers whose homes are within the precinct ruled by Capt. Day from the West Forty-seventh Street Station have written to him frequently of late, complaining that their sons were being supplied with cocaine from some house in the neighborhood. They were trying their best to break their sons of the habit, and they appealed to the Captain to cut off the source of supply.

Detectives were put on the case immediately, and in the early hours of yesterday morning they forced their way into a house in Forty-third Street, near Seventh Avenue, routing out three young men and two girls and charging them with having cocaine in their possession. A heavy iron box packed with phials of the drug and a loaded revolver were part of the findings in the raid.

The girls were Annie White, 18 years old, and Lillian Van Nest, 19, both of 257 West Forty-third Street and both describing themselves as actresses. Shortly before noon the prisoners were taken to the West Side Court, but the girls were so weak that Magistrate House decided they were physically unfit to undergo the ordeal of an examination. Instead, they were sent to Bellevue Hospital. The men prisoners were Jacob Wallace of 276 West Fortieth Street, Thomas McPartland of 257 West Forty-third Street, and Henry Williams of 207 West Twenty-eighth Street.

SUBWAY WORK TIED UP.

Teamsters on Strike Extend Conflict to Big Building Excavations.

All work on the new Lexington Avenue Subway was tied up yesterday as the result of an order issued by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters extending the strike of sand and excavation teamsters to all contracts held by members of the Contractors' Protective Association. The members of this organization include the largest contractors in the city, and the contracts held by the firms represented comprise 90 per cent. of the excavating work for the foundations of new buildings now in process of construction in Manhattan.

Frank Tobin, business manager of Local 506 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, said that it had been decided to call out 5,000 coal teamsters if the demands of the excavation teamsters were not granted within three days. He added that if necessary the asphalt teamsters and other branches of the union would quit, and that the strike would be made general throughout the city.

Eugene P. Clarke, Secretary of the Contractors' Protective Association, said that practically all excavation work for new buildings and on the Lexington Avenue Subway had been tied up by the strike. Most of the strikers, he declared, were non-union men.

"We had an agreement with these teamsters which expired last November," he continued, "when demands were made for a new agreement embracing higher wages and new working conditions. We were willing to grant the wage demand, but the other conditions imposed were such that if we had granted them it would have amounted to a virtual surrender of the management of our businesses to the union."

STRIKING FURRIERS RIOTOUS.

Jeer Strikebreakers and Set Upon Them Despite Police Escort.

Following up their tactics of last Tuesday, when a small-sized riot took place at the noon hour in front of the establishment of H. Jaeckel & Sons, at Fifth Avenue and Thirty-second Street, a crowd of striking furriers gathered there last night and greeted with hoots and jeers a score or more of strikebreakers who attempted to leave the building. So threatening became their attitude that the non-union workers retreated within the factory and refused to leave until reserves had been sent from the West Thirtieth Street Station to protect them.

When the police attempted to escort the strikebreakers to the Subway the crowd set upon them and attempted to attack the workers. Three women and two men were arrested and locked up, charged with disorderly conduct.

AUTO HITS CAR; THREE HURT.

Freeport Family, Hurrying Home to Dinner, Ram a Trolley.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Terry of North Main Street, Freeport, and their 14-year-old son, Stanley, were hurrying home to dinner last evening in their touring car when they rammed an east-bound trolley of the New York & Long Island Traction Company. Their view of the car as they approached Newburn Avenue crossing from the south was obscured by a grocery store. The collision threw Stanley Terrey out of the automobile and he struck head first on the step of the car. The blow knocked him unconscious. The front of the automobile was smashed, but it remained upright and Mr. and Mrs Terry sustained no injuries but bruises. Nobody on the trolley car was hurt.

The three members of the motor car party were taken to the home of Dr. Luther N. Kice of Baldwin Village, who with Dr. William J. Steele attended their injuries. The physicians were of the opinion that Stanley Terry might have sustained a fractured skull.

GEORGIA GIRL SEEKS DEATH.

Robbed by Two Men and Deserted by Another, She Says.

Either Miss Daisy Way, 17 years old, late of Stillmore, Ga., is gifted with a vivid imagination that would do credit to the author of a "penny dreadful" novel or else she has undergone a series of most remarkable experiences in this city since her arrival four days ago. According to the story she told to Magistrate Krotel in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday she was drugged and robbed by two young men whom she asked to direct her to a hotel on Tuesday night and on Wednesday was made the victim of a bogus marriage.

Daisy found her way to the police court by accosting Nathan Lepron of 160 East Sixty-first Street at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning and asking him to direct her to Swan Lake in Central Park. She informed the youth that she intended to commit suicide. Patrolman Tobin of the Arsenal Station, was able to drag her back as she attempted to climb the railing near the lake.

The girl appeared to be distraught and begged to be permitted to end her life. She told Magistrate Krotel that she was recently left an orphan by the death of her father and decided to come to this city to seek a livelihood.

On her arrival she met two young men, according to her story, whom she asked to direct her to a hotel. They insisted that she should dine with them first and she consented. At their invitation she drank something with which she was unfamiliar and when she again became conscious found herself in a room in a hotel. The sum of $45, which she had in her purse, was missing. She sallied forth in search of her two companions of the previous evening and accidentally encountered a young man whom she had known in Stillmore. He offered to marry her after listening to her story and took her to a house where a man, who said he was a clergyman, performed a ceremony. Some hours afterward, she declares, her supposed husband left her on some pretext and failed to return. Then she decided to end her life.

The Magistrate sent her to the St. Zitas Home for Friendless Women.

WOMAN ACCUSES BLUECOAT.

Convicted on His Testimony Alone, She Gets Order for a Rehearing.

After having been found guilty of disorderly conduct and placed on probation by Magistrate Maguire in the Gates Avenue Court, Brooklyn, on the uncorroborated testimony of a policeman, Mrs. Caroline Culbert, 19 Fourth Avenue, has appealed to County Judge Townsend, and he has ordered that a hearing on the case be held in October. Policeman Boylan of the Central Office declared that Mrs. Culbert had spoken to him in Flatbush Avenue and invited him to accompany her to her home. This was denied by the prisoner, who said that the officer had followed her along the street, had accosted her, and finally followed to her home and placed her under arrest.

Her husband, Michael, testified that they had been married for eighteen years and had one son. He said that he worked as a blacksmith, and that until seven months ago, when he had worked in the West, he had been employed for five years by one firm. Despite the protestations of innocence made by Mrs. Culbert and her husband's faith in her, Magistrate Maguire found her guilty and suspended sentence, placing her on probation.

BURGLARS SHOW GOOD TASTE

Only Carry Off Banker's Best Cut Glass and Finest Wines.

Burglars who were excellent judges of cut glass and with a taste for rare old wines visited the apartments of Harry F. Burns, Vice President of the Nassau Trust Company, at 1,289 Dean Street, Brooklyn, early yesterday morning and carried away several hundred dollars worth of glass and wine. There was a large quantity of cut glass in the apartments, but only the best was taken. The same was true of the wines, nothing but rare vintages suiting the tastes of the burglars.

The apartment is on the first floor of the apartment house and has been closed during the Summer, as the family has been stopping at Northport, L. I. The janitor of the building noticed the door of the Burns apartment open when he swept the hall yesterday morning. He went in and found the rooms in confusion, clothing and linen being spread all over the floors. Bureau drawers had been opened and rifled, but no jewelry had been left in the house. The police of the Atlantic Avenue Station were notified and are working on the case.

ORDERS NEWSPAPERS TO DISCLOSE OWNERS

Sweeping Publicity Clause in Postal Law Also Applies to Magazines.

MAY RESIST ENFORCEMENT

Periodicals Required to File Statements of Circulation and Names of Stockholders, with Their Holdings.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Postmaster General Hitchcock is preparing to issue blanks to the newspapers, magazines, and periodicals of the country to enable them to comply with the newspaper publicity provision of the Post Office Appropriation act, approved last Saturday night. This provision is sweeping in character, and is expected to arouse considerable opposition when its full effect and character are understood. Not only does it require statements of circulation to be filed with the Post Office Department, but also the filing with the department of the names of the stockholders, bondholders, and other security holders of newspapers, magazines, and periodicals.

As this section of the law requires the filing of this information twice a year, on April 1 and Oct. 1, the first statement to be forthcoming on Oct. 1 next, it is necessary for the department to furnish its blanks quickly, in order to allow sufficient time for publications to respond with the information. The provision in full is as follows:

That it shall be the duty of the editor, publisher, business manager, or owners of every newspaper, magazine, periodical, or other publication to file with the Postmaster General and the Postmaster at the office at which said publication is entered, not later than the 1st day of April and the 1st day of October of each year, on blanks furnished by the Post Office Department, a sworn statement setting forth the names and Post Office addresses of the editor and managing editor, publisher, business manager, and owners, and in addition the stockholders, if the publication be owned by a corporation, and also the names of known bondholders, mortgagees, or other security holders, and also, in the case of daily newspapers, there shall be included in such statements the average number of copies of each issue of such publication sold or distributed to paid subscribers during the preceding six months.

Provided, that the provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to religious, fraternal, temperance, and scientific or other similar publications.

Provided further, that it shall not be necessary to include in such statement the names of persons owning less than 1 per centum of the total amount of stocks, bonds, mortgages, or other securities.

A copy of such sworn statement shall be published in the second issue of such newspaper, magazine, or other publication printed next after the filing of such statement. Any such publication shall be denied the privileges of the mail if it shall fail to comply with the provisions of this paragraph within ten days after notice by registered letter of such failure.

That all editorial or other reading matter published in any such newspaper, magazine, or periodical for the publication of which money or other valuable consideration is paid, accepted, or promised, shall be plainly marked "advertisement." Any editor or publisher printing editorial or other reading matter for which compensation is paid, accepted, or promised, without so marking the same, shall, upon conviction in any court having jurisdiction, be fined not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than five hundred dollars, ($500).

But this is not as sweeping as the provision originally in the bill. As passed by the House the Post Office bill would have prohibited the mailing of newspapers, magazines, or other publications unless there were printed therein the names and addresses of the editors and owners and owners of the stock, bonds, or other securities to the amount of $550 or more, daily papers being required to publish this list once a week, other publications on every issue. The original House bill also provided that editorial or reading matter for which payment was received should be plainly marked "advertisement" or signed by the name of the person in whose interest published.

With the purpose of the House provisions the Senate Post Office Committee was in accord, but considered them needlessly burdensome. For this reason the Senate Committee changed the paragraph so as to require the filing of the list of owners, stockholders, or security owners with the local Postmaster and the Postmaster General semi-annually, and requiring this list to be as frequently printed in an issue of the publication.

Senator Bourne, Chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee, discussing this provision, said:

"The extremely low postage rate accorded to second-class matter gives these publications a circulation and a corresponding influence unequaled in history. It is a common belief that many periodicals are secretly owned or controlled, and that in reading such papers the public is deceived through ignorance of the interests the publication represents. We believe that since the general public bears a large portion of the expense of distribution of second-class matter, and since these publications wield a large influence because of their special concessions in the mails, it is not only equitable, but highly desirable, that the public should know the individuals who own or control them."

CULEBRA CUT IS FLOODED.

Landslide Turns Ten Feet of Water Into Big Canal Section.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—There is likely to be ten feet of water, enough to float a good-sized vessel, in the famous Culebra Cut, long before the Panama Canal engineers calculated on turning on the water, as a result of one of the numerous landslides that have been occurring in that section of the canal during the last two years.

In this case a big slide of about 300,000 cubic yards of earth, on the east bank of the cut, turned into the canal bed Aug. 20, the stream of water which has been flowing through the special conduit provided for it, and known as the Obispo Diversion.

Engineers are trying to throw a temporary dike across the cut until the repairs can be made, but meanwhile and in spite of the powerful steam pumps employed the water is expected to rise to a depth of ten feet in a considerable portion of the cut

POLICE FOR MONDAY'S PARADE

600 Bluecoats to Line Fifth Avenue for Labor Day Turnout.

The police arrangements for the Labor Day parade were completed yesterday, and the details have been made public in a special order by Police Commissioner Waldo. Along the line of march, from Fifty-ninth Street down Fifth Avenue to Washington Square, there will be on duty during the parade twelve Captains, twenty Lieutenants, thirty-seven Sergeants, and 589 patrolmen. The commanding officer of the Fourteenth Inspection District is ordered, in addition, to furnish men for a proper regulation of vehicular traffic at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth, Forty-second, Thirty-fourth, Twenty-ninth, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-third, Fourteenth, and Eighth Streets and the necessary points about Washington Square.

A Lieutenant and ten mounted patrolmen will act as an escort to the marchers, and a Sergeant and three mounted patrolmen will do duty as a rear guard.

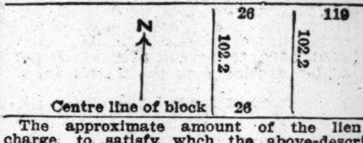
SUPREME COURT, COUNTY OF NEW York.—NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, plaintiff, against WESLEY THORN et al., defendants.

In pursuance of a judgment of foreclosure and sale, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 28th day of December, 1911, and orders of resale entered in the above-entitled action on the 1st day of April, 1912, and the 6th day of August, 1912, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment and orders named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesrooms, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 19th day of September, 1912, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Bryan L. Kennelly, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment and orders of resale to be sold, and therein described as follows:

ALL that lot of land, in the City and County of New York, with the buildings thereon, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point in the southerly side of Eighty-second Street, distant one hundred and nineteen feet westerly from the intersection of the southerly side of Eighty-second Street and the westerly side of Madison Avenue; and running thence southerly, parallel with Madison Avenue and part of the way through a party wall, one hundred and two feet two inches to the centre line of the block; thence westerly, along the centre line of the block, twenty-six feet; thence northerly again parallel with Madison Avenue, one hundred and two feet two inches to the southerly side of Eighty-second Street; and thence easterly, along the southerly side of Eighty-second Street, twenty-six feet, to the point of beginning. Said premises being now known as Number 18 East 82d Street.

Dated New York, August 27th, 1912.
ALFRED STECKLER, Jr., Referee.
GEORGE W. HUBBELL, Attorney for Plaintiff, 346 Broadway, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold; its street number is 18 East 82d Street:



The approximate amount of the lien or charge, to satisfy which the above-described property is to be resold, is one hundred and three thousand seven hundred and fifty-eight dollars and sixty cents ($103,758.60,) with interest thereon from the 3rd day of November, 1911, together with costs and allowance amounting to three hundred and twenty-six dollars and fifteen cents ($326.15,) with interest thereon from the 28th day of December, 1911, together with the expenses of the sale and resale.

The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments, and water rates or other liens, which are to be allowed the purchaser out of the purchase money, or paid by the referee, is nine thousand nine hundred and thirty dollars and sixty-two cents ($9,930.62) and interest.

Dated New York, August 27th, 1912.

PARCELS POST BEGINS WITH THE NEW YEAR

Government Express System Will Cover More Than a Million Miles of Postal Routes.

NEW EQUIPMENT NEEDED

Post Office Committees Are Busy Working Out the Details of the System.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—After several days spent in conference with the officers in charge of the several branches of the Postal Service, Postmaster General Hitchcock announced to-night that the department would be in readiness on Jan. 1 next, the date prescribed by Congress, to put into general operation the parcels post system authorized in the Postal Appropriation bill that became law last Saturday.

The postal express business that must be organized in so short a time must not only cover in its ramifications all systems of transportation now utilized by private express companies, but will be extended to more than 1,000,000 miles of rural delivery and star routes. This means that the work of organization must be pushed forward with great speed. A series of committees, made up of department officers and postal experts, will work out the details of the new system. One of these committees is already at work, having been appointed by the Postmaster General the day Congress adjourned. It consists of Chief Inspector Robert S. Sharp, Supt. John G. Koons of the Division of Salaries and Allowances, Chief Clerk A. A. Fisher of the Bureau of the Second Assistant Postmaster General, Chief Clerk Clarence B. Hurrey of the Bureau of the Third Assistant Postmaster General, and Supt. George L. Wood of the Division of Rural Mails. To assist this committee various other postal officials are being selected from the department's executive staff and from the Postal Service at large. By the end of the week Mr. Hitchcock expects to have the preliminary organization work well under way.

First of all, a classification of the articles that can be accepted for transportation must be prepared. The law admits to the mails practically all kinds of merchandise that can be safely transported, including products of the farm and garden, as well as factory products, provided such articles do not weigh over eleven pounds nor exceed seventy-two inches in combined length and girth. The mode of packing must be carefully prescribed. The present equipment of the mail service is not adapted to the carriage of such merchandise, and therefore new equipment must be provided. Special means must be arranged for the carriage of fragile articles. It is probable that hampers similar to those used abroad will be employed extensively in handling parcels post mail. The style, size, and material of such hampers, and of other necessary equipment, must be determined and advertisements issued for their purchase. To all these matters the officers of the department are giving immediate attention.

The law provides that postage on parcels shall be prepaid by affixing distinctive stamps. This will necessitate the manufacture of at least a dozen denominations of special stamps ranging from 1 cent to $1. The designing of these stamps is now under way, and the plates for their printing will be promptly engraved.

Provision for the collection on delivery of the price of the parcel, as well as the postage thereon, must be made, and regulations governing this phase of the question are therefore being prepared.

The law provides indemnification for lost or damaged articles, and since many of the articles to be carried will be of a fragile nature, or readily perishable, the question of indemnity is one for careful regulation. The system of distance zones provided for in the law requires the employment by Postmasters of a distinctive postal map on which the zones are to be represented. Such a map has been already prepared by the department, and arrangements are being made for the printing of about 150,000, in order to supply two copies to each Post Office and postal station in the United States.

Every Post Office has been numbered, and a directory of all offices is now being compiled for use in applying the prescribed rates of postage to the distance shown on the zone maps. Many thousands of copies of this directory will have to be printed and distributed.

The question of adequate transportation and terminal facilities for the parcels post on railway and steamboat lines, and likewise in the city wagon service, is one that must be worked out with great care, in order to insure the prompt movement of such mail and to prevent a possible clogging of the ordinary mail. In formulating his plans for the parcel business the Postmaster General recognizes the importance of providing at the outset sufficient additional equipment and transportation facilities to avoid the serious congestion and delay that might otherwise result from the taking over of so large a volume of additional mail.

Woolen Merchant's Property to Close Relatives.

Arthur T. Sullivan, a retired member of the firm of Sullivan, Vail & Co., woolen merchants, at Broad and Worth Streets, left property valued at $1,269,016.04. An appraisal of his estate, filed yesterday in the Transfer Tax Office of the Surrogates' Court by Deputy State Controller Wallace S. Fraser, shows that all of this was in personalty except his home at 584 Fifth Avenue, which was appraised by Solomon Goldenkranz at $75,000.

The estate consists of stocks and bonds of various enterprises, the largest of which are 1,100 shares of the preferred stock of the United States Steel Corporation, worth $122,100. When he retired he sold his share of his business.

By the terms of Mr. Sullivan's will his property is divided among his wife, two sons, a daughter, and a niece.

RAW SILK PRICES HIGHER.

No Concessions Made and Reelers Not Anxious to Sell.

Italian raw silk prices are advancing rapidly, according to advices from Milan received in the New York market yesterday, and reelers do not appear particularly anxious to dispose of the stock they have on hand.

Cables from Yokohama received by H. L. Gwalter & Co., indicate a very firm market there, with prices reflecting the upward trend of Italian raws. Holders are unwilling to make concessions of any sort, The Shanghai market is reported quiet. Shanghai re-reels and tsatlee filatures are slightly weaker in tone, with steam filatures holding their strength and tussahs somewhat higher. The Canton market is a little under an improved demand. Stocks of third crop silk are now nearly exhausted.

There has been more activity in this market of late, and prices are well maintained as a result. A fair business in silks for immediate requirements has been done, and the demand for forward deliveries is broadening somewhat. A few good-sized transactions have ben reported in the last few days.

BARE TONNAGE FRAUDS.

California Shippers Robbing State of $60,000 a Year, Say Investigators.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The sum of $60,000 a year is being stolen from the State of California by shipping men around San Francisco Bay, according to the findings of investigators, and Daniel Ryan, attorney for the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, who announces that civil and criminal proceedings are contemplated. The cases are said to resemble the sugar weighing frauds in the East.

Blanks provided by the State to show tonnage on which to base harbor dues have been filled in by clerks and agents of the shippers involved, so as to show, according to Ryan, much less tonnage of merchandise than the real amount handled. One company involved, it is said, has already made restitution to the State, and a general scramble by others to do likewise is expected. The frauds were proved by checking the tonnage statements against various ships' manifests.

Certain lumber men are credited with causing loss to the State by discharging cargoes partly here and partly at Oakland, across the bay. This makes it hard to check up on the total amount and collect the full fee of 5 cents a ton.

Her Estate to be Divided Between Her Son and Daughter.

The appraisal of the estate of Mrs. Caroline T. Schwab, the wife of Gustav H. Schwab, the steamship magnate, was filed yesterday with the Surrogate by Deputy State Controller Fraser. She died March 9, 1911.

The gross value of Mrs. Schwab's estate was $279,171.40. From this $23,536 was deducted for outstanding debts, administration expenses and commissions, leaving a net fortune of more than $255,635, to be divided between her son and daughter. The major part of Mrs. Schwab's estate consists of railroad stocks and bonds.

By her will her son, Gustav Schwab, Jr., will receive one-third of her undivided estate together with all her rights in a parcel of land consisting of 6,000 acres in the town of Salisbury, Conn. Her daughter, Mrs. W. W. Herrick, becomes the holder of the Ogden homestead, an estate of three acres, near Delhi, N. Y., and the residuary estate will be divided equally between son and daughter.

FORM $10,000,000 POWER CO.

Inter-City Company Formed in Delaware to Operate Around New York.

DOVER, Del., Aug. 29.—Articles of incorporation were filed here this afternoon at the State Department for the Inter-City Power Company of New York City, with an authorized capital stock of $10,000,000. The objects and purposes as specified in the charter include the manufacture and generation, the leasing, using, producing, and furnishing, and supplying of electricity or any other force or power, in any form whatsoever, for any and all purposes.

The incorporators include Harry M. Durning and Louis F. Metz of New York City and James W. Deevy of Brooklyn. The company is to have perpetual existence and to do business in any and all parts of the United States, but particularly in and around the City of New York. The State tax paid upon filing the charter here was $600.

NAVY GETS THE ARKANSAS.

Shipbuilders Turn Over New Dreadnought to Capt. Grant.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—The new dreadnought Arkansas was formally turned over to the Navy Department here to-day, President Samuel Knox of the New York Shipbuilding Company giving the war vessel into the custody of Capt. Grant, Commandant of the Philadelphia Yard.

Officers assigned to the new battleship are R. C. Smith, Captain; Commander William Moffatt, Executive Officer; Arthur M. Keating, Lieutenant Commander, and J. H. Ingram, Lieutenant.

Seek to Save Telephone Securities.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 29.—As receiver for the Continental Telephone and Telegraph Company, Frank P. McDermott has instituted suit in the Court of Chancery to restrain the Trenton Trust and Safe Deposit Company from disposing of $50,000 worth of securities of the American Union Telephone Company. The trust company loaned the Continental $40,000 two years ago on a four months' note, and took as security $50,000 of receivers certificates of the American Union Company.

SIDELIGHTS ON SELLING.

Household linens have shown considerable activity in the New York dry goods market of late. Dress linens are moving as well as can be expected at this time of the year.

Prices will be named early next week on dress ginghams and other cotton fabrics for Spring, 1913.

Velvets, velveteens, and corduroys are being taken in a very liberal way by retailers for Fall, according to a prominent jobber. So far sales of these goods have been fully as large as those of a year ago.

Advices from Chicago say that color combinations are in poor demand in the Middle West and that fewer fabric shoes are being sold than for some time.

Real laces are coming into demand more and more, according to a prominent trade authority, and Cluny, Irish, and Bohemian laces are enjoying an excellent call.

THE BUSINESS WORLD

BLAME FOR CANCELLATIONS.

Shoe Manufacturer Says Wholesalers Are Weak-Kneed.

Following recent complaints in THE TIMES from various wholesalers regarding the extent to which the returned merchandise evil is now practiced by retailers, comes the charge of a representative of a prominent Massachusetts shoe manufacturer that the fault is due more to weak-kneed acceptance of illegitimate returns by wholesalers than a desire on the part of retailers to employ unfair business methods.

"The manufacturer has always had a hard time selling the New York City trade because of this evil," he said yesterday, "and the real fault of it lies with the wholesalers. They have a trade association through which they could end, or at least minimize, illegitimate returns if they would get together, and then abide by their resolutions. The real trouble is that each jobber is afraid of the other and believes that by refusing one of these return shipments he will lose business to some competitor. I have personally seen local shoe dealers buy merchandise in the Duane Street district on Friday for Saturday's trade and return it the following week if business had been retarded by rain or other causes. And they got credit for it, too.

"It is extremely unfortunate that the shoe trade as a whole is not more of a business clan, for it is only by unified action that this and other trade abuses can be stamped out."

RECEIVERS FOR AUTO FIRM.

Federal Judge Acts in Case of E. R. Thomas Company in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Judge Hazel in the Federal Court here to-day appointed receivers for the E. R. Thomas Motor Car Company. It is said that the company has assets of $1,700,000 and liabilities of $960,000.

Inability to meet extension notes secured at a reorganization of the company a year ago caused the present action. The receivers will continue the business of the firm.

The Stock Exchange firm of Eugene Meyer, Jr., & Co of this city took hold of the E. R. Thomas Motor Car Company in February of last year and obtained a small group of officials of the Packard Motor Car Company, to whom they gave absolute control of the reorganization and the subsequent operation. An expert was put in charge of each department of the business, which it was expected would be rapidly built up. None of the members of the firm could be reached last night.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Pocket Mirrors More Than 2½ Inches in Diameter Are Not "Toys."

Butler Brothers of Chicago were unsuccessful in their contention before the Board of United States General Appraisers yesterday that small round mirrors, 2¾ inches in diameter, were properly dutiable as "toys" at 35 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 431. They had been assessed as "mirrors" at 45 per cent. under Paragraph 109. The board had previously ruled that only mirrors in sizes from 1½ to 2½ inches were commercially known as toys.

The M. J. Corbett Company won free entry for various chairs, mahogany tables, and blue china vases, which had been assessed under different paragraphs in accordance with Paragraph 717 providing for works of art more than twenty years old and artistic antiquities more than 100 years old at the time of importation.

The Collector at Philadelphia was ordered to reliquidate the entry of O. G. Hempstead & Son in regard to basins, beakers, flasks, and tubes made of fused silica, which had been assessed at 60 per cent. under Paragraph 100, and were contended to be dutiable at 20 per cent. under Section 6 of the Tariff act of 1897.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

NOVELTIES FOUND BY BUYERS

Laces and Embroideries in Demand—Trade Falls Off Slightly.

Taken as a whole the trading in the New York dry goods market yesterday was somewhat smaller than on Wednesday. Buyers were generally active in the morning, but an appreciable decline in sales was noticed in the afternoon. A number of buyers suspended operations over the holiday, to which the falling off in the aggregate sales of the day was largely attributed.

There was a fairly heavy volume of business done in the primary market during the day, the mails having been productive of some very good orders. Business will be quiet for the balance of the week, and some of the prominent commission houses will be closed on Saturday.

The jobbing end of the market experienced a generally active day, but with the exception of a successful sale of Fall dress goods by a well-known house trading was without particular feature. Laces moved well, bands and Bohemian and shadow effects having been in particularly good demand.

The Robespierre collar is the dominating feature of Fall offerings in women's neckwear. Imitation Carrickmacross, from Nottingham, sold freely, and Plauen neckwear was in good demand. Reports indicated a good call for embroideries, and it was believed that the demand for them would continue to improve.

FURNITURE TRADING BETTER

But Selling Prices Haven't Advanced with Production Cost Rise.

Considerable improvement has been noted in the furniture business of late, according to Leo Karpen of S. Karpen & Brothers, manufacturers, 155 West Thirty-fourth Street, which, following three or four years of hardly more than fair activity in this line, is particularly pleasing to the trade as a whole.

"The only real flaw in the present situation," said Mr. Karpen yesterday, "is the fact that selling prices have not been advanced in keeping with the constant rise in the cost of production. Business has been rather dull for the last three or four years, and consequently many manufacturers are adverse to asking for a substantial increase just yet. We advanced our prices materially on Aug. 15, but I am not in a position to say just what the rest of the trade has done along this line.

"A peculiar feature of recent business has been the dropping off in the demand for parlor suites and similar furniture from the middle class trade. Consumers who formerly bought this furniture are now apparently paying more attention to the furnishing of dining and living rooms, which seems to indicate that the parlor is rapidly being abandoned by the class not affluent enough to indulge in a drawing room. This has resulted in a greatly improved demand for leather-covered furniture, of which that upholstered in Spanish leather is the most popular today. Dyed leather coverings are now much preferred to painted ones."

CONSULAR TRADE NOTES.

Imports for consumption in Belgium in the first six months of this year aggregated $422,015,730, a gain of 27.2 per cent. over the corresponding period last year. Imports from the United States, valued at $2,379,324, were 9.7 per cent. higher.

It is officially announced that the Government of the State of New South Wales, Australia, has concluded arrangements with the Clyde Engineering Company, Limited, a local concern, for the construction of a hundred locomotives of the heaviest and most powerful type now in use. It has been agreed by the company to furnish them to the officials at the rate of three a month.

According to a recently issued official report 24 factories were engaged in the manufacture of beet sugar in Sweden during the year ended Sept. 1, 1911. In three of these factories, however, the process was carried no further than the extraction of the beet juice. Seventeen raised beets for their own consumption, but the quantity produced by these plants was only 3.6 per cent. of the consumption of all the Swedish factories.

The salt consumed in the Rosario (Argentina) Consular district, which covers the northern half of Argentina, is practically all imported, coming largely from the United Kingdom, Germany, and Spain. The two classes of salt known in that market are sea salt, commonly called Cadiz, and fine salt, which is not graded by quality but by origin and packing. The annual consumption may be stated approximately at 900,000 pounds of sea salt, 160,000 pounds of fine English salt in glass, 600,000 pounds of fine English in barrels, 250,000 pounds of fine German in barrels, 50,000 pounds fine in packages, and 50,000 pounds fine in bags.

Arbitrate Ecuador Railway Dispute.

RACINE, Wis., Aug. 29.—It was learned here to-day that Harry Janes, son of David G. Janes of this city, had been appointed arbitrator in the controversy over the Ecuador Railroad running from the coast to the capital of Ecuador. Several millions dollars is involved. Mr. Janes formerly was Vice Consul in Brazil.

THIRD AVENUE WANTS TO BUY

Asks Permission to Increase Holdings of Interborough Railway.

The Third Avenue Railway Company filed yesterday with the Public Service Commission a petition asking the consent of the commission to the purchase by the company of 13,560 shares of the stock and $259,000, par value, of the bonds of the New York City Interborough Railway Company. The petition sets forth that the outstanding capital stock of the Interborough company is $5,000,000, all of which is common stock, and that no dividends have been paid on it in the last five years.

It is also pointed out that it has a duly authorized issue of $5,000,000, par value, first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds, due May 1, 1928, of which $3,000,000 have been issued, and $2,000,000 have not been issued. Of the 3,000,000 in bonds that have been issued, $1,702,000 are outstanding, $87,000 belong to the sinking fund provided for the mortgage and $1,211,000 are in the possession of the New York City Interborough Railway Company.

It is stated that the Third Avenue Railway Company now owns $1,413,000, par value, of these bonds, and 28,650 shares of the capital stock of the Interborough company, and that it now desires to acquire an additional 13,560 shares of such stock and $259,000, par value, of such bonds for $234,625. The petition will come before the Public Service Commission at its meeting next Tuesday, when a date will be set for a hearing upon it.

TALK OF TRUST MERGER.

Neither Guaranty Nor Standard Will Confirm Old Rumor, However.

The report which was current several months ago that the Standard Trust Company was to be absorbed by the Guaranty Trust Company was renewed yesterday with the statement that the stock of the larger institution would be increased from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000. Those in a position to know said last night that no such merger had been arranged and no negotiations were now in progress, but that it had been talked of and was a possibility of the future. Officers of the Guaranty Trust Company declined to discuss the report, and those of the Standard said they knew nothing of such a deal having been made.

The Guaranty Trust Company, which is erecting a new building at Broadway and Liberty Street, is the third largest in the city, and would be larger than the Bankers' Trust Company if it absorbed the Standard. The Guaranty has total resources of $232,456,800, net deposits of $116,990,000, loans and discounts of $159,141,000, and surplus of $22,671,400. The total resources of the Standard are $23,638,000; net deposits, $15,406,000; loans and discounts, $16,714,000, and surplus, $1,389,600.

MORE LOUISVILLE STOCK.

Directors Recommend Increase from $60,000,000 to $72,000,000.

The Directors of the Louisville & Nashville met yesterday and decided on an increase in the capital stock from $60,000,000 to $72,000,000, which they will recommend to the annual meeting of stockholders at Louisville on Oct. 2. Upon its approval by the stockholders the Directors will fix the dates and conditions of subscription.

The new stock will be offered at par to stockholders, who may subscribe at the ratio of 20 per cent. of their holdings. There was some disappointment among them after the announcement, as it had been expected that the new stock would amount to at least $20,000,000, and possibly $40,000,000.

The $12,000,000 cash from the sale of the stock will be used in paying for new construction, new equipment, double track, and other additions and betterments already authorized by the Directors, and in various stages of completion.

COMMODITY MARKETS.

Grains Stronger, but React—Cotton and Coffee Weak—Pork Firm.

The grain markets all improved with moderate trading, partially reacting at the close. Cables were firm, with more unsettled weather abroad. Western receipts are increasing, however, but interior cash prices remain firm. Provisions were quiet and slightly firmer. Cottonseed oil was a shade easier. Cotton again develops weakness. Demand was disappointing. Weather conditions are generally favorable, with crop advices also satisfactory in the main. Coffee was easier, with the foreign news an important factor.

WHEAT.

Wheat closed at a slight net advance. The trading during the day was small, with prices showing rather limited fluctuations. The tone of the market was firm and interior cash prices were unchanged or higher. Foreign markets were firm, English prices showing an advance, while the Continent was a little lower. The weather was again unsettled abroad, but the bids for export were rather disappointing, and no export business in wheat was reported. The interior receipts of wheat were large, amounting to 1,340,000 bushels, against 893,000 bushels last year. The total in four days has increased 1,300,000 bushels, compared with last year, while interior shipments have increased 1,700,000 bushels. The receipts average over 1,250,000 bushels a day, yet there does not appear to be any pressure on the interior cash markets as yet. The trade, however, seems to be very confident that it will be only a matter of time before this pressure will be pronounced. Weather conditions were somewhat unsettled in the American Northwest, and there was more rain in the Canadian Northwest. The receipts in the Southwest continue heavy, notwithstanding the claims that the country offerings of hard Winter wheat are not large. Cash wheat at Chicago continues at a premium of 1⅛c to 2⅛c for the No. 2 hard over the September delivery. Minneapolis cash prices, which were erroneously telegraphed on Wednesday 5c up on the inside price at 6c to 7c over September, were again quoted at a range of 1c to 8c over the Sepembter delivery for No. 1 Northern. Local cash prices were steady, with No. 2 red, $1.07½; No. 1 Northern, $1.05¼; No. 2 hard Winter, $1.05; No. 1 Manitoba, $1.05½.

OTHER GRAINS.

CORN.—The corn market was firm all day, reacting a little from the extreme figures, but closed at a small net gain. Interior cash markets were ¼c to 1c higher, with Chicago prices ranging from 83¾c for No. 4 corn up to 83½c for No. 2 yellow. Receipts have increased a little this week, gaining 700,000 bushels compared with last week, but are 900,000 bushels less than last year. Although the receipts were larger, the arrivals were not equal to the demand. Considerable buying of December is developing on belief that the discount of approximately 25c a bushel of the new crop compared with the old will restrict the marketings. Export corn is quoted at 61¾c, free on board, December to March. Spot corn, cost, insurance, and freight the seaboard, was quoted at 90@92½c, as to grade.

OATS.—The market was active and higher, gaining ½c to ¾c early, reacting later, but closed at a small net gain. Receipts were heavy, amounting to 996,000 bushels, or double last year. In four days interior receipts have increased 900,000 bushels, and have gained 2,000,000 bushels over last year. Even with these receipts, cash oats were higher, and hold the premiums compared with futures. Export sales of 80,000 bushels were reported. Cash oats were firm, with standards and No. 3 whites, 41c; No. 2 whites, 42½c; white clipped, 42@44c.

PROVISIONS.

The market was firm, with a better tone in lard and ribs and in the distant deliveries of pork. The hog market was quiet and steady, with receipts for the day 52,000 head at all points.

COTTONSEED OIL.

Small declines were registered during yesterday's session. A scattered inquiry early served to absorb offerings from the sources purported to be selling against purchases of crude and seed. Leading refiners were thought to be among the buyers, but gradually the demand was satisfied. There were 7,000 tenders circulated, but these did not induce much liquidation. Crude offerings were reported as fair. Incidentally it has been intimated in some quarters that part of the selling of futures recently has been in anticipation of heavier selling by the South. Prompt shipment of crude in the Southeast and valley was officially quoted at 5.07 bid, and in Texas 5 to 5.13.

COTTON.

The persistent gossip to the effect that there would be considerable short covering over the holidays and in advance of the Government report seemed to cause miscellaneous buying during yesterday's session, and there were gains of from 6 to 8 points. It developed, however, that the large interests, supposedly short of the market, were not perturbed. The opinion was ventured that these people were content with their position and were more likely to accept profits if a bearish interpretation is given to the Government figures on Tuesday. As the demand failed to materialize there was liquidation by recent buyers, while the support rendered by a prominent local commission house of late was less in evidence. Prices reacted to substantially below Wednesday's finals and to within a few points of the low levels of the season.

It still seems as though the tendency is to follow the operations of spot interests who are generally recognized as maintaining their bearish attitude. The selling by the South, which was again noticeable yesterday, apparently is more than commensurate with the demand from spinning quarters, so that those depressing the market are imbued with confidence. There are signs, however, of sentiment becoming more mixed, or at least there is more caution displayed on the bear side. In partial explanation of this, crop advices, while remaining satisfactory on the whole, indicate less uniformly favorable conditions, strengthening the impression that some of the deterioration which usually occurs in August will be experienced this coming month because of the lateness of the cotton crop.

The National Ginners' report of 74.8, with 9 points loss in Texas claimed, added to the disposition to expect more or less deterioration accounts in the near future. It was argued that Texas was not as late as the plant in other States. Ideas have not been changed as to the probable Government showing next week, with guesses quite close to 74 and 75, comparing with 73.2 a year ago, and 76.5 last month. Several private reports will probably make their appearance to-day, including the Giles report, The Journal of Commerce figures, and the estimate of Norden & Co.

It continues dry over most of the cotton belt. The predictions favored further clear weather. There have been claims that unfavorable conditions would develop over the week-end, but it was not definitely stated upon what these predictions were founded. Movement of cotton is not heavy, with yesterday's port receipts about 18,000 bales, nearly all recorded at Galveston, comparing with a total movement last week of 13,000 bales, as against 52,000 a year ago. The Texas movement is only a little behind last year, but from other sections the receipts continue extremely light. Cables yesterday were a shade above a parity, with Manchester accounts good, but the spot sales at Liverpool show no tendency to expand. Spot markets were generally a shade easier. Middlings at New York were 11.25.

COFFEE.

Coffee opened at a decline of 7 to 17 points, and showed further weakness under active selling but late in the session rallied, closing steady at a net decline of 3 to 11 points. Sales, 152,500 bags. Havre closed at a net decline of ¾ to 1 franc, while Hamburg was ¼ to ½ pfennig lower.

Weather conditions in Brazil were more favorable, the regular weather report showing rain in one district and cloudy conditions in four. Temperatures ranged from 44 to 93 degrees. Rio was firm, 75 reis up, and Santos was quiet, 50 reis lower.

Diversify Your Investments

We have issued a special circular entitled "Judicious Investment," in which we outline the wisdom of placing money in different classes of investments, selecting those which would seem to be among the best of each class.

We shall be glad to send you a copy of this circular, and to submit for your consideration three bond issues, each of a different type, and yielding a return averaging about

5½%

The bonds combine in our judgment a high degree of safety and a reasonably broad market with the promise of appreciation in value.

Write for our Circular No. 825 "Judicious Investment."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

English Bank Rate Advance Reflected in Local Money Rates—Prices Are Irregular.

If transactions on the New York Stock Exchange had not been restricted to a very small volume for the previous fortnight, yesterday's small total might have been plausibly charged against the action of the Governors of the Bank of England in raising the discount rate from 3 to 4 per cent. An advance had been heralded for several days, but in view of the fact that it did not occur last year until September, there was a disposition in some quarters to look for a continuance of the 3 per cent. rate for a few weeks longer, or for an increase of only ½ instead of 1 per cent. at this time. Yesterday's totol sales were considerably smaller than for any day this week, the smallest, in fact, since Aug. 6, but it is an open question if the advance in the Bank of England's discount rate had any appreciable part in lessening the activity. A more likely reason is to be found in the approach of the three-day holiday. Had the recent market been an old-time speculative affair, with occasional million-share days, it is quite possible that an advance in the discount rates would have been followed quickly by a tightening of interest rates here, with a consequent depressing effect on the market. The speculative commitments have been so small lately that no great amount of call money has been in demand even at 2½ per cent., and the highest rate charged yesterday was 3¼ per cent., with 3 per cent. the ruling rate. Time rates are hardening and with exports of gold staring the banks in the face, in addition to the regular crop moving requirements now beginning to make themselves felt, it will be strange if the money situation does not tend to operate against any considerable broadening of the stock market for a few weeks.

There were about 244,000 shares dealt in yesterday, and a continued absence of interest in the standard issues was noticeable. It was unfortunate for the men who have been carrying large blocks of Louisville & Nashville stock for many weeks in anticipation of the declaration of an extra dividend in the form of new stock at par that the announcement should have come at such a time. Moreover, it had been freely predicted that the management would distribute $40,000,000 of new stock, or, at the least, $20,000,000, and the action of the Directors in authorizing an offer of but $12,000,000, or one share in five of new stock was reflected in an immediate drop of nearly three points, although this had been reduced to a net decline of 1¾ at the close. Westinghouse was helped somewhat by the fresh publication of reports that the management will put the stock on a 6 per cent. or even 7 per cent. basis next month, and Canadian Pacific recovered 1¼. On the whole, however, the market was featureless and the irregular changes at the end of the day not indicative of any decided tendency.

MONEY AND EXCHANGE.

Money on call loaned on Stock Exchange collateral at 2⅝@3¼ per cent., with the last loan at 2¾ per cent. Most of the day's loans were made at 3 per cent.

Time money rates, 3½@4 per cent. for sixty days, 4@4½ per cent. for ninety days, 4¼@4¾ per cent. for four months, 4¾@5¼ per cent. for five and six months.

Commercial paper was quoted at 5@5½ per cent. for the best names.

New York Clearing House statement: Exchanges, $290,582,377; balances, $13,760,625; Sub-Treasury debit balance $128,150.

The local banks have lost $5,896,000 on their Sub-Treasury operations since Friday.

FOREIGN RATES.

Discount rates abroad yesterday were: London, 3⅝@3¾ per cent. for short bills and 3¾ per cent. for three months' bills; Paris, 2¾ per cent., and Berlin, 4⅛ per cent. The money rates were 2½ per cent. in London and 3½ per cent. in Berlin.

The Paris check rate on London was 25 francs 28½ centimes, and the Berlin check rate on London, 20 marks 47 pfennigs.

Foreign exchange rates at the points noted were quoted as follows at the close of business yesterday:

CABLE AND SIGHT RATES.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Favorable Factors.

Perhaps one reason that the market has not had the rise predicted for it is that too many people have been expecting it. To have a good market it is necessary to have a difference of opinion. Practically all of the specialists on trading are telling their clients that the market must have a big upward swing this Fall; that business and agricultural conditions are such that a strong market is inevitable. To which the clients retort that these conditions have prevailed for a number of weeks, and the market has not yet begun its advance. One adviser explained this situation in a letter yesterday in which he said that "a great public wants to buy stocks but is discouraged by market apathy, although it appreciates the many bullish factors." If "market apathy" is going to be allowed to prove itself stronger than the effect of a 660,000,000 bushel wheat crop, a 2,800,000,000 bushel corn yield, &c., what is the use of good news, anyway?

⁂

August Rail Earnings.

Even the railroads, which have not had enough prosperity to worry them in recent years, are doing their share toward making this a great Fall season. August has been a month of good business with most all of the important lines, and July, the first month of the railroad year 1912-13, showed remarkable gains on the part of some of the big companies. The Southwestern lines are making the best showing in this respect, but it appears likely that the palm will be taken away from them by the Northwestern lines when once the grain movement gets under way. The Eastern roads are running up their totals by reason of the big steel and coal tonnage they are now handling. That is the best feature about the revival in trade now setting in, that it covers practically the entire country.

Funds for Farm Mortgages.

The announcement that the Equitable Life Assurance Society is to open agencies this Fall in several Western States to invest part of its funds in farm mortgages has led to some discussion of the possible ultimate effect of this policy, should it be sufficiently extended, on the market for railroad and industrial bonds in which the insurance companies now have hundreds of millions invested. To what extent the Equitable will divert its investments has not been determined and other big insurance companies have shown no disposition as yet to follow its lead, but if the Equitable's experience proves satisfactory it is thought that it may lead to far-reaching changes in the current of investments. The Equitable's determination is doubtless due to the results of a trip of several weeks' duration made early in the Summer by President William A. Day, one of the declared purposes of which was to study investment conditions. He came back fairly bubbling with optimism over improving business and the great possibilities of development in the West. While the subject has therefore apparently been under consideration by the Equitable for some time, some of its competitors are inclined to look askance on the farm mortgage project. An officer of one of the big companies commented yesterday on the difficulty of valuing farm property, the slowness of a mortgage as an asset and the necessity of having representatives on the ground to make the investments. He expressed the opinion that the expense for agents would offset the difference in the return on mortgages as compared with bonds. A subsidiary question is whether the diversion of part of the funds of insurance companies would induce other investors, displaced by them, to turn to bonds, with their lower yield, or whether they would become lenders on less attractive mortgages than at present.

Saxony's Car Shortage.

The last returns from the Saxon State railroads show a heavy increase in freight revenue, which was accompanied by a car shortage such as is now threatened in this country. The cause of the Saxon car shortage, however, was peculiar. It was not caused by a hand-to-mouth policy in the purchase of equipment such as the railroads here felt constrained to adopt after 1907, together with bumper crops, but by an unusually hot Summer. The effect of the dry weather was to make many of the water transportation routes unavailable for the movement of freight and grain. The burden of transportation was thrown entirely on the railroads, which found themselves unable to meet the great demand for freight cars.

The Restriction of Advertising.

A resolution of the Governing Committee of the Stock Exchange adopted in 1898 reads: "In future the publication of an advertisement of other than strictly legitimate business character, by a member of the Exchange, shall be deemed an act detrimental to the interest and welfare of the Exchange." The enforcement of this resolution has been so strict as to practically limit the advertising of Stock Exchange members to business cards, or bare statements of offers to buy or sell. About a year ago there was something of a revolt among some of the enterprising houses which had been endeavoring by advertising to reach a broader clientele, objections having been raised to an advertisement in a periodical in which a picture of a locomotive was used to catch the eye and lend interest to a cut and dried offering of railroad securities. A considerable element of the Exchange felt that the criticism of this style of advertising was unjust, and there was talk that with a new administration a more liberal interpretation of the "legitimate" in advertising might be expected. That the bars have not been let down may be gathered from the modification that the advertising of a Stock Exchange house specializing in Standard Oil issues has recently undergone. A brokerage house does not hesitate to recommend investments to its clients nor to call attention privately to advice which has proved sound, but apparently it may not do so through the medium of an advertisement. This house recommended some Standard Oil subsidiaries, and when they went up called attention to the fact. Their recent advertisements have been confined to bare offerings of the securities.

OUTSIDE SECURITIES

Heavy Trading at Advancing Prices in United Cigar Stores of America Shares.

Heavy trading at advancing prices in United Cigar Stores of America stock and a slump in United States Motors were the features of the market on the Curb yesterday. The Cigar Stores stock started at 92¼, sold down as low as 91⅞, and rose to 96⅝, closing, after sales of 10,500 shares, at 95⅞. United States Motors common sold off from 3⅝ to 3, and closed at 3½. The preferred sold off from 12 to 9½, and closed at 11½, even with the opening. The preferred at the low price was 7½ points below the opening price of Wednesday. The coppers moved narrowly, in most instances closing even with the opening levels.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

Copper for delivery in the late months was up ⅛c in the asking price on the Metal Exchange, and tin was strong at an advance of ¼c in the bid, five tons of November delivery selling at 46.50. Lead was up 5 points, 50,000 pounds of spot selling at 4.65.

The closing bid and asked prices follow:

Standard copper—	Thursday. Bid.	Asked.	Wednesday. Bid.	Asked.
Spot	17.27½	17.35	17.25	17.50
August	17.27½	17.35	17.25	17.50
September	17.35	17.50	17.25	17.50
October	17.35	17.62½	17.25	17.50
Spelter	7.25	7.50	7.10	7.30
Lead	4.65	4.75	4.60	4.75
Tin	46.50	47.00	46.30	46.75

The final prices for spot and future deliveries of copper and pig tin on the London Metal Exchange yesterday make these comparisons with Wednesday's closing figures:

	Thursday. £	s.	d.	Wednesday. £	s.	d.
Copper, spot	78	16	3	79	10	0
Copper, futures	79	6	3	79	12	6

The market finished strong. Spanish pig lead was unchanged, at £20 10s, and spelter at £26 15s. Cleveland warrants were up 4½d, at 63s 7½d.

STOCKS OUT OF TOWN.

Coppers Quiet in Boston — Bulge in Union Carbide.

Trading was fairly active yesterday on the Exchanges in other cities, as reported in special dispatches to THE TIMES.

In Baltimore, United Railways shares and notes continued strong and reached high record prices. United Railways incomes were also slightly higher. Maryland and Pennsylvania stock and income bonds made material gains. Merchants and Miners voting trust certificates were soft and lower.

In Boston, the coppers were quiet and off a little. Calumet & Arizona, North Butte, and United States Smelting were the most active. Butte & Superior was strong. Shoe Machinery was active, and went up to 57½. The other local specialties were practically unchanged. New Haven & Hartford sold at 138¼, Providence & Worcester at 276¼ on a seller fifteen days' option, New England Telephone at 155½, American Telephone at 144¾, and Edison Electric at 292.

In Chicago, Union Carbide furnished the sensational feature, and the price was lifted quickly to 176, compared with 171 at the close of Wednesday, after which it was allowed to react a few points. Elsewhere the market was more rash, and included an advance of a point each in National Carbon common and American Shipbuilding common, and fractional gains in Diamond Match, Box Board, Illinois Brick, and Chicago Railway certificates, which were fairly active. The declines were generally small, and were in Sears-Roebuck common, Commonwealth Edison, Corn Products, Pneumatic Tool, Swift shares, and Streets Stable Car. Bonds were firm but with moderate trading.

In Philadelphia, until near the close, when prices reacted all around, the market presented a buoyant appearance, with activity concentrated upon Cambria Steel and Keystone Telephone shares. Cambria Steel's upward flight continued, and a new high price for the year at 48 was quickly established. Thereafter offerings became large and the price reacted, but there seemed to be a strong demand for the shares above 47.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Advance in the Bank of England Rate Slightly Depresses British Securities.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Friday, Aug. 30.—The Times says in its City article to-day:

"The Bank of England yesterday raised its rate by 1 per cent. to 4 per cent. The movement was generally expected, and was followed by an advance to the same extent in the deposit rate of the clearing banks. Discount houses and bill brokers raised their deposit allowances by only ¾ per cent., but this change brings them into line with the banks, as they had been paying ¼ per cent. more than those institutions for some time past.

"The action of the Bank Directors was received with general satisfaction. In some cases bill brokers expressed regret that the situation which has just been ended could not continue indefinitely, as it suited them well, but they fully recognize that in order to maintain it they and the clearing banks would have had to relieve the Bank of England by increasing the volume of bills they took, and, on the whole, they prefer that the Bank rate should be raised.

"In the opinion of most people, the rise regularizes a position which was becoming inconvenient and absurd. Its anomalies were thrown into relief by the large amount of private deposits.

"Discount quotations yesterday were the same as Wednesday for three and six months' bills and rather higher for four months' paper, which was not popular, as it matures in January.

"The chief Continental exchanges moved in our favor, but Alexandria moved against us.

"Business was moderately active in some sections of the Stock Exchange, but the tone was rather dull until shortly before the close, when a decided improvement was noticeable in certain markets.

"The American market was quiet, with irregular movements."

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The advance in the rate of discount of the Bank of England had no effect on the Bourse to-day. A good tone prevailed throughout, and prices closed higher.

Three per cent. rentes, 92f 75c for the account.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Prices were strong on the Boerse to-day.

Canadian Pacific was an exception, and closed lower.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Both on the 9:30 o'clock opening call and subsequently Reading led the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange in respect to activity. It changed hands on the call at 170⅝ and 170½, the latter being the final call price, and comparing with a closing quotation on Wednesday of 170⅝ and a New York Stock Exchange opening at 10 o'clock of 170¼. When the market receded later Reading was offered freely by the traders, with more than 600 shares selling at 170 and a 100-share lot going as low as 169⅞, compared with a low of 170 on the New York Stock Exchange, where but a single 100-share lot sold at that figure. Transactions on the call totaled 3,050 shares, distributed among fifteen different stocks. In the subsequent trading there were transactions in Brooklyn Rapid Transit at 91¾ and 91⅞, the only sales of that stock reported in Wall Street during the day.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Bush Terminal Company to Build Huge Plant at Bayonne, N. J., if Riparian Rights are Secured—Project Involves Millions—Investors Buying Tenements—Suburban Deals.

The Bush Terminal Company of Brooklyn made application yesterday to the Riparian Commission of the State of New Jersey for 2,500 feet of shore front on New York Bay, beginning at East Forty-ninth Street, Bayonne, and continuing in a southerly direction.

The Bush Company recently secured an option on 2,500 feet of upland property within the boundary described, and if the commission grants the application the work of dredging the shore front and the erection of a series of huge docks and warehouses similar to those in South Brooklyn will be started at once.

In its application the Bush Company did not state the figure it was prepared to pay for the riparian rights, but an officer of the company said that no such figure as $400 per front foot as paid by the American Radiator Company for a grant immediately adjoining would be considered.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company secured the riparian rights fronting on its New York freight yard property on New York Bay for $50 per front foot, and the Bush Terminal Company is apparently of the opinion that, in view of the great benefits its operations would bestow on New Jersey by reason of its establishing such extensive dockage, freight, and manufacturing facilities in the location sought, the Riparian Commission should agree to a more moderate figure. The project if carried out will cost many millions of dollars.

Buy to Protect Light and Air.

For the purpose of protecting the light and air of the big commercial loft building, now in course of construction at 207 to 217 West Twenty-fifth Street, the Graphic Arts Realty Company has purchased from the estate of Joseph T. Chapman 203 West Twenty-fifth Street. An option on No. 205 has also been secured from Leon Simms.

Investors Buying Tenements.

Tenement house property continues in good demand by small investors. Among yesterday's transactions was the resale to an investor by Hirschfield & Liebhoff of 312 West 117th Street, a five-story flat, on lot 26.3x100.11, near Eighth Avenue. The sellers acquired the property last month from Harry Siegel.

On the east side Charles Bretz bought for investment from Maude Brevoort Barclay 361 and 363 East Tenth Street, two seven-story tenements, on plot 50 by 94.9, between Avenues B and C. This makes the fifth house in a row recently disposed of. No. 355 was purchased by Charles Cohen, who gave in trade 244 Division Street. The houses at Nos. 357 and 359 were bought by A. M. Weiser and A. M. Englehart, respectively.

Buyer for Madison Avenue Corner.

Kurz & Uren, Inc., have sold for Samuel Green the northwest corner of Madison Avenue and 127th Street, a three-story private dwelling on lot 17 by 60.

$10,000 Deal at College Point.

The Traun Rubber Company has bought from Ulrich Vogt a plot 100 by 100 on the west side of Fourteenth Street, midway between Third and High Streets, College Point, Long Island. The consideration is understood to have been $10,000. The Traun Company expects to erect a large addition to its plant on the plot which adjoins.

Long Island.

The Windsor Land and Improvement Company has sold at Rockville Centre, to A. Schmitt, a plot 60 by 100 on Cornell Avenue; to H. Halle, a plot 40 by 102 on Cornell Avenue; to M. J. Hartel, a plot 20 by 140 on Lake View Avenue; to J. Guth, a plot 80 by 109 on Vincent Street and Montauk Avenue. The same company sold at Floral Park, to M. Boyce, C. Cassidy, and O. Barnabe, each a plot 40 by 100 on Violet Avenue; to B. Hymowitz, a plot 80 by 100 on Violet Avenue; to J. J. Tighe, a plot 60 by 100 on Violet Avenue and Clarence Street; to E. McDonnell, a plot 40 by 125 on Verbena Avenue and Carnation Avenue; to A. Schmitt, a plot 45 by 100 on Verbena Avenue; to Robert Henry, a plot 40 by 100 on Geranium Avenue.

Suburban.

Burke Stone has sold for Oliver M. Oake a house on Scarsdale Avenue, Crestwood, Westchester County, to Otto F. Dreyer.

John Scott Anderson has purchased a dwelling and extensive grounds in the thousand-acre residence park at Mountain Lakes, near Boonton, N. J.

Clubhouse for Edison Employes.

Plans have been filed for the rebuilding of the five-story private dwelling at 113 East Twelfth Street into a clubhouse for the Employes' Association of the New York Edison Company. A rear extension will be built and the interior made over to accommodate two bowling alleys and a shuffleboard on the first floor, a reception room and music room on the second floor, a billiard room on the third and fourth floors, and a reading room on the fifth floor. This building is owned by the company, and it has granted the association the use of it as an experiment, and will provide for a larger one if this venture proves successful. William Weissenberger, Jr., chief engineer of the company, who acts as architect, has estimated the cost of making this alteration at $10,000.

Leases.

Ruland & Whiting Company has leased the store and basement of 332 Canal Street to Wolf Ain & Co.

Slawson & Hobbs have leased for a term of years for Ranald Macdonald a store in the new building on the southeast corner of Amsterdam Avenue and Seventy-fourth Street.

The New York Company has leased the private house 1,894 Lexington Avenue to Otto Will. This is on the line of the new subway, and a station is to be located within two blocks of the same at 116th Street.

L. J. Phillips & Co. have leased the following private houses: 236 West Seventy-fifth Street for E. S. Conners to H. J. Eckstein; 250 West Seventy-fifth Street for Arthur Lewis to Dora Osborne; 318 West Seventy-second Street for estate of O. J. Ryan to S. Lichtenstann; 111 West Eighty-sixth Street for Albert Hirsch to L. P. Feustman.

Pease & Elliman have leased 332 West Eighty-fourth Street to L. Leerburger; 331 West Seventy-sixth Street to B. Curtis, and the garage 206 West Seventy-sixth Street to Chapin & Fritshman.

Real Estate Notes.

Justice Amend of the Supreme Court has appointed Philip S. Schindler receiver of the rents of 40-42 West 100th Street, a six-story tenement, pending a suit brought by Janet Muller to forclose a mortgage of $35,000.

A building loan of $131,000 has been secured by Aaron Goodman from the Manhattan Mortgage Company for the erection of three five-story apartment houses on the south side of Beck Street, between Intervale Avenue and Tiffany Street.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The disturbance that was over the Great Lakes Wednesday passed rapidly east to the Canadian Maritime Provinces, and the disturbance that was then over the Plateau Region has moved to the North Plains States.

During the last twenty-four hours these disturbances caused scattering rains in the Northwest and over the Northern and Middle States from the Mississippi Valley east.

Temperatures continue unseasonably high generally throughout the South, but are generally below normal throughout the North and west of the Rocky Mountains, and decidedly below normal in the Northwest.

Indications are that the Northwest disturbance will move east and the area of unsettled weather and showers attending it will overspread the Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic States and New England Saturday.

Temperatures will rise by Saturday in the Middle Atlantic States and New England.

Winds along the New England Coast will be moderate north shifting to east; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate northeast and east; South Atlantic Coast, light variable.

Steamships departing Friday for European ports will have moderate northeast and east winds, and generally fair weather to the Grand Banks.

FORECASTS FOR TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, and New England—Fair Friday; Saturday increasing cloudiness and warmer, probably followed by showers by night; light to moderate north winds.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Friday; Saturday increasing cloudiness and warmer, probably followed by showers; light to moderate north to east winds.

Western New York—Fair Friday; Saturday showers and warmer; moderate east winds.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at midnight, taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1911.	1912.		1911.	1912.
3 A. M.	74	60	4 P. M.	63	72
6 A. M.	75	60	6 P. M.	63	71
9 A. M.	74	62	9 P. M.	66	62
12 M.	65	67	12 M.	63	61

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 66; for the correspondingn date last year it was 68; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 70.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 60; at 8 P. M. it was 68. Maimum temperature, 74 degrees at 3 P. M.; minimum, 59 degrees at 2:30 A. M. Humidity, 73 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 76 per cent. at 8 P. M.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The Board of Superintendents will shortly nominate a candidate for the office of District Superintendent, made vacant by the death of the late Julia Richman. The nomination will be made from the following list of Principals: Cornelius D. Fleming, P. S. 160; Cecil Kidd, P. S. 184; William A. Boylan, P. S. 46; John P. Conroy, P. S. 189; John L. Fruauf, P. S. 14; James B. T. Demarest, P. S. 19; John S. Roberts, I. S. 62; Thomas J. Boyle, P. S. 69; Joseph G. Furey, P. S. 129; Dr. Ernest R. Birkins, P. S. 10; John T. Nicholson, P. S. 186; Hugo Newman, P. S. 33; James J. Reynolds, P. S. 122; Bryan Reilly, P. S. 157; Matthew D. Quinn, P. S. 5; Mary L. Brady, P. S. 177; Katharine D. Blake, P. S. 6; Louise E. Tucker, P. S. 163; Mary A. Conlon, P. S. 30; Margaret F. O'Connell, P. S. 31; Margaret Knox, P. S. 15.

William McAndrew, Principal of the Washington Irving High School, has been offered the Superintendency of Schools of Detroit. He has not accepted the position as yet for the reason that the Board of Education of Detroit has not signified its willingness to meet his ideas for the tenure of office of teachers. In Detroit teachers are subject to an annual election. Mr. McAndrews, in common with many people, believes it impossible to get the best service out of a teacher unless permanency of position is assured.

The Board of Education has awarded the following contracts: Fire protection work Public Schools 2, 3, 9, 11, and 18; sanitary work Public School 42; outside iron stairs Public School 105; heating and ventilating apparatus, in addition, to Public School 20.

The summary of vacation playground attendance for the eighth and last week, ended Aug. 24, as given out at the Department of Education Building yesterday, is as follows: Indoor, 440,652; mothers and babies, 136,603; evening playgrounds, 109,734; open-air playgrounds, 28,960; kindergarten centres, 7,358.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has approved the following:

Request of the chief clerk of the Board of City Magistrates, First Division, that George Cara Nichols receive a non-competitive examination in which to qualify for provisional employment as Greek interpreter.

Request of the Commissioner of Weights and Measures for approval of the emergency appointment of Mary H. Casey as stenographer.

Appointment by the Commissioner of Parks, Borough of Brooklyn, of Joseph F. Byrne and Hannah Klein as attendants.

Certification of ten names from which to appoint one clerk for the Department of Public Works at a salary of $750 a year.

Emergency appointment by the Department of Public Charities of Peter J. Hart as telephone switchboard operator.

Request of the Acting President of the Borough of Queens for authority to employ Arthur E. Corneau as chemist at a salary of $1,200 a year.

Emergency appointment of Lilliam McEntee as telephone operator, at a salary of $900 a year, in the Department of Public Works, Manhattan.

Emergency appointment by the Deputy Commissioner of Water Supply, Gas, and Electricity of James Wandell as stationary engineer at a salary of $4.50 per day.

United States.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination on Oct. 9 and 10, at the New York Custom House, to obtain eligibles from which to make certification to fill a vacancy in the position of business teacher at $1,000 a year and quarters, in the Indian School at Carlisle, Penn., and vacancies requiring similar qualifications as they may occur, in any branch of the service, unless it is found to be in the interest of the service to fill the vacancy by reinstatement, transfer, or promotion. As considerable difficulty has been experienced in getting enough eligibles for this position, qualified persons are urged to enter this examination, which will consist of the following subjects, weighted as indicated: Spelling and copying, 5; method of teaching, 10; commercial law, 5; commercial arithmetic, 10; bookkeeping, 5; stenography, 15; typewriting, 15; business correspondence, 10; commercial geography, 5; penmanship, 10; training, experience, and fitness, 10. Statements as to training, experience, and fitness are subject to verification. Applicants for this position must be capable of giving instruction in bookkeeping and general business practice, as well as a Pitmanic system of shorthand. A description of the practical tests is contained in Form 1,424. To become eligible as a result of this examination a competitor must attain a rating of at least 70 per cent. in the practical test in stenography, an average of at least 70 in the practical tests in typewriting, and an average of at least 70 in the entire examination. If a competitor fails in the practical tests in stenography or typewriting the remaining subjects of the examination will not be considered. Two days will be required for this examination, to which both men and women will be admitted.

WILLS FOR PROBATE.

YATES, JOHN, (died Aug. 14;) left $1,150 personalty; to Frank W. Yates, son, $483.33; Arthur B. Yates, son, $333.33; Adelaide L. Schaefer, daughter, $333.33.

Better Than Usual

Good Office Boys are difficult to secure. There are all kinds, but The New York Times has proved to be the ideal newspaper to use when in search of the best boys.

The New York Times:—

I inserted a two-line advertisement for a boy in The New York Times.

The result was a delightful disappointment. Instead of the usual crowd of good, bad and indifferent young men there were about eight bright young lads, one of whom I engaged and who, I feel sure, will make good.

I take this means of showing my appreciation of the want columns of The Times and assure you of continued use when occasion requires.

REPORT OF BAD MILK GETS LITTLE SUPPORT

Health Department Finds the Milk Committee's Investigation Hardly Fair.

IT KNOWS OF POOR MILK

But This Is of Grade C in Restaurants Only for Cooking Purposes —Clean-Up Going On.

The report of the New York Milk Committee that its investigators found milk sold in many hotels, restaurants, and soda fountains in this city below standard requirements and in at least one of the best hotels of a quality one might expect to get in a corner grocery in the lower east side, is apparently not taken seriously by the Health Department. Dr. Walter Bensel, Sanitary Superintendent of the department, and in the absence of Health Commissioner Lederle head of the department, said that the investigation was hardly a fair one.

"I cannot see how the New York Milk Committee can consider their investigation fair," said he. "The milk that was analyzed was bought by the glass. Why shouldn't it show high in bacteria? The bacteria were in the glass and not in the milk. It is probable that the glasses were improperly cleaned, and that would account for the results. Though you buy certified milk, you will probably get the same results in your own home. The fair way to have analyzed the milk would have been to have taken it directly from the original container."

Dr. Bensel said the report was of an alarmist order, and the alarm had been sounded by the committee without anything to back it up. The report had not been acted upon, he said, because it was not well thought of. Indeed, so little did the health officials regard it that not an Inspector was sent out to investigate the places named in the report.

Dr. Bensel was aware, he said, that some of the restaurant milk in the kitchen was not up to standard, but this was Grade C milk, to be used exclusively for cooking purposes. The department had proceeded vigorously against dealers of all kinds who had made a practice of selling this milk for any other use than cooking or manufacturing.

"The Milk Committee makes such a report as this and expects us to act," said Dr. Bensel. "But how are we going to act? Should we prohibit absolutely the sale of milk and thus cause a milk famine? That would be the inevitable result. The law regarding the grading of milk is a new one that became effective in January. Wouldn't it be ridiculous to suppose, just because we have the law, that the milk supply could be cleaned up and brought to the required standards in so short a time?

"The Health Department doesn't think this would be a fair way to proceed. It would not be fair either to the consumer or the wholesaler, for the former would have to go without and the latter would suffer great financial loss. This is not because we do not think the requirements of the law are a good thing, but our position is that the dealers should have a reasonable time to bring their milk up to the standard. We do not prosecute just because the law is violated. We try first to see if the dealer involved is trying to clean up, and if we find that a man is simply refusing to do anything, then we proceed against him."

Paul E. Taylor, Secretary of the Milk Committee, asserted that the attitude of the Health Commissioner toward the entire milk question was to allow the milk dealers to have their own way "for fear of hurting some one." He declared that the committee had found an exceeding lax condition in the Health Department's regulation of the milk traffic in Brooklyn last Spring.

"We have investigated conditions in Brooklyn lately," said he, "and there is no doubt that if the Health Department wants to improve conditions it will do far more milk inspection than it has done thus far."

He added that it was time the public came to realize the danger from an improper inspection of milk. The best safeguard, he said, was the Health Department, but that its course was one of inaction. The best hope for improving conditions, he thought, lay with the dealers themselves, and that in some cases when restaurant and hotel men were told they had been found out they promised to see that the milk supply was improved.

The report of the Milk Committee was made by Inspectors who visited and examined milk in nine hotels, seventy-seven restaurants, 125 lunchrooms, and nineteen soda fountains.

CURB BROKER FACES JUDGE.

A. Podnus, Accused Anew, Up for Suspended Sentence Revocation.

Abraham Podnus, a curb broker at 78 Broad Street, was arraigned before Judge Crain in General Sessions yesterday to give his reasons why a suspended sentence passed upon him in 1909 should not be revoked and why he should not be sent to prison for grand larceny, of which he was convicted.

Podnus was convicted of the theft of $2,500 from Tracey & Co., brokers, who are now out of business, and Judge Crain suspended sentence after members of the firm had asked for leniency. Last week Assistant District Attorney Delehanty heard that Podnus was violating the law, and at once started an investigation which led to the man's arrest in his office yesterday.

Podnus, according to Assistant District Attorney, went to E. E. Pugh, a broker, having offices with him, on July 1, and said he desired to buy a certificate of forty-four shares of stock in the Chicago and New York Air Line. After receiving the certificate he gave Pugh a check for $137, it is said, and then went to the A. B. Morley Company, which also has offices at 78 Broad Street, and put up the certificate in order to obtain a loan of $125. He got a check for the amount requested, which he immediately cashed, it is alleged, and the next day he came back and wanted to take up the loan and gave a check for $126. He then went to Pugh and said he did not want the certificate and Pugh paid $126 for it. A few days later both of Podnus's checks, it is declared, came back marked "No funds" and a complaint was made against him.

Several other complaints were made for similar transactions, the complainant in one case being John C. Jamson, who says he gave the defendant $170 to buy some copper stocks and never received the stock or his money.

Judge Crain will hear what Podnus has to say on Wednesday.

TOY MADE THEM MISS LINER.

Mother Sends Child Back for Tin Horse, and Girl Gets Lost.

When Mrs. Augusta Toth of 355 East Seventy-sixth Street lost her husband recently she decided to return to her native village in Hungary with her two children, Irene, 11 years old, and Alfred, 6 years old, and purchased their passage to Hamburg on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria, which sailed at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. After sending several big cases by express the day before, Mrs. Toth started for Hoboken early yesterday morning with her children.

When they were on the elevated train Alfred missed his tin horse and cried so that his mother told Irene to get out, go back to the house for it, and meet them in City Hall Park.

At the terminal the little girl got lost when she arrived with the toy and was unable to find her mother, so she sat on a seat in the park until she was found at 2 o'clock by Detective Lockman and taken to the Children's Society. In the meantime Mrs. Toth had waited in the park for her daughter until she became alarmed and went back to the house with her little boy, where later the police informed her that her daughter was safe.

The family will sail for Hamburg on Tuesday on the President Lincoln.

LABORER HAD STEEL CORSET.

Dr. Exner Meets Surprise When Attending Aqueduct Victim.

For the second time within twelve hours Dr. Exner of Bellevue Hospital descended 750 feet below the surface of the street at the Aqueduct shaft at Cooper Square and Sixth Street last night. On the second occasion he brought to the surface Lawrence Donnelly, 31 years old, a laborer, of 181 West 101st Street. Donnelly had been hit by falling stones and was unconscious when removed to Bellevue Hospital, where he was found to be suffering from a compound fracture of the left leg and numerous contusions.

The doctors were surprised when examining the man to find that he was wearing a steel corset. When he recovered consciousness he said his spine was injured a long time ago and the corset was of such assistance to him that he found he was able to do manual labor. It is expected he will recover from his latest injury.

The first time that Dr. Exner went down the shaft was yesterday afternoon, when he brought to the surface Charles F. Smith, 28 years old, of 208 East Fifth Street. Smith was foreman of a gang of laborers and was struck by a falling rock. His injuries were so serious that he died shortly afterward.

AUTO VICTIM DEFENDS DRIVER

Brooklyn Boy Rebukes Crowd Threatening Motorist After Accident.

Dominick Carreci, a boy, of 1,996 Bergen Street, Brooklyn, was playing yesterday on Eastern Parkway with apparently no great thought of his fortitude or oratorical powers. Suddenly a passing automobile which he ran too close to knocked him down and rolled him over in the dirt. He was cut about the head and elbow, frightened and inclined to tears when the driver stopped the car and came back to make amends for the accident.

A crowd collected around the couple and several youths urged it to take vengeance on the driver. Many seemed only too glad to accede to this demand, and the situation became threatening. Young Dominick saw the danger, and, gulping down a few sobs, turned on the mob in behalf of the motorist.

"You people go away and don't dare to touch this man," he cried. "It was an accident, and it is none of your business, anyway."

The crowd melted away and a policeman took the driver and the injured boy to the Brownsville Police Station, where Dominick's cuts were attended to. The driver and owner of the car gave his name as Otto Mathens of 698 East Fifteenth Street and said the accident was unavoidable. The boy corroborated his statement, and the police were satisfied.

RAWSON TWINS ARREST SIX.

Hillsdale Tremendously Excited Over Crusade Against Highway Flirting.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 29.—Those Rawson twins—Albert and Alpheus, that is, and not the baby boys who were born the other day to Mrs. Albert Rawson—have Hillsdale all stirred up to-day just as they used to keep it stirred in their youth, when their larks and their depredations made them famous the country over. But their present stirring has been done as arms of the law and not offenders against it.

It will be recalled how New Jersey folks opened their eyes wide when the Rawson twins, mischievous grandsons of the actress, Laura Keene, after they had been arrested thirty-nine times and had otherwise led the Hillsdale citizens a lively dance, suddenly reformed and went on the local constabulary force as the strictest terrors to evildoers Hillsdale had ever known. Some years ago they resigned from the force, but last evening they were tempted back again, and devoted their talents to the suppression of flirting on the country roads by vacationists from New York. They swooped down on the local Lovers' Lane, and now three young men and three girls must appear before Justice Verbeget on Saturday. The names of the six were withheld, but all Hillsdale is tremendously excited, and the Town Hall is sure to be jammed on Saturday night.

BLIND OLD MAN AFLAME.

Retired Newsdealer Vainly Gropes for Door in Burning Room.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., Aug. 29.—Vainly groping for the door that would mean his escape from a burning room a blind old man was so enveloped by flames here this evening that at the Hackensack Hospital, where he was taken, the doctors do not expect him to live. His name is Adam Hoole, and he is 70 years old.

Hoole made his home with Frederick Fahr in Essex Street, and Mrs. Fahr herself ran into the burning house and half carried, half led him out. She finally succeeded in smothering the flames of his clothing with a blanket, but the hair was burned from his head and his body was blackened. Hoole is a retired newsdealer.

Shonts Forfeits Auto Bail.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 29.—Theodore P. Shonts, President of the Interborough Railroad of New York, defaulted in the court to-day when his name was called to answer to a charge of overspeeding in his automobile on the Revere Beach Parkway yesterday. His $25 cash bail was forfeited. His chauffeur, Vivian D. Bell, was fined $10 for speeding. The men were arrested by Metropolitan Park Officer Ernest W. Girard.

GIRL TELLS OF PLOT TO FREE PRISONER

Margaret Ryan Gave Saws to Fosbrey, Held in Tombs on Murder Charges.

IN LOVE WITH DESPERADO

Concealed the Articles in Her Hair and Corset—Tombs Keeper Discovers Saw Marks in Cell Ventilator.

Giving way under the kindly but insistent questioning of William J. Wright, Deputy Commissoner of Corrections, a pretty, dark-haired Brooklyn girl named Margaret Ryan confessed yesterday that, as a visitor to the Tombs, she had smuggled in three saws and a bottle of acid, to make possible the reckless attempt to escape on the part of Reynolds Fosbrey, a young, shrewd, thin-lipped ex-convict who was held there to answer to two charges of murder. She had done this because it was his bidding, she said, and because she loved him. He was to have met her beyond the walls of the prison and the two were to have fled to Canada. All this she told to Mr. Wright, and then she gave way to uncontrollable weeping.

Pity for the girl who had been so attracted to the desperate young footpad moved Mr. Wright to place her under the care of the Catholic Protectory Society, where she will stay for the present. She will not be prosecuted.

Margaret Ryan lives in Keap Street in Brooklyn, but when Fosbrey fell into the toils of the police and was put behind the bars on a murder accusation she visited him repeatedly as May Hays of 53 Lee Avenue, Brooklyn. At his request, she went to a hardware store in Centre Street and purchased three small, strong saws. Then she went to a drug store and bought a flask of muriatic acid. She hid the flask in the roll of her thick dark hair and the saws she concealed under her corset. Then she went to the Tombs, passed the man at the gate, passed along the corridors, with an unsuspecting trusty leading the way, and a little later slipped the contraband into the cell to the man she loved. This must have happened when trusties and turnkeys were all about.

With these tools in his hands, Fosbrey planned to saw through the steel of the ventilator at the top of his cell that gave access to the airshaft through which on July 7 Charles Witson, a prisoner in the Tombs, climbed from the seventh tier to the boiler room, from there over the boilers to a coal vault, from the coal vault to the prison yard, where he laid low a veteran keeper, and was over the walls to freedom in a short time.

But a whisper of some plan to break jail had reached Warden Fallon as long ago as Wednesday morning, and he ordered a strict watch throughout the Tombs. On Wednesday afternoon, as Keeper Gregory was going his rounds, he chanced to notice a dark cloth hung across the ventilator in Fosbrey's cell. He lifted the cloth, and there was the mark of the saw already three inches advanced in its work.

Fosbrey was searched, and in the lining of his coat a saw was found. His cell was scoured from top to bottom. On the lintel above the door two other saws were found, and beside them stood a little flask of muriatic acid, to whet and expedite and silence the work of the saws.

In the first excitement which this discovery caused in the administration of the Tombs it seemed as though plans were afoot to free all the prisoners of Fosbrey's tier, to beat and kill the keepers who stood across the path leading to liberty, and effect a wholesale delivery of the jail. But a further examination of the plot made it clear that only Fosbrey's escape had been planned and that the only parties to the plan were the man wanted on two murder charges and the girl who wanted to escape with him to Canada. The inspection of the visitors' book showed who had been to see Fosbrey, and suspicion immediately fell upon "Miss Hays," but she stoutly denied all knowledge of the plot until yesterday afternoon.

The Tombs was just subsiding from the excitement of the discovery yesterday when the routine of the courts advanced, step by step, against the desperate man. In Brooklyn, the Grand Jury handed down an indictment against him charging murder in the first degree. The authorities there accuse him of having been one of three men who murdered Walter Meseritz, a Flatbush haberdasher, several months ago. In Manhattan, Coroner Hellenstein held him for the Grand Jury on the charge of murdering Morris Schwarzkopf, a Delancey Street jeweler, who was in his shop on July 29, when a man walked in and put a gun in his face. The jeweler screamed, the trigger was drawn, and the hold-up man took to his heels.

A few hours later Fosbrey stood in a Cooper Square cigar store, talking pleasantly with Max Katz, the young manager. Suddenly he called for the money in the cash register and pointed his gun. Katz ducked, dodged, and tackled the man. They rolled on the floor, the pistol was discharged three times, and Katz fell back wounded, but a policeman completed the capture, and Fosbrey has been locked up ever since. The police accuse him of being the murderer of Schwarzkopf.

Close Watch Kept on Mrs. Sypher.

A formal charge of homicide was made yesterday against Mrs. Sarah Sypher, the young woman who, following a quarrel with her husband, killed her three children and attempted to die with them by turning on the gas in her home at 1,313 Halsey Street, Williamsburg. It was said yesterday at the Bushwick Hospital, where she had been taken, that she would recover. A policeman is stationed near her cot in the hospital. The grief-stricken husband is also kept under close watch for fear that he may injure himself. The three little victims will be buried to-day.

MRS. ELLIS GETS DECREE.

Wife of Prominent Washington Man Obtains Her Freedom.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—An absolute divorce was granted to-day by Justice Gould of the District Supreme Court to Mrs. Laura Lawson Ellis from Frank Ellis. The utmost secrecy has been maintained throughout the proceedings, and by order of the court the papers to-day were permanently sealed. Although great curiosity has been felt by Washington society as to the identity of the woman in the case, her name has not been disclosed, although Mrs. Ellis accused her husband of infidelity, and it is understood named a co-respondent. Ralph D. Quinter, examiner in the case, was sworn to secrecy by the court when appointed.

Mrs. Ellis filed suit for divorce in July through her attorney, Nathaniel Wilson. Only three witnesses gave testimony, and it is understood Mr. Ellis made no defense of the allegations set forth in his wife's bill. The names of the witnesses are also withheld by order of the court.

Mr. Ellis is not required to pay any alimony, though the costs of the proceedings are assessed against him. Although it has been generally known that Mr. and Mrs. Ellis have been separated for the past two years, their divorce has caused quite a sensation among their acquaintances. They occupy a prominent place in Washington and Cincinnati society, and have been intimate friends of the President and Mrs. Taft. They came to Washington from Cincinnati shortly before President Taft's inauguration, and have since built a house in "Millionaire Circle," as Sheridan Circle has been christened.

Mrs. Ellis is spending the Summer at Bar Harbor, where she owns a villa. She was formerly Miss Laura Lawson of Cincinnati. Mr. and Mrs. Ellis have one son, Franklin H. Ellis, a popular member of the younger set.

Mr. Ellis until recently was a member of the Metropolitan and Chevy Chase Clubs, severing his connection shortly before the bill for divorce was filed by Mrs. Ellis. It is understood that Mr. Ellis will go abroad to live, while Mrs. Ellis will continue her residence in this city.

SINGER ESTATE $230,000.

Mrs. Donnelly, Housekeeper, to Receive $70,500—Children Disinherited.

The appraisal of the estate of John A. Singer, former head of the Singer Manufacturing Company, was filed yesterday with the Surrogate by Deputy State Controller Fraser.

By Mr. Singer's will his housekeeper, Mrs. Charlotte Jane Donnelly, was made the beneficiary of a third of his estate, which is now valued at $230,000. Mr. Singer, who lived alone at 110 East 177th Street, disinherited his two children, Merrit A. Singer and Jean Etta Singer, both of Chicago, and left his estate to two nephews, Jasper S. Archer and William Archer, and to a cousin, Charles V. Sponsler, and to his housekeeper. His will was taken out of a safe in the Equitable Building only a few days before the building was burned.

A contest was begun in the Surrogate's Court by the children, who contend that the section of the will mentioning Mrs. Donnelly was inserted by fraud and undue influence. The contest was, however, discontinued.

The greatest asset of Mr. Singer consisted of 1,000 shares of common stock of the Singer Manufacturing Company. This stock pays an annual dividend of 12 per cent., and is valued by the appraiser at $254 per share. The property on East 177th Street is estimated at $7,000, and in addition Mr. Singer left cash, jewelry, and household effects worth $2,585.

Mrs. Donnelly's interest in the estate includes the realty on East 177th Street and 250 shares of Singer Manufacturing Company stock, making her share worth $70,500.

NEGRO ATTACKS GIRL ALONE IN ELEVATOR

Miss Harvey Beats Him Off and Routs a Second Man Who Goes to His Assistance.

ACCUSES NEGRO OF ROBBERY

Uproar in West 20th Street Loft Building as Tenants Surge from Their Offices.

Miss Mary Harvey, a model, who went to the loft building at 36 West Twentieth Street last night to apply for a position, had a desperate fight with William Cummings, a negro, 25 years old, who attacked her in the elevator which he was running.

Miss Harvey conquered the negro and also another man, who, under a misapprehension, went to his assistance. The negro was arrested and locked up in the West Seventeenth Street Station on charges of assault and robbery preferred by Miss Harvey.

The fight started when the elevator was between the sixth and seventh floors of the twelve-story building. When Cummins found he was getting the worst of the fight he seized his controlling apparatus and shot the elevator to the seventh floor. He pulled open the door of the cage and attempted to flee from the young woman, but she grabbed him and belabored him with her fists until his yells, mingled with her excited screams, brought Morris Simons, one of the officials of the building. Not knowing the cause of the trouble and seeing that his employe was receiving a thrashing, Simons tried to defend him.

Miss Harvey, thinking Simons was a confederate of the negro, kicked Simons's shins severely and he was badly bruised before explanations stopped the fight. Miss Harvey retained her hold on the negro until Policeman Gavigan arrived and arrested him.

At the West Seventeenth Street Station Miss Harvey, who gave her address as 668 Eagle Avenue, the Bronx, told her story to Lieut. Ivory. She said she entered the elevator to go to one of the upper floors to apply for a position as a model. Other passengers left the elevator before the sixth floor was reached, and she said she confided to Cummings the nature of her errand.

Then, she said, he snatched her mesh bag, which contained $20, and tried to pull a diamond locket and chain, valued at $65, from her neck. The chain broke and fell with the locket to the floor of the elevator. She had been surprised by the attack at first, she said, but after she recovered from her astonishment she seized the negro and tried to hold him.

The fight with Cummings, followed by the one with Simons, aroused all the tenants of the big building, and when the policeman arrived he found the place in an uproar. A search was made for the alleged stolen property. The meshbag and money had disappeared, but the locket and broken chain were found at the bottom of the elevator shaft by a boy employed in the building.

While the search was going on Miss Harvey, who is about 25 years old, said indignantly to Policeman Gavigan:

"It's a pity women are not better protected from such cowardly curs. When women get the suffrage we shall be better protected."

A big crowd followed the party to the station, where Simons wanted to make a charge of assault against her. Lieut. Ivory refused to entertain the charge. Cummings, who is a West Indian negro and lives at 224 West Sixty-fourth Street, would say nothing about the affair. Miss Harvey showed bruises on her throat, which she said had been caused when Cummings attacked her. Although she was badly shaken up and much excited, Miss Harvey went to her home in the Bronx.

DIX SENDS CONVICT HOME.

Pardons Man from Reformatory So He Can Attend Father's Funeral.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 29.—Gov. John A. Dix and his staff arrived here this morning to take part in the ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the Newtown battle monument which the State erected on a high hill south of Elmira.

Gen. Mills, U. S. A., representing President Taft; members of the Legislature, representatives of the various State departments, and patriotic organizations came to take part in the programme, which began with a big parade this morning.

Gov. Dix in the morning visited the Elmira Reformatory and reviewed a drill of the inmates. While he was there a message came telling of the death of the father of Henry Rappelye of Oswego, who had been sent here for attempted robbery. The young man had been a model prisoner and acted for a year as stenographer. Gov. Dix on the spot pardoned him, and in an hour he was on his way to his father's funeral.

TWO POLICEMEN HURT.

One Falls from Third Story of Burning Building, the Other Burned.

Three persons were seriously injured, including two policemen, in a fire which gutted the first three floors of the tenement house at 111 East 118th Street about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The flames started in the rooms of Mrs. Catharine Elbert, whose husband, a baker, was out at work. Mrs. Elbert rushed screaming into the hallway with her night clothing on fire. The flames, caught in the draught of the opening door, spread into the hall and up the stairs.

Patrolman McGrath, from his fixed post near Park Avenue, arrived with Policemen McGerahey and McMurray. At a window of the stairs on the third floor McGrath, choking with smoke, stumbled and fell across the sill. Before his companions could reach him he fell out of the window to the ground. Both the other policemen were severely burned before they had cleared the house.

When the firemen and the police reserves from the East 126th Street Station arrived the occupants of the four adjoining tenements were hurried into the streets. Both Policemen McGrath and McMurray were so badly injured that they had to be taken to the hospital, the former suffering from a fractured hip and internal injuries, and the other from severe burns. Mrs. Elbert was cared for by neighbors.

COAL BUCKET HURTS THREE.

Falls 50 Feet on Men Unloading Barge—All May Die.

Three men were probably fatally injured yesterday when a huge coal bucket at the coal pockets of Schroeder & Horstmann, 220 Third Avenue, Brooklyn, broke from a derrick holding it and dropped fifty feet into the hold of a barge. David Clinton, 48 years old, of 48 Fourth Street, one of the inured men, sustained a fracture of the right arm and internal injuries.

Edward Leach and Nicholas Rosowski, working in the hold of the barge, were struck and both knocked senseless. Leach sustained a concussion of the brain and Rosowski was found to be suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries. All three were removed to the Seney Hospital.
